THE COLLETT CASE.

On Tuesday morning, the trial of Sylvanus Collett, charged with the murder of John Alken, commenced in the First District Court at Provo. Great difficulty had been experienced in obtaining a jury, the prosecution exhausting all their peremptory challenges. The names of the jurors accepted and sworn are: Asa S. Hawley, Benjamin Carter, Willard O. Creer, Alex. Robertson, Joseph Rogers, John Sidwell, Abram Noe, John Meldrum, Edwin R. Burdick, Chas. Conrad, Stanly P. Davis, Charles Brewerton.

District Attorney P. T. Van Zile, Judge Sutherland and Assistant Prosecuting Attorney S. H. Lewis appeared for the prosecution, and Messrs. Tilford and Hagan, Judge W. Dusenberry, and John B. Milner, Esq., for the defence.

The District Attorney, in opening the case, announced that the prosecution would show that John Aiken was killed, that the killing was unlawful, and that it was done by the defendant. He related the history of the affair, to the effect that in 1857, the Aiken party, six in number, were returning from California, the time when the army was coming to Utah, that they were arrested as spies; that four of them were escorted to Nephi, where some arrangement was made to put them out of the way; that Orrin Porter Rockwell and Sylvanus Collett went to the Sevier to carry out the plot; that two of the men escaped and returned wounded to Nephi; that they afterwards started for Salt Lake, but were murdered at Willow Springs, Collett being one of the murderers.

Attorney Van Zile then appealed to the jury to do justice to all parties, as much as if the crime had just been committed; he urged them to cast aside the obligations imposed by any religious organization, intimating that the prosecution anticipated difficulty owing to the religious bias of the jurors, and exhorted them to give the evidence an impartial hearing, and in their verdict to be governed by the law and the facts. The defence made no address.

Joseph Skeen, of Plain City, testified to the effect that he knew the defendant intimately from 1852 to 1857. Saw him at Lehi the year the Aiken party passed through.

The late Singleton saw the Aiken party leave Lehi with Porter Rockwell, Sylvanus Collett, John Murdock and John Lot, on the way to Lehi.

J. G. Bigler lived in Nephi in 1857, was bishop there, but did not see the Aiken party or any of them. Denied ever telling the prosecution that he saw Rockwell and Collett at the tithing office there, wet and cold.

Timothy B. Foote said he kept a hotel at Nephi, in '57, saw the Aiken party, also their escort—Rockwell, Lot, Murdock and "Syl." The Aikens had a good outfit and said they were going to California. The day after they left, Tuck and John Aiken returned, the former wounded with a ball in the left shoulder, the other with a gash in the head. He cared for them and had their wounds attended to, receiving in payment a watch, for which a pistol was afterwards substituted. They went away, stating they were going to Salt Lake. About a year afterwards, heard that two dead men had been found in Deep Springs, 12 miles north of Nephi. Went there with others and with hooks and a pole pulled out two bodies of white men, much decomposed; believed they were the two men referred to. In cross-examination he said he could not remember who were with him, the location of the Springs, nor where the bodies were buried. Put no mark over the grave and made no complaint to any magistrate; there was no coroner in the county. The bodies were not recognizable. Could not swear the defendant was the man who stayed at his house. Did not demand the pistol instead of the watch. People had said witness was once crazy for three days, believed he was, and his family said he had a crazy spell once before.

Guy Foote could not swear to the prisoner. Knew of the Aiken party and the escort staying at his father's house in 1857. Tom Aiken had a money belt which was ripped, and witness' mother sewed it up. It was full of $20 pieces. Took a team to the tithing office by his father's orders at night. Saw four men get into it, heard John Kinke's voice. The wagon went south and was gone three nights. Saw the two Aikens return wounded. Saw the horses and mules afterwards in the corral, and after that saw them being driven north by Rockwell, Lot, Murdock and defendant.

Reuben Down lived with Foot in 1857. Saw the Aiken party and the escort, knew none of them but Rockwell; saw the two Aikens' return; Tuck was wounded in the left side as well as shoulder. The Aikens' stayed three days after their return; saw Rockwell and party go north the same day as the Aikens'; the latter had no money, and offered a watch to pay their bill; Foote persuaded them to give up the pistol instead; witness was present and Foote plead with them for the pistol which they gave up. They left in a light buggy; James Picton and James Wolf were with them; Foote loaned Tuck a soldier's overcoat; witness afterwards saw a coat which looked just like it, with a number of bullet holes in the collar; Kinke was wearing it when he saw it. There were many stragglers and deserters from the army, south about that time.

Joseph M. Taylor saw the Aiken party in the fall of '57 in Box Elder County; they were arrested and given in charge of Chauncey West, who had 500 Mormon soldiers with him, and who sent them to Ogden under a guard.

This takes the case up to yesterday noon; we have given only a summary of the evidence.

