

morals lift their possessor to almost any position which he covets. The Mayor of the city by the Golden Gate is a prominent representative of this type of American character.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

FROM FRIDAY'S DAILY, MAY 23.

Across the Water.—A telegram from P. W. Gibson, New York, received this morning, states that the steamer Wisconsin, with the Stayner party, arrived at Queenstown, Ireland, at 7 o'clock last evening.

General Butler.—Last evening's train brought to this city a gentleman whose name and fame are probably as well known in American history, as any other character our nation has produced. Hon. Benjamin F. Butler is the gentleman in reference, who took rooms with his party at the Walker House, having been met in Ogden by a number of leading citizens, including Messrs. W. H. Hooper, Wm. Jennings and John Sharp, and escorted to Salt Lake in a special car, placed at their disposal by Superintendent Sharp. There are in the party, besides Gen. Butler, his son, three ladies and three other gentlemen. They are all on the way to California. They spent the day in the city.

Serious Accident.—A distressing accident occurred last evening in the Sixth Ward, which resulted in the serious and perhaps fatal injury of a little boy, the four year old son of Mr. Thomas Cooper, an employee of the U. S. R. R. A number of boys jumped on Marsden's dray as it was passing, and, after riding some distance, the little fellow was pushed off by one of his companions, and fell under the ponderous vehicle, the wheel of which passed over his body from his left thigh across his breast to the right side of his head. He was picked up, insensible, but struggling vigorously, and a surgeon sent for, who, at last accounts, had not been able to tell the full extent of his injuries.

Report Confirmed.—Last evening we published the announcement that a man named Amos Chase was reported drowned in the Sevier River, several miles from Juab station, on the U. S. R. R. Mr. L. A. Bailey, of Nephi, writes that Mr. John D. Chase, of that place, father of Amos, received a telegram from Juab on Wednesday evening, informing him that his son had been drowned and the body not recovered. The father and relatives immediately started for the scene of the fatality, 21 miles from Nephi. Amos Chase owned a ranch on the Sevier, seven miles from Juab station, and was engaged in building a dam in the river to take out water. The deceased leaves a wife and six children.

Arrest of Romero.—The following special telegram to the DESERET NEWS was received this afternoon at 3.15:

MANTI, May 23.

John Romero, a Mexican, who on the first day of May, shot and killed William H. Manning, at Joes Valley, Sanpete County, surrendered himself yesterday to the precinct officers of this place, at 10 o'clock, a. m. To-day an examination of the case was held before Justice James C. Brown.

The affair seems to have grown out of protracted quarrels and ill will. It appears from the evidence given in the case, that Manning was in the act of drawing a pistol on Romero when the fatal shot was fired, and that the killing was done in self-defense. The defendant was committed to await the action of the grand jury. S. A. Kenner, of Ogden, appeared for the defense. He notified the justice and sheriff of his intentions to hold them responsible for false imprisonment.

Deseret University.—The closing exercises of the Deseret University, yesterday afternoon, were in accordance with the programme published yesterday, with the exception of the address of Hon. W. H. Hooper, which was omitted on account of that gentleman having to go to Ogden, to meet Gen. Butler and party. Following are the names of normal graduates:

NORMALS.

J. A. Brunn, Mary J. Weaver,
Sadie Tripp, A. S. Anderson,
Barbara M. Moses, Mary E. Smith,
J. M. Young, Chas. Wilcox,
L. W. Snow, Chas. R. Clark,
Moses Hall, Henry L. Steed,
D. L. Dean, W. G. Cragun,
W. R. Wallace, W. F. Smith,
Arthur Stayner, Jr.

The following received certificates for proficiency in the various studies here named:

English Language and Literature.—H. J. Wallace, Horace Cummings, J. S. Salmon, Nerville Richards, W. L. Cook, Ella Miner, J. A. Brunn, A. S. Anderson, Barbara M. Moses, L. W. Snow, Cloa Pratt, Lizzie Ball, Henry L. Steed, Chas. R. Clark, Josephine Spencer, Arthur F. Barns, Anna E. Cummings, Mary E. Smith.

