THEATHICAL.—"Don Casar de Bazan" and "Ernestine" attracted a good house at the Theatre last night. In "Ernestine" Madame Scheller touched again the most stoic hearts by her affecting and natural acting. She safe heveral songs very finely. The charming little drama was enacted with even more spirit than on the first night of its representation. As "Don Casar de Ba-"Miss Charlotte Crampton gave us an. entirely different conception of the character than we have been accustomed to see here. There was less of the dash and rollicking style in it, and more of the phlegmatic than is usual with our Don Casars. We must confess we liked her Shylock some very good points, which showed her an astrone of decided merit. To-morrow evening Miss Orampion ap-

a sight worth seeing. Madame Scheller appears as Lady Anne. Mr. McKenzie plays Richmond; Mr. Lindsay, Buckingham; Miss Colebrook, Queen Elizabeth. All the other parts are in good hands.
