FIRST SNOWFALL AT WILLOW CREEK

Special Correspondence.

WILLOW CREEK, Ida., Oct. 23.—During the last few days there has been quite a snow fall in this section, and we are now experiencing fairly warm days and cool nights. Crops are good in general, but beets, grain, hay and potatoes are somewhat below the average, while prices continue to show no sign of picking up.

There is some sickness in evidence, and Parley Short is slowly recovering from the long siege of typhoid.

The High Priests' reunion was held here a few days ago, when a very pleasant day was spent. At noon about 60 men gathered at a banquet hall, where they were regaled by the delectable fare of the young ladies of the ward. In the afternoon there was an interesting and instructive program given in the meetinghouse, which was greatly enjoyed by all present.
