IMPORTANT TO THE TRAVELING PUBLIC.

It is the duty of all persons before starting on a journey to ascertain by what route they can reach their destination with the least trouble, and if there are two or more routes leading to the same point, to decide which is the safest and most pleasant to travel.

We take pleasure in stating, that the CHICAGO & NORTH-WESTERN RAILWAY is the oldest, and several miles the shortest, route between Chicago and Omaha. Within the past two years the road has been put in admirable condition, and almost the entire line has been re-laid with steel rails.

The Depot in Chicago is centrally located, and in paper covers, arrive there thirty minutes in advance of all other lines; passengers can always be sure of making East connections.

These connections are made at Chicago with the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, Michigan Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago, Kanabakee line, and Pan Handle Routes, for all points EAST and SOUTH.

Particular information with respect to time tables, etc., may be had of any of the Through Ticket Agents in the West, or upon application to J. W. Wagon, Ticket Agent, Salt Lake City, A. H. Earl, Ticket Agent, Ogden, or to J. H. McDonald, Western Traveling Agent, Omaha, Neb., or to W. H. Stennett, General Passenger Agent, Chicago.

EVENING NEWS.

Thursday, October 21, 1875.

Local and Other Matters.

THERMOMETER 75 degrees F in the shade at 1 p.m. to-day. Fine.

Committed to Jail.—The preliminary examination in the case of George Hartwell, charged with rape, was concluded to-day, resulting in the accused being committed to jail, in default of finding $3,000 bonds, to await the action of the grand jury.

Larceny.—This morning a woman named Ellen Jones was taken before Justice Pyper, to answer to a charge of stealing a considerable quantity of bed linen, towels, and other articles from the Great Western Hotel. The case appeared clear enough against the accused, and she was committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury, in default of finding $500 bonds.

Theatre.—There will be a performance at the Theatre on Saturday evening, for the complimentary benefit of Mr. Mark Croxall, previous to his departure for Australia. Mr. Croxall has been connected with the Theatre as cornetist for many years, and also with the band musicians of the city, and his numerous friends will be eager to rally in force to his first benefit, and that on the eve of his departure for a distant land beyond the wide blue sea.

Seriously Hurt.—Yesterday an employe of the Flattag Mining Company, Little Cottonwood, named John Wilson, was brought to the city for the purpose of being taken to St. Mark's hospital for treatment for severe injuries accidentally received at the mine named.

When he was in the act of stepping into the cage, some one rang the bell, causing it to draw up too soon, and he was jammed against the side of the shaft, crushing him severely about the back and loins, his injuries affecting his lower limbs to such an extent as to partially deprive him of their use.

A Scene in Court.—Henry and Mary Ann Miller are a couple who were joined in wedlock, a few months since, by Justice Pyper, but their domestic affairs are the opposite of smooth, being marked with conspicuous antagonisms indicating a most infelicitous situation.

This morning they were before the Justice on a charge of being individually and collectively engaged in making last night hideous with yells, screams and imprecations. In the court room the erratic wife allowed her angry passions to overpower her. She then and there threatened to wind up the earthly career of her ill-fated husband by throwing at him a Shaker bonnet and threw it at him, and then sprang at him to finish off with a few strokes direct from the shoulder, but an officer stepped in and ended that act of the drama by placing the two at a safe distance from each other. Both of them were fined.

Insulting a Lady.—This afternoon a large, stout built man, giving the name of John Jewell, was in the police court to answer to a charge of insulting a lady on the public street. The act was committed last night, near the City market, when the accused stopped the lady in question, seized her roughly by the arm, and otherwise acted in a brutal and unseemly manner.

Justice Pyper decided that Jewell was guilty as charged, after hearing the evidence, and in alluding to the frequency of such cases now-a-days, stated that, so far as he was concerned, he was willing that it should be understood that he would endeavor to make it uncomfortable for those guilty of such offenses who were brought before him. He fined Jewell $50, with the alternative of working fifty days on the public works.

