

WON AND LOST BY PLAINTIFF.

Case of Tilton vs. Sterling Coal
And Coke Company Decided By Supreme Court.

IS AFFIRMED AND REVERSED.

Former as to Performance of Contract,
Latter as to Conveyance of Water Right.

The supreme court handed down an opinion today in the case of F. T. Tilton vs. the Sterling Coal & Coke company, appellant, in which the judgment of the lower court is affirmed in part and reversed in part. The action was brought in Salt Lake county to enforce the specific performance of a contract and to recover damages for breach of contract. It was alleged that defendant agreed to sell to plaintiff for a period of five years from Oct. 1, 1893, all of the water flowing from under the company's tunnel in its coal mine at Morrison, Sanpete county, at $175 per year. It is alleged that the contract also contained an option to purchase said water right in full at the end of the five years for the sum of $3,000. In the lower court a decree was rendered in favor of plaintiff compelling the specific performance of the contract in regard to the option to purchase and assessed his damages at $300. The judgment as to the damages was affirmed by the supreme court, but the part of the decree requiring defendant to convey said water right to plaintiff is reversed because it was determined in a suit brought by the irrigation companies of the county of Sanpete and Sterling against the defendant in this case that those companies owned two second feet of the water. The opinion of the court was written by Chief Justice Bascom and concurred in by Justices Barlow and McCarty.

For Personal Injury.

Plaintiff alleges negligence on the part of defendant, but because they failed to clean the snow and ice off of the sidewalk. The injuries received by plaintiff were a broken leg and other bruises.

Sues Dairy Company.

The Sierra Nevada Lumber company filed suit in the district court today against E. T. Rice and the Elgin Dairy company, to foreclose a lien upon a part of the southeast quarter of section 22, township 1 south, range 1 west, Salt Lake meridian. The lien was perfected to secure the payment of $1,004.20, alleged to be the balance due for material furnished by plaintiff for construction of a building on said premises. Judgment was rendered for that amount, together with $11.50 costs of filing the lien and $25 as attorney's fees.

COURT NOTES.

Judge Morse has rendered a decree in favor of plaintiff in the case of John Halford against Frank H. Rudy et al., compelling plaintiff to title to a tract of land in this county and assessing his damages for the detention of the same at $15.

Plaintiff was ordered to pay $15 per month for the support of the two children.

The property sought to be foreclosed is part of lot 2, block 14, plat G, Salt Lake city survey. The lien was filed against the defendant of $325.50 alleged to be the balance due for material furnished by plaintiff for the construction of a house on said property. Judgment is asked for the above amount together with $6.00 costs of filing the lien and $25 as attorney's fees.

Susan T. Milton has filed suit for divorce in the district court against Fred E. Milton on the grounds of desertion and failure to support. They were married at Victor, Colo., on Jan. 1, 1892, and have one child, of which plaintiff asks the custody.

Non-support is the ground upon which Sadie Leek asks a divorce from John Leek. The complaint alleges that the parties were married in this city on April 11, 1892, and have one child, of which plaintiff seeks the custody.

OLD MAN ASSAULTED.

Had Captured His Wayward Niece
When Struck by a Misguided Youth.

Myrtle Arnold, the 13-year-old daughter of Mrs. Amy Arnold, residing at 219 east Eighth South street, was arrested by Sheriff Emery this morning upon the charge of incorrigibility. Myrtle has been causing her mother considerable trouble lately by insisting on running around the streets at night with a girl who has the reputation of being rather fast and with some boys.

Last night she stayed away from home all night and early this morning her uncle started out to look for her. He found her with her girl companion and when they saw him they started out on the run. He gave chase and, though he is about 70 years of age, he succeeded in overtaking them. He finally landed Myrtle in his buggy and started home with her. She became very unruly and screamed and fought her captor for several blocks. When near the corner of Fifth East and Tenth South streets the girl's cries attracted the attention of a young man who undertook to secure her release. He rushed at the old man, knocked him down and blacked his eye. He will now have to answer to the charge of assault and battery as the old man intended to prosecute him. The girl will have to appear this afternoon before Judge Diehl and will undoubtedly be bound over to the district court to show cause why she should not be sent to the reform school.

The Young Men's Democratic club will meet tonight at 8 o'clock on important business. The directors will meet just before the general meeting to receive the report of the committee on constitution and bylaws.

For Democratic day at Saltair, Aug. 4, the committee has decided to offer two handsome prizes—a solitary diamond ring for the most popular young woman at the resort, and a solid gold watch for the most popular young Democrat.

A special meeting of the Democratic city and county committee is in progress this afternoon at the Young Men's club. They are talking over the initial features of the campaign.

The Republican women of Provo are at Castella Springs with their friends today. Several party men went from here to the resort.