In Chemistry.—M. W. Stewart, Eliza Slade, Geo. M. Cannon, Lottie J. Claridge, Horace Cummings, A. S. Anderson, Waldemar VanCott.

In Natural History.—W. L. Cook, A. S. Anderson, G. M. Cannon, H. J. Wallace.

Political Science.—Ezekial Lee, H. J. Wallace, L. W. Snow, A. S. Anderson, J. M. Young.

Physical Science.—A. S. Anderson, W. VanCott, D. J. Ross, Geo. M. Cannon, Eliza Slade.

In History.—Horace Cummings, H. J. Wallace, Barbara M. Moses, David R. Allen, George M. Cannon, David J. Ross.

In Mathematics.—W. VanCott, Horace Cummings, H. J. Wallace, Geo. M. Cannon.

After this Mr. John M. Young rendered a speech in behalf of the normal graduates, paying merited credit to the teachers, eulogizing the cause of education, and impressing upon his companions the necessity of putting in practice in life the many good lessons they had learned while at school.

Hon. John Taylor, Territorial superintendent of District Schools, delivered an interesting and instructive address on the benefits of true education. He counseled perseverance and continuity in study out of school as well as in, the acquiring of a knowledge of correct principles in every department of education, religious as well as others, and closed with words of encouragement to the University in all its efforts to further the cause of human enlightenment.

A short address by Dr. John R. Park closed the exercises of the day.

Bishops' Meeting.—Several topics of interest were dwelt upon last evening at the Bishops' meeting, the speakers being Elders Henry Grow, George Goddard, Bishop Edward Hunter, Bishop David Evans, of Lehi, and Bishop R. T. Burton. The first stated that some carpenter work, painting, etc., was yet needed on the Assembly Hall, to complete it, and that a few good mechanics could find employment by applying at once. The building committee was desirous of having the structure finished, that they might be released from their duties.

Elder Goddard added that it was their wish to submit the entire cost of the edifice to the authorities and the people, that what had been expended and what was still due might be understood by all. It was the design to dedicate the Hall as soon as the cost of construction was paid, but the dedicatory prayer was not to be offered up as long as a dollar of indebtedness remained. The speaker also stated that detailed reports were wanted immediately, from every ward in the Territory, of the various amounts of back tithing cancelled, in accordance with the action of the late Conference.

Bishop Hunter arose and made a few remarks on several important subjects, among them tithing, care for the poor and infirm, the Utah Eastern Railroad, and the Perpetual Emigration Fund. He also introduced Bishop David Evans, of Lehi, in words of commendation for his long and faithful labors in the Church.

Bishop Evans then gave an interesting recital of his history in the Church as a Bishop, stated reasons for his late resignation, and gave much good advice to those present. He was now in the neighborhood of 78 years of age, 47 of which he had spent as a Latter-day Saint, having probably held the office of bishop for a longer time than any other man in the Church. He recounted his experience in early days. He was at Haun's Mill massacre, knew what it was to be shot at, and thanked God he also knew what it was to be missed. At that place the bullets whistled by him in showers, but by the blessing of Providence he was unhurt. He was glad he had passed through persecutions and trials. Some people desired to live their lives over again, thinking they might do better. He did not; he was satisfied with his record and would not live his life over again if he could, for fear he might do worse. He knew "Mormonism" was true, that Joseph Smith was a prophet, and that his successors had done their best to follow out his instructions. Errors may have been made by some, but no man ever lived without making some mistakes, and by our mistakes we learned wisdom. The speaker had done the best he could, through a long life, and when he found he was old and feeble and could not as efficiently as formerly, he resigned his position. Lehi, where he had presided for many years, had always been noted for its prompt and full tithing returns. He had been asked why it was that his people always paid tithing so faithfully. His answer was: "Because I reason with the people. Never force them to pay tithing. Never crowd them or domineer over them. I always strive to show them that it is a matter between them and their God, and advised them to pay tithing till they have satisfied their consciences." Hence his success in getting the people to perform their duties. Paying honest debts, tithing included, had always been and always would be his counsel. He had always endeavored to take his own advice, too, and to-day he could stand up and face any record in the world and not be ashamed to meet it.