Three Men Shot.—At 8 o'clock last night the Headquarters saloon was the scene of a shooting affray. William Kirby, somewhat notorious in connection with shooting and other scrapes, had a difficulty with a stranger, a recent arrival from Montana, whom he slapped in the face. The stranger retaliated with a tumbler, which he dashed at Kirby, striking him and cutting a gash in his head. Kirby drew a revolver and fired three shots, each bullet taking effect upon a distinct and distinguished spectator, but none of them hitting the party for whom they were intended. Joseph Russell had the calf of his leg perforated by one of the leaden messengers, a man named Webb was struck in the fleshy part of the thigh, and a young man named Gallphian was struck in the abdomen, but the bullet lodged in his chest, without penetrating the skin, and he was scarcely injured. None of the wounds inflicted on any of the parties are considered dangerous.

Kirby was arrested and placed in jail, and this morning was held in $1,000 bonds, to appear for preliminary examination before Justice Pyper, next week.

NEWS NOTES.

The irrepressible Thomas Dober, of South Bend, Ind., having had his arms found on a table with a spruce, has written a book with his own hands.

The Chicago Tribune has a glowing account of the fall business in that city. It says that the whole time next month, and the Des Moines Leader says that a room is being prepared for him at one of the hotels with extra walls upon which to hang pictures, and bed of peculiar excellence. A night porter will remain in the hall during the night to suppress all sleeping manifestations.

Benevolent persons will learn with regret that chills and fever prevail in all parts of the noble old state of Kentucky, and that the nine cocktails are a favorite morning drink in place of the Bourbon which is the usual beverage of the population.

Be warned: There is good reason to believe that contagious diseases are often communicated by dogs, cats, and other household pets. A case of scarlet fever recently occurred in England in which a dog conveyed the disease. He had been the constant companion of a fever patient, and his hair doubtless became impregnated with the miasm.

Again the titling Vassar girl is telling tales out of school. After the recent exposure of "Smashing," which means that a masculine girl posed, dressed and carried off by the person, it is not surprising that the story that the girls have mid-night frolics, each playing, mooning, and, in other words, running tramps over the country and privy, is not so far from the truth.

"With the aid of false mustaches, whiskers, burned cork, wig, etc., we are enabled to get up very respectable men."

An Edinburgh paper says: "The Fast Day in Scotland is likely to be celebrated, it was always held on an occasion for hard drinking; hard drinking in Scotland is worse than hard drinking in England, for it means the consumption, not of beer, but of a fabulous amount of strong whiskey. In olden times, however, the drinking was prefaced by attendance at the Kirk; nowadays no prayers are said before the process of intoxication commences, and the fast day has become a revelry."

Los Angeles wine makers employ the primitive method of crushing grapes by tramping with the bare feet. About a score of half-breed Indians do the tramping, and it is truly delicious to witness the purple juice squirting up through their toes and mingling with the perspiration which streams from their pores. Wine made by this simple yet beautiful method must possess a peculiarly fine flavor, and is just the thing for weak-stomached persons to use for medicinal purposes. —San Bernardino Times.

Among recent industrial developments in Germany is the hollow iron furniture, which has been popular for years in Austria. In Germany, however, it is only quite lately that the first large factory for making this class of goods has been opened. Ribbon iron of the best quality is selected for this purpose, and converted into tubing in pieces of about sixteen feet in length, which can be bent cold into any form suitable for the making of bedsteads, doors, tables, etc. Hollow iron is stronger and lighter than the solid iron which has usually been employed in this way, and it also possesses the important advantage of holding the rivets better, and of not breaking so easily as solid iron, the latter frequently giving way where there is a flaw.

A New York dispatch to the Boston Journal says H. T. Helmhold is in the Bloomingdale Insane Asylum. Mr. Helmhold acted strangely at the Fifth Avenue hotel and other places, and it was resolved that a medical examination of the unfortunate man should be made. Two physicians pronounced him dangerously insane, and he was at once removed to the asylum. He was at first so violent that a straight jacket was brought into requisition, but he has since become quiet and the jacket has been removed. —New York Express, October 20.