Willard F. Snyder has decided to go to Governor Bay to participate in the notification ceremonies on the 27th, as Utah's representative.

National Committeeman Peery left for New York early this morning. He will attend the meeting of the national committee to elect a chairman, and does not expect to return for two weeks.

D. H. Peery brought some good news home from St. Louis. At the Jefferson hotel one night, a westerner who had been fighting hard for Turner, accented a New York delegate, and demanded: "Why in h— did you put Davis on there for vice president. Why, he's 81 years old!"

"Yes," replied the Tammany man, calmly removing his cigar, "and he has a million dollars for each year."

Prominent Republicans of Juab county are urging the nomination of T. C. Miller for Fillmore for the state senate, as they regard him the strongest man in that district, and the one most able to run against State Senator George C. Whitmore.

A meeting of the Democratic judicial committee of the Third Judicial district will be held at the Democratic club rooms on Tuesday, July 26, at 1:30 p. m.

Mayor Roylance of Provo and Editor McBride of the Utah county Democrat are in town today talking politics. Mayor Roylance has not as yet made an official announcement of his candidacy for governor.

WHY L. D. S. U. LOST AT WORLD'S FAIR.

Were Only Two Final Games,
Both Out Doors, Close Together.

OTHERS TRIED FOR WEEKS.

Utah Played the Champions in One
Afternoon Only Ten Minutes Apart,
Without Chance to Rest.

The Utah basketball team, the athletes of the Latter-day Saints' university, have returned from St. Louis. They are not at all discouraged by their defeat at the fair. The teams who defeated them by the respective scores of 40 to 35 and 25 to 15 had defeated all other teams of American colleges during a series of games covering several weeks prior to the arrival of the Utah team. This was in spite of the fact that the published announcements in the official programs sent to the Utah team, stated that the contest games were to be played on the 14th, 15th and 16th of July. The Utah team arrived at St. Louis on the evening of the 12th, expecting to rest one day and then to play a large number of games with the various teams. Instead of this, they found that all the games had been played with all teams except their own, and that only the champion teams of all the former games were waiting to play with the Utah team to complete the series. Then they were made known that these games would come off on the 13th instead of on the 14th, 15th and 16th, and would be limited to two games only. Accordingly, the Utah team had to be ready to play on the afternoon of the 13th; and without a moment's practice on the new grounds, which were, moreover, in the open air, they had to begin their games with the two champion teams. In vain did the team try to induce the officials to let the game come off in the gymnasium, or to have a larger number of games, or to delay the games until they could rest up and practice a little. The officials would not yield, and refused to be governed by their own printed programs. The Utah boys had to play them and there or not at all. They won the first game—each with a different team.

Then Capt. Stanton and his men resolved to face the situation and to go into the games for all they were worth. They stripped for the fray, wearing only the running suits, so hot was the atmosphere of this July afternoon.

The first team was from Wheaton college, Illinois, 15 miles from Chicago. These men were taller than the Utah team, but not so good in team work, and had the game been indoors and with wire screens behind the baskets they would have easily defeated them. As it was, the Utah team outplayed the Illinois team during the first part of the game, but it was difficult for the Utah boys to make baskets, because of the wooden screens at the back. Another disadvantage to Utah was a rule new to players here, which allows a man to step with the ball in hand before throwing. Still another disadvantage was that Utah had good many baskets missing many throws that would have been sure enough indoors. The light out of doors completely deceives players accustomed to the light indoors, causing them almost invariably to throw too high. The Utah boys had the ball at least two-thirds of the time, and kept it careening above the basket, now and then making it. On a while Illinois would get a throw and would score, their players being used to the out-door grounds and to the wooden screens. In the second half the Utah boys weakened on account of the heat. W. Land was prostrated, and Douglas took his place. After most of the second half was over, the Illinois team got the ball and ran up their score five ahead of Utah just before the close of the second half.

The game with Hiram college, Ohio, was the same story over. The Utah boys were allowed to rest only 10 minutes, and then they went against the large men that had beaten Los Angeles, the California champions, by a score of 105 to 15. But they had no such game with the Utah team; and the first half stood only 7 to 9 in favor of Ohio. In the last half at one time Utah got one basket ahead, but could not maintain the lead, for Taylor was now prostrated and W. Land had to come in to replace him. Illinois was now in the second game for the last half, but McConnell dropped in the first and Christy had to play in both halves. The Ohio team got ahead, precisely as the Utah boys did, by doing superior team work for Utah did that, but by throwing the basket when they got a chance at it, Utah having many more chances and falling behind practice. Moreover, Douglas had to play center, because of the prostration of Taylor and the absence of Big Joe Smith, the regular center player of the L. D. S. U.

After these two games the L. D. S. U. team tried in vain to arrange other games with Ohio and Illinois, but these players were very anxious to return home and not another game could be arranged.

