BREVITIES.

The latest novelty is a fan that can be used as a parasol, a veil or a bonnet.

Let men use pipes or cigars to excess, and they will soon find themselves smoking ruins.

Monogram stained glass windows have been placed in a fashionable New York villa.

One firm in New York rents out about 1,000 pianos, from which they receive an annual income of $80,000.

It usually falls out that those who seek others' destruction find their own.

John Bright says that, "Considering what it now costs a man to get into Parliament, M. P. must stand for money power."

In Paraguay the women are bearing arms. In Chicago a good many women are bearing legs. (Chicago Times.)

Said one gentleman of honor to another, "If you don't accept my challenge, I'll post you in the papers." "Go ahead," said the other, "I had rather fill a dozen papers than one coffin."

A young lady living near Temple Station, in the East Pennsylvania railroad, was recently stung in the hand by a locust, and died in a few hours.

"Soothing syrup" was the verdict of a coroner's jury in the case of a baby that died in Cincinnati.

A man of words and not of deeds is like a garden full of weeds.

Lawyers have to invent so many excuses for crime in others, that they sometimes learn to pardon it in themselves.

There is one thing to be said in favor of homely girls—they never have a dozen or so of ninecomps hanging around them.

Good breeding is a guard upon the tongue; the misfortune is, that we put it on and off with our fin clothes and visiting faces, and do not wear it where it is most wanted—at home!

"Halt! who comes there?" shouted a sentinel to a lieutenant in full sledge uniform. The lieutenant, looking sternly, said, "Advance, advance, and give the countersign." "What?" "The countersign?" "I was the prompt and well merited reply.

Jean Paul beautifully says that the infinite has shown his name in the heavens in burning stars, but on the earth he has sowed his name in tender flowers.

In England a newspaper has at length discovered the line dividing a distinction from a difference. It says that a "little difference makes many enemies," while "a little distinction attracts hosts of friends to the person on whom it is conferred."

At the menagerie, "Law mal" exclaimed a precocious young lady, "are's a heagle!" "A heagle!" exclaimed the mother, reproachfully. "Oh, you high-norant girl! Vy, it's a howl!" "Axes pardon mum," interrupted the keeper of the menagerie, respectfully, "axes pardon, mum; but it's an 'awk."

Rev. J. E. Clark illustrates the need of brevity, by a clergyman who was called a little girl by his long sermon, and as he was gathering himself up for a new assault he cried out: "Oh, mother! he isn't going to stop at all, he is swelling up again!"

The Minneapolis Tribune says Winston Mowry, a resident of that city, has invented a feeding machine for cylinder presses which picks up single sheets and adjusts them exactly on the feeding board at the rate of 100 per minute. Its construction is very simple, and its work accurately performed. It is the result of thirteen years of study and experience.

A soldier on trial for habitual drunkenness was addressed by the magistrate: "Prater, you have heard the charge of habitual drunkenness; what have you to say in defense?" "Nothing, please your honor, but habitual thirst."

Stop grumbling. Get up two hours earlier in the morning, and begin to do something out of your regular profession. Mind your own business, and with all your might let other people's alone. Live within your means. Sell your horses. Give away or sell your dog. Smoke your cigar through an air stove. Eat with moderation, and go to bed early. Talk less of your own peculiar gifts and virtues, and more of those of your friends and neighbors. Be cheerful. Fulfill your promises. Pay your debts. Be yourself all you would see in others. Be a good man and stop grumbling.

A man who was noted for his intensely slovenly habits, on starting from home for a short journey, was reminded by his wife that she had packed six new clean shirts in his trunk, and made him promise that he would put one on every week. On his return his lady overhauled his baggage, and was startled at the absence of the shirts which she had so carefully "done up" for her husband. Calling his attention to the discovery, she inquired what had become of the shirts:

"Shirts, eh? Oh, yes! You see, you told me to put one on every week; well, I've got the whole six on my back now."

The distinguished Russian General, Ignatieff, who is said to be such a fly about person that it makes one tired to look at him, was remonstrated with by an English lady for his careless undress, when he replied: "Ah! Madam, Fate has ordained that I must always be a squire."

The Montreal Telegraph says the present rainy term, besides doing good to the farmer, has carried joy to the hearts of some old country people lately arrived, who slap their breasts, walk about in the rain, and exclaim: "Come, this is something like home."
