POLITICAL POINTERS

Voting machines belonging to Salt Lake county will make it an easy matter to know the results in Salt Lake early on the night of election. There are six of the machines, and they will be used in all of the precincts of the county districts. All that is necessary to get the vote from the machines after the polls close is to unlock the machine and read the count. The machine has been made, and for this reason results should be known very shortly after dark. With the increas-

PRONOUNCED HIS CASE INCURABLE

Whole Body Raw with Eczema—Life was Intolerable—Was Even

SUFFERED 14 YEARS
CURED BY CUTICURA

"From the age of three months until fifteen years old, my son's life was made intolerable by his worst form. He was all right until a red rash broke out on his forehead, but we were not alarmed at first.
Very soon, however, the rash began to spread over his head and shoulders, and it caused him great discomfort. I took him to a doctor and tried half a dozen other treatments, with the same result, no improvement at all. The disease gradually spread until nearly every part of his body was quite raw.
We had to strap him down in bed, for he used to tear himself dreadfully in his sleep. The agony he went through is quite beyond words. No one thought we would rear him. A local medical doctor, a very clever man, pronounced the case hopeless; at least, he said the only hope was that he might, if he lived long enough, outgrow it. Some times and he was pronounced one of the worst cases, if not the worst, ever admitted. From each he was discharged as incurable. In fact he got worse under the successive treatments.
At one hospital they incased him in plaster, and this seemed to aggravate the soreness terribly. He looked so badly that no one liked to go near him and his life was a burden to him. We kept trying remedy after remedy, but we had got almost past hoping for a cure. Six months ago we purchased a set of Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent Pills, and persevered with them. The result was truly marvellous and to-day he is perfectly cured, his skin not having a blemish on it anywhere.

A Democratic rally for Friday evening has been announced to be held in Forest Dale, at the Amusement hall on Austin avenue.

An odd political situation has developed in Platte county. Politics warmed up to the southward in the form of a split in the old parties, and a sprinkling of socialistic sentiment, out of which has grown a citizen's independent ticket for the county.

Tonight, besides the Monnett rally in the Salt Lake theater, there will be rallies in a dozen other Utah cities.
James H. Moyle holds forth at Monte-cello, Messrs. Knight, Martineau and Caine at Pleasant Grove, Messrs. Spry, Howell and Mattson at Parowan, William Glassman at Ephraim, and Brigham Clemm at Fountain Green.

Provo last night could not hear F. S.
Monnett, despite the strenuous efforts made to prepare for the rally. Announced, the train on which he was coming to Salt Lake was belated and did not arrive until 8 p. m., too late to make connections for Provo. He sent the following telegram to the meeting, held there in his absence with F. S. Fernstrom, W. H. Leary and the Bryan-Knight male quartet as the entertainers:

"Salt Lake City, E. S. Jones, Chairman: Belated train makes it impossible to meet with you. Extend to electors my greetings. With 50,000 majority for Bryan in Ohio, central Montana,

BUS PASSENGERS

Madame Marie Rappold, of the Metropolitan Opera company of New York, who sang in Salt Lake last night, and who in company with the other artists left for the east at noon today, says the high altitude of Salt Lake does not agree with her and she finds it very difficult to sing. She is afflicted with the common cold, and continually feels a tingling in her nose.

A. S. Goldsmelt, of San Francisco who has been at the Holy Cross hospital for a few days has recovered from his indisposition, has taken up quarters again at the Wilson.

S. S. Dougherty, of Detroit and a man prominent in the world of sheep dipping, is registered at the Wilson.

Peter Jennette, a Reno merchant, is stopping at the Cullen.

C. E. Arner, of Twin Falls, is in Salt Lake on business. He is registered at the Cullen.

Maj. A. B. Foster of the Philippine service is visiting in Salt Lake and is registered at the Knutsford. Maj. Foster is on his way to the Philippines to rejoin his command from which he has had a leave of absence for two months.
He says that all is quiet in the east and that in the Philippines especially the cholera epidemic is every day growing of less dimensions. Maj. Foster is captain of the Nineteenth infantry and is now doing special scouting duty in the east.

E. F. McCarthy and G. Stephenson, of London, both mining men, are stopping at the Knutsford. They visited the Garfield smelters yesterday.

James Rasover, president of the New York News Bureau, arrived in Salt Lake yesterday afternoon. He accompanied by Charles B. Strecker of New York.

