DISCOURSE
ELDER WILFORD WOODRUFF,
At the General Conference, Thursday
Evening, Dec. 31, 1880.
REPORTED BY JOHN IRVINE.

I AM pleased to have the opportunity of again meeting with my brethren and sisters in General Conference.

There is one thing that is very clear to my mind with regard to myself and everybody else who attempts to teach the Latter-day Saints, and that is we all need the spirit of the Lord, and without it we cannot edify anybody, neither can we build up Zion or do the work of God without the Holy Spirit.

The prophets, the apostles, and all men who have been called in every age of the world to labor for the kingdom of God, have all had to be actuated by this principle, and that is the spirit of the Lord, and that is the reason, as Brother Carington has said, why the weak things of this world, when the Lord has chosen, have confidence in God to go forth to preach the gospel of Christ and do the work which is required at their hands.

It is certainly interesting to any reflecting mind to contemplate the dealings of God with the inhabitants of the earth in the various ages and dispensations almost from the creation of the world as far as we have any knowledge. I have often been struck, in reading ancient history, with the dealings of God with some of the ancient cities of which we have some account in the Bible and other histories aside from that book. For instance, there is Tyre and Sodom, Nineveh and Babylon the great—these mighty cities that were built as it were to defy all time and all power but God himself. Just as quick as Isaiah, Ezekiel, Joel, or any other prophet whom God sent up to lift up his voice and declare the word of the Lord concerning the destiny of any of these cities, all the power of Nebuchadnezzar, Belshazzar, or any other king or priest who dwelt in these cities, could do nothing to save them, and they were destroyed, and the ruins of them were the monuments of the filament of the words of the servants of the Lord; these cities have been overthrown, have been laid in the dust in fulfillment of the word of God, and they were destroyed in judgment. The Lord sent a poor weak man named Jonah to Nineveh, a great and mighty city, to go and warn the inhabitants that they were to be destroyed, and in forty days Nineveh should be overthrown.
Jonah thought it was a little too much for him to go and warn a great and mighty city, and he went and hid himself in a great tree, and he was there for three days and three nights, and he was about to give up the ghost, when the Lord said to him, "Arise, go and preach to this city, for they are righteous, and they will be saved." So Jonah went and preached to the city, and the city was saved, and the Lord said to him, "Is not this the word of the Lord?"

ELDER WILFORD WOODRUFF,
Evening, Dec. 31, 1880.
REPORTED BY JOHN IRVINE.

and sisters in General Conference.

of God without the Holy Spirit.

hands.

instance, there is Tyre and Sodom, Nineveh and Babylon the great—