We have no comments to make on this matter at present, except in relation to the color which the District Attorney is endeavoring to impart to the case. It is very strange that prosecuting officers cannot confine themselves within the lines of their duty, but must go out of their way for the purpose of bringing religious prejudice into court, and to make an attack on the faith of the bulk of the people in this Territory. In this course the Attorney set the jury a very bad example. He urged them to be impartial and without bias. But he exhibited his own bias and prejudice by deliberately insulting them and the body of their co-religionists. His insinuation that difficulties would be encountered by the prosecution because of certain religious obligations, was either evidence of a very weak cause, and a desire to throw in advance, the odium of failure upon "bias" in the jury, or of an exceedingly small mind, impressed by absurd rumor, venting its spleen upon a religious organization with which it is not in accord.

Attorney Van Zile had no proof that any juror, whom he addressed, was under any obligations except those of the oath administered in court. And if he really believes that "Mormons" are bound by some secret instruction or vow to shield those of their own faith from just punishment, he shows gross ignorance of the judicial history of this Territory, or inability to appreciate the value of evidence. The records of the courts of Utah contain the plainest and most powerful refutation of such falsehoods, and he has nothing to support him in his insulting intimations to the jury, except rumor and the groundless assertions of unprincipled anti-"Mormons."

We know nothing of the merits of this case, but unless much stronger evidence is produced than that at present advanced, in regard to an alleged murder committed twenty-one years ago, we shall certainly give the defendant the benefit of the maxim that "an accused person is to be considered innocent until he is proven guilty," and think how singular it is that officers of the law should be so eager to hunt up cases that are musty with age, while they let slip the prosecution of recent crimes and the punishment of convicted criminals.

Beaten and Disgraced.

NEW YORK, 10.—The Sun's leader, headed "Beaten and Disgraced," is as follows: If it is not beaten, alone, that the democrats are, on the whole, in the recent elections, they are disgraced also. They had two positions natural for them to take, which were impregnable. One was the observance of the constitutional provision for the election of President and Vice-President; the other was the sound doctrine of a gold basis for currency. They have abandoned both. They surrendered all principle, and withal were ignominiously beaten. We do not say the republicans merited success, but the democrats certainly deserve the defeat they have sustained. How shall it be in this State? Tammany Hall began several months ago by declaring Hay's title sacred. All who believe that fraud can be sanctified by success and that an unconstitutional election can confer a sound title, may follow the Tammany lead. Independent patriots will best manifest their attachment to the constitution by voting against the democratic party. It will be bad for the party, but it will be good for the country.

When any party deliberately abandons all principle, it should, in turn, be abandoned by the people. The democratic party, at the recent state convention, silently turned its back to the constitution. Let the voters at the polls silently turn their backs upon the democratic party. Those who have timidly and basely lowered the flag should ask in vain for victory to perch upon it. Unworthy of leadership, let them be overwhelmed.

Sherman Gratified.

The Tribune's Washington special says: Sherman is much gratified with the result of the western elections. Resumption on January 1st he now regards as certain.

Silver Bullion Purchase—Standard Dollars.

The Times' Washington special says: The Treasury Department, yesterday, purchased 1,200,000 ounces of silver bullion in San Francisco, at a price considerably below the London quotation. The number of standard silver dollars coined to date is about 17,000,000, and it is not believed there are more than $2,000,000 in actual circulation.

The Election.

CHICAGO, 10. — The Tribune's Cincinnati special says: The only congressional district now in doubt is the 13th. The democrats have elected ten certain, and the republicans nine. If the republicans carry the 13th the delegation will be a tie.

The Pestilence.

NEW ORLEANS, 10. — Weather cloudy; deaths 48; cases reported 118; total deaths 3,351; total cases, 11,042.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Sultan's Relations With Austria.

LONDON, 10.—A Vienna correspondent states that according to the reports current in Constantinople a party in the palace is endeavoring to induce the Sultan to break off relations with Austria and concentrate a large army to bar any further Austrian advance. It does not seem to be apprehended at Vienna that these efforts will succeed.

A Disturbance at Trieste.

A Rome dispatch states that several persons were wounded at Trieste in a disturbance caused by sailors from an Austrian man-of-war shouting, "Death to Italy!" before the Italian consulate.

The Turkish Note.

A Vienna dispatch says: It is to be feared that the Turkish note has seriously, if not irretrievably compromised the amicable relations between Austria and Turkey. Germany will formally notify the Porte that its note is an offence to all the powers.

The Afghan Trouble—British Troops Advancing.

A correspondent at Simla telegraphs that he is informed, on what he believes to be good authority, that General Ross' column has passed Ali Musjid, and is advancing on Dakka, which will be captured on Thursday, at any cost.

The Porte's Circular.

The Porte's circular, recently delivered to the powers, reserved the sultan's sovereign rights over Bosnia and Herzegovina, and concluded with a solemn warning against the occupation of Novi Bazar as certain to lead to terrible disasters. The circular also appeals to the powers to support, in a friendly manner, the Porte's representatives against Austrian cruelties.

The Lighthouse Safe.

The Eddystone lighthouse is apparently uninjured, but a heavy sea prevents any communication.

The Bank of England.

Bullion in the Bank of England increased £385,000 the past week. The proportion of reserve to liability is 43¾ per cent.

Bullion in Bank.

The amount of bullion gone into the Bank of England on balance, to-day, is £139,000.