Bishop Burton continued several of the topics touched upon by Bishop Hunter, among them the P. F. Fund indebtedness. At a meeting held Wednesday evening, it was decided that the best means of reaching the people and stirring them up to their duty in discharging their indebtedness to the fund, was through the ward teachers, who were exhorted to diligence in gathering the required information. The speaker then took up the subject of the Utah Eastern Railroad, and urged the people to sustain the enterprise and assist in its completion. The road was for their benefit and relief. He briefly sketched the history of the project; how it was started three years ago, and failed for lack of encouragement; how the people had since suffered on account of the heavy price of fuel groaning under the oppressive weight of a monopoly which has no sympathy for their situation; how an effort was made at the last Legislature to get a bill through to assist the establishment of the railroad, and when it had passed both houses, how one man, with a stroke of his pen, vetoed the measure and subverted the delegated will of 100,000 people. So that now they were fully aroused, and with the help of God would go to work and build the road themselves. We were now paying $450,000 annually for fuel, nearly every dollar of which was paid to strangers and taken away. The Utah Eastern would not only reduce coal from $8 to $1.50 per ton, but give employment to our own people and keep our own money circulating at home. It would also build up the country, for the stone, lumber, marble and other industries would be developed and flourish as a consequence of its establishment. We had no quarrel with individuals or corporations, but would, by peaceable and legitimate means, effect our object. Because we had failed in some things, we must not despair. Wonders had been wrought by the people of Utah in the past, and by the blessing of God they could do such things again.

FROM SATURDAY'S DAILY, MAY 23.

Decoration Day at Camp.—About half-past 10 this forenoon a large concourse of carriages and other vehicles left this city for Fort Douglas, with citizens who went to witness the ceremonies of decorating the graves of the soldiers and participating in the exercises of the occasion, which are in progress as we go to press.

Poisoned With Segoes.—Yesterday afternoon, a little boy aged four years, living in the 21st Ward, was poisoned by eating a wild sego top, given him by a girl companion. A physician was summoned at once and administered an emetic to the young patient, who vomited forth the cause of his suffering, and this morning was feeling much better.

Arrived Safe.—A letter from Elder Jens I. Jensen, dated at Copenhagen, Denmark, on the 6th inst., states that himself, with eleven other missionaries, after a pleasant and prosperous voyage, arrived there on the 4th inst., and were kindly welcomed by President N. Wilhelmson. Brother Jensen and two others had been assigned to labor in the Aalborg Conference, and intended leaving for that locality on the day of writing.

Married.—On Thursday the 27th inst., another happy union was effected between two young people of this city, the ceremony being performed at the Endowment House by Elder Joseph F. Smith. The names of the newly wedded couple are Mr. and Mrs. Matthew H. Barnes, the bride having heretofore borne the name of Miss Amy White. The bridegroom is a resident of the 19th Ward, the bride a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James White, of the 11th Ward. Long life and continued happiness.

An Improved Steam Vessel.—We were shown to-day, by Mr. Andreas Olsen, of Ephraim, Sanpete County, the model of a new steam vessel which he has invented and on which he obtained a patent April 13th, 1880. Besides the model, Mr. Olsen exhibited a very fine oil painting, by Dan Weggeland, showing the singular craft sailing on the bosom of the deep, her deck covered with human beings, from which painting photographs have been taken.

The specification of the patentee describes the invention in full. The main points are these: Two tubular airtight pontoons, pointed at each end, sustain the hull of the vessel. These pontoons are retained parallel to each other by transverse braces, and are divided into smaller compartments so that in case one portion should be damaged the whole cylinder will not be rendered useless. This arrangement, it is claimed, will make it impossible to sink the vessel. The craft is provided with four paddle wheels, two fixed at the centre which are calculated to furnish the propelling force, and one at each end. The latter wheels have horizontal shafts, which are so supported as to be turned upon vertical axes. This enables the vessel to be propelled in a direction transverse to the run of the waves without turning a broadside to the beating of the sea. In order to prevent the vessel from drifting, when its engines are not in motion, "water anchors" are provided. These are merely heavy iron plates hinged under the vessel and extending across it. When in motion, these plates are swung up and secured under the vessel, but when it is desired to lay to, the anchor in the end of the vessel heading, the run of the waves is let down.