J. D. Landis of Twin Falls, prominent in Idaho irrigation work, is visiting a few days at the Kenyon.

Judge W. L. Maginnis and his son S. A. Maginnis, both of Ogden, are registered at the Kenyon. Judge Magin-nis has recently been admitted to the bar.

M. H. Mark, a Denver cattle man, is stopping at the Cullen.

L. H. Ferguson of Milford is in the city on business and is registered at the Cullen.

Donald B. Gilles, of Tonopah, Nev., who had been a leading figure in the development of Nevada's agriculture, is registered at the Knutsford.
Mr. Gilles is closely connected in a business way with Charles M. Schwab, the steel magnate.

Ira D. Whines of Lehi, is stopping at the Wilson. Mr. Whines was delegate from this state to the National Irrigation congress at Albuquerque, N. M., from where he has just returned.

J. T. Dyer of Los Angeles, superintendent of telegraphy on the Salt Lake route, registered at the Cullen last night. Mr. Dyer is here on business connected with the road.

Robert J. Collier, of Collier's Weekly, was joined by his family last evening at the Knutsford. Mark Sullivan, editorial writer for Collier's, accompanied the Collier family from New York.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Orpheus Concert—Glory, with a big, big "G" tells the story of last night's achievement by the Orpheus Club. It is to be hoped their financial reward will be somewhat near commensurate but the chances are that it will not, for the expense of securing such a quartet as that which the club presented last night must have been a prodigious one, and handsome, beautiful and representative as the audience was, it did not entirely fill the house.

Very rarely, indeed, is it that four singing birds like Campanari, Jacoby, Martin and Rappold, can be arrested in their flight across the continent, and the periods just before and just after the big Metropolitan opens its New York season, some of its single stars make a dash in a concert tour out into the country, but very seldom do a quartet of the headliners group themselves together for a road engagement. The Orpheus club, therefore, was most fortunate in securing such an attraction for the first of its subscription series.

The numbers selected by the famous quartet last evening generally belong in the standard concert list, some of them, in the very venerable lists, but the audience found no fault with that, and the quartet, in fact, never failed to act from "Trovatore," the Toreador song from "Carmen," and the prologue from "Pagliacci," were applauded as vociferously as if they were being heard for the first time. The opening number by the visiting artists was the Rigoletto quartet, superbly rendered, the first of the evening.
The tenor of Mr. Martin did rather predominate. The first soloist to appear was Campanari, the baritone. His number was to be a high, high, high factum form the "Barber of Seville," but perhaps someone whispered to him at the last moment that the memory of Gogorzo, he is still a singer and was still ringing in the ears of the audience, and a change was made to the Pagliacci Prologue. So big a recall did Campanari get for this, he came back and rendered the Tore-ador song from Carmen, in equally magnetic fashion. His tone is that of a dramatic baritone, and he never loses the feeling of an actor. He was formerly one of the Metropolitan "standbys" in such parts as Rigo-letto, the Toreador, etc., and while he lacks the beauty of tone and the finish of Gogorzo, he is still a singer and actor whose vigor and style can be relied on invariably to fetch his audience.

Mme. Rappold, the soprano, whose style and manner were as charming as her voice, gave an unexpected treat in singing "Come Take Me to the Baseball Game." Among the serious pieces and offerings of the camera-phone are "A Vaquero's Vow," a story of Old Mexico, and a French concert scene. In addition, the third act of "The Chimes of Normandy" is productive of a...

Grand—"Faust," the time-enduring masterpiece of the immortal Goethe, is the offering at the Grand for the first half of the week. An audience that score in "Trovatore" and witnessed the play last evening, and though many of those present doubtless had seen the piece performed in higher-priced places, F and G. After artists all seemed to appreciate the efforts of the present company. The work of Mr. Sanford Dodge and Miss Louise Marshall in the leading roles, both acquitting themselves in fine shape. While "Faust," and the drama seen here two weeks ago, the "Devil," have much in common as to plot, the latter is wide difference in the moral tone and the lessons for good to be gained therefrom. In the first named, evil is shown up in such hideousness that one cannot but regret that depraved could fail to avoid the soul danger depicted; on the contrary, in the "Devil" the way of the transgressor is replete to the very end.

The Sanford-Dodge company, which is composed of a good average of players, will be seen the last half of the week in "The Three Musketeers."