SLIGHTLY COOLER.

Torrid Wave Tempered by Breeze
Makes Weather More Bearable.

At 3 p. m. today the mercury stood 94 degrees, or two degrees below the maximum of yesterday.

Today is not quite so torrid as yesterday. At noon the mercury stood at 90 degrees, and at 1:30 o'clock it had only risen to 92 degrees with a cooling breeze blowing from the northwest. The heated spell has proven a benediction for the soda water fountains, which have done a land office business.

A TOURIST'S DIVE.

What Came of a Headlong Plunge in The Salt Lake.

A tourist from the Atlantic coast who prides himself on his diving abilities, went out to the lake the other day, and noticed a general disinclination of bathers to dive. This he mistook for idleness, and calling the attention of several people to the supposed fact, declared his intention to give an exhibition of his own prowess in diving, for the edification and improvement of the local mind. So the tourist climbed up on a pile and "took a header."

Quite a number of people were watching him with amused interest, and his reappearance was eagerly looked for. This was accompanied by numerous and frantic gestures, and gasping for help, as the expert diver his first dive, and almost vanished until it seemed as though he would lose his teeth. The sufferer was escorted to the nearest fresh water faucet, and relief administered. When he regained consciousness, he expressed his opinion of the nature of the water and its effects on the eyes and membrane of the mouth and throat were vivid, if not absolutely picturesque. A great light had dawned on this tourist, and he had nothing more to say about the absence of local diving talent.

SEATTLE GROWING.

R. J. Haston of That City Indulges in Some Comparisons.

R. J. Huston, a prominent Seattle real estate dealer, is stopping at the Wilson, en route east to the Atlantic coast for a bath in the cold waters off Long Branch. He says that Seattle will in time overhail and pass by San Francisco in point of commercial importance, and calls attention to the fact that between 1895 and 1903, Seattle's exports increased from $5,505,133 to $32,490,835; while in the same time San Francisco's exports increased only from $24,573,145 to $35,502,616. Seattle's imports increased in those years, from $22,225,595 to $12,177,243; as against an increase at San Francisco from $36,269,637 to $36,454,283. Seattle's bank clearances have increased from $35,045,228 in 1897 to $206,317,371 in 1903. The local bank deposits have increased in the same time from $4,652,168 to $31,762,524. In 1897 there were 4,000,000 brick manufactured, and in 1903 there were 45,000,000. These years, the number of names in the directory increased from 24,000 to 61,504.

MINING DEAL PENDING.

The Homestake is developed by a tunnel and incline winze in which there is a very encouraging showing of ore. The property is looked upon with favor at Alta.

LATE LOCALS.

Cement sidewalks are being laid on State street between First and Second South streets.

A peculiar sight on East Temple street today, was a fat tourist wearing an overcoat, and at the same time carrying a fan, which he was vigorously cooling himself.

After the meeting Mr. and Mrs. Alder will visit points in the east.

There are great stories going around about the supposed deleterious effect of electric fans on the human frame. A prominent local dentist who has been stone deaf for several years, believes his infirmity was caused by the constant use of an electric fan in his operating room. A well known local bartender states that baldness and the operation of an electric fan over his head were synchronous; and two local soda-water tenders were affected this summer with headaches and nosebleeds while working with the fan flying over their heads, until they put on caps; then there was no more trouble.

The company's agents ask what they may expect and for a definition of contraband of war liable to seizure. No answer has as yet been returned, but the whole subject is under very careful investigation by the legal officers of the department and its commercial independence may demand the issue of a formal notice by the government to the American marines of their rights and privileges and limitations imposed by the war upon their trade operations.

DOG SAVES A BOY'S LIFE.

Harry Stephens, 8 years old, 57 Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn owes his life to Prince, his St. Bernard dog, and there is nothing too good for the big pet today. Harry was playing with Prince in Pearl street, near Myrtle avenue. He was on roller skates, when he suddenly slipped and fell. He was right in front of a heavily laden truck, which was coming at a rapid pace.

Prince had been frolicking along at the boy's side, and as the lad fell almost under the feet of the horse, the dog grabbed him by the collar and dragged him out of danger.

After dragging Harry out of the path of the truck, Prince would not allow any of the men who witnessed the incident to touch him, licking the boy's face and whining until Harry jumped to his feet.

After seeing his young master was all right, Prince jumped about, barking with his tongue hanging out, and women who had assembled to pet him. A physician, who was in the crowd, examined Harry and said he had escaped injury. The woman would have made Prince sick feeding him bonbons if Harry had not decided to take him home.—Boston Globe.

Some gave in the names of Russian officers. After the teacher had congratulated the 15 who gave the word "disproportionableness," she told them that there was a longer word which had assembled to have been coined by William Gladstone and contained 24 letters. It was "disestablishmentarianism." — Philadelphia Press.