The vessel has neither masts nor sail, will run perfectly steady, and is something entirely new in naval architecture.

FROM MONDAY'S DAILY, MAY 20.

ADDRESS

OF THE FIRST PRESIDENTS OF SEVENTIES.

We are desirous of obtaining the names of, and other information concerning all of the Seventies in the Church; and for this purpose are distributing blank forms to the Presidents of the several Stakes of Zion to be circulated among the Bishops of the various wards therein. As far as possible we desire that Bishops will call upon leading Seventies in their respective wards to attend to this labor; and we trust the brethren of the Seventies so called upon, will attend to this matter with cheerfulness and zeal, regarding it as a mission, for the information called for in the blanks above referred to, is necessary to enable us to perform our labors with promptness and efficiency.

We feel a degree of delicacy in asking the indulgence of Presidents of Stakes and Bishops in this matter, and we trust the information called for, if promptly returned, will obviate a similar necessity in future. And perhaps we have some little claim to the consideration of these officers, for many of their most active men in local capacities, are taken from the ranks of the Seventies.

Your Brother,
JOSEPH YOUNG, Sen.,
In behalf of the Council of Seventies.

Address all returns to Robert Campbell, Box 357, Salt Lake City.

Two More Gone.—Mr. Wm. Birkinshaw, of the 9th Ward, has already lost three children from diphtheria; yesterday two more fell victims to the destroyer. We condole with the parents in their deep affliction and sincerely hope that the plague will now be stayed. May the afflicted parents be sustained from on high in this their day of severe trial!

Departed.—The family of Mr. W. H. Shearman were plunged into great grief on Sunday by the departure from this life of his interesting little daughter Ella, who succumbed to disease of the heart, at 11.10 a.m. She would have been fourteen years old on the 18th of June, and was an intelligent and engaging child. The funeral will take place at 11 a.m. to-morrow from the residence of the parents on Second South Street, near Fifth East. We condole with them in their affliction.

The Chase Drowning.—Mr. L. A. Bailey, of Nephi, writes further particulars of the drowning of Amos Chase at his ranch on the Sevier, the other day. It appears that the deceased and Mr. George Chappell, finding that the river was rising, went down to the dam to take out some boards for the purpose of giving the water more freedom of passage, when the log they were on gave way and both went over the dam. Mr. Chappell held on to some of the timbers and saved his life, but Mr. Chase, after coming up four times, sank and was seen no more. His son witnessed his death, unable to offer any assistance. A party of men left Nephi on Friday to hunt for the body.

Decoration Day.—Decoration Day passed off very quietly in Salt Lake. Quite a number of citizens went to Black Rock, some few to Ogden, and many others to Fort Douglas, where the exercises of the day were held, just outside the cemetery. The decorating of graves took place before and after the services. The opening address was delivered by Governor Murray, after which a prayer was offered by Rev. W. M. Barrows. Col. Neil, the orator of the day, then rendered an oration. After the benediction, and some good singing by a quartette of male voices, a salute was fired over the graves of the departed, and the exercises of the day were brought to a close.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER is a scientific combination of some of the most powerful restorative agents in the vegetable kingdom. It restores gray hair to its original color. It makes the scalp white and clean. It cures dandruff and humors, and falling out of the hair. It furnishes the nutritive principle by which the hair is nourished and supported. It makes the hair moist, soft and glossy, and is unsurpassed as a hair dressing. It is the most economical preparation ever offered to the public, as its effects remain a long time, making only an occasional application necessary. It is recommended and used by eminent medical men, and officially endorsed by the State Assayer of Massachusetts. The popularity of Hall's Renewer has increased with the test of many years, both in this country and in foreign lands; and it is now known and used in all the civilized countries of the world. 5 ds w
