The first week in June is always a busy one and the past week has been no exception to the rule. More than a half score weddings have taken place, and other functions have helped in the general festivity. Among the brilliant affairs may be numbered the university and high school celebrations, which have occupied a greater part of the week, commencing on Monday night, with the students' ball at the U. of U., the reception held by President Kingsbury, the luncheon, and graduate exercises, and the big banquet at the Odéon on Wednesday night given by the alumni, which ranks among the most brilliant events of the institution. The reception, given by the high school alumni at the school gymnasium was another notable school event, about 200 enjoying it. The decorations were in the school colors and an excellent orchestra furnished delightful music for the dancing. A large number of weddings are scheduled for next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ledyard M. Bailey gave an Orpheum party on Wednesday night for friends from England, who are visiting here for a few days.

Miss Gladys McConaghy was hostess at an informal bridge party on Thursday night, given in honor of Miss Margaret Walden, who leaves shortly for a year's stay in the east.

SATIN SEPARATE COATS SMART AND SERVICEABLE.

That long-felt want, a separate coat for between seasons, has made the satin coat an immediate success. It is usually of heavy black satin and of moderate length, the modelling being governed wholly by the wearer's figure. Some of the smartest coats are of the half-fitting type. Others are wrist and three-quarter length and moderately full and soutache, chenille and cabochon trimmings are most popular. Moderately sized picture hats of the "daphne" order accompany the satin coats. They are usually of a matching tone in chip or net, trimmed with coque or ostrich clusters.

Arthur Shepherd presided at the organ and Richard E. Stingley, Jack Lloyd and S. R. Boone were ushers. The bride wore an imported French gown of lace over white satin, with long veil of tulle fastened with orange blossoms and a pearl pin, and carried a shower bouquet of white and pink flowers. The bridesmaids wore all in white gowns and short tulle veils, and carried bouquets of red roses. A reception was held later at the home of Samuel Newhouse, which was beautifully decorated for the event. Later Mr. and Mrs. Campbell left for a trip to the coast.

Miss Phoebe Scholes and Mr. James W. Saville were married Thursday in the temple, Apostle George A. Smith performing the ceremony. They left in the afternoon for California, where they will spend two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Saville will be at home to their many friends after July 10 at 265 Fifth avenue.

One of the prettiest home weddings of the week was that of Miss Lillian Young and Laurence Mariger, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Young, on Wednesday afternoon. The bride's father officiating. The rooms were effectively decorated in sweet peas, bridal wreath and American Beauties, and the bride's relatives and friends assisted. Mr. and Mrs. Mariger left afterward for a trip to the coast and will later return here to reside.

Miss Hazel Alice Calder and Leslie Groesbeck were among the week's bride couples, being married in the temple and having an informal dinner and reception held later for the family and friends. The rooms were prettily decorated and a number of friends assisted.

Another wedding of Wednesday was that of Miss Stella Maud Paul and William C. Bradford, the ceremony being performed in the temple and a reception following in the evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Paul. A profusion of flowers adorned the rooms and about 75 guests were present. Mr. and Mrs. Bradford will spend some time on the coast.

Miss Helena Badger and Hyrum Groesbeck, Jr., were among Wednesday's bride couples, the ceremony being performed in the temple and a reception being held in the evening at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Taylor. The decorations were in pink and white and a large number of the relatives and friends were present. Mr. and Mrs. Groesbeck will be at home at 76 H street.

Miss Jessie Martin, whose marriage takes place shortly, will be guest of honor at a bridge tea this afternoon to be given by Mrs. C. S. Morrison and Mrs. W. D. Foster, and on Monday Mrs. Iglehart will entertain the members of the King's Daughters in her honor. Miss Martin belongs to the society.

Miss Della Hines, one of the June brides, is guest of honor at a pretty afternoon affair today, given by Mrs. Arthur S. Price, the rooms being decorated in the spring flowers and a number of intimate friends present.

Last night Miss Margaret Walden was guest of honor at an informal party, given by Miss Lillian Lane.

Mrs. Harriet M. Nye announces the engagement of her daughter Rosalita, to William Marcellus Woolley, the marriage to take place June 24.

Miss Lenora H. Miles and Mr. Ray Hatch were married on Thursday at the home of the bride, Bishop Hatch of Heber, the father of the groom performing the ceremony. The reception was in honor both of last night's bridal pair and of Mr. and Mrs. Burgess, whose marriage took place the night previous. The parlor was decorated in white and green, with roses, sweet peas and palms, the dining room in red and white, with carnations and sweet peas, and the living room in red peonies. The library was done in the colors of the university, a large U in red and white electric lights being over the door and university pennants all about. Mr. and Mrs. Hatch will be at home at Heber, and Mr. and Mrs. Burgess at Lund, Nev., till next September, when both couples will leave to attend the University of Chicago during the winter.

On Tuesday night Miss Lela Stingley and Joseph J. Campbell were married, the ceremony being performed at St. Paul's church, which was handsomely decorated for the occasion. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. E. Perkins; the bridesmaids were the Misses Georgia Moore, Mary Moore and Misses Beas and Mildred McMillan, and Mr. John Clark was best man. Prof.

Use Ivory Soap for dish washing and it will cost you perhaps, two cents a week more than if you used ordinary laundry soap.

But what does that amount to, as compared with the satisfaction that comes from scrupulously clean dishes; from the improved appearance of your hands; and from the knowledge that every ingredient in Ivory Soap is sweet and clean and pure?

Ivory Soap

PRACTICAL THREE-PIECE VISITING COSTUMES.

A type of costume which appeals to the practical woman may be developed in rough pongee, English mohair or taffeta. For visiting, formal luncheons, and afternoon receptions such a costume may be of taupe chandora, old rose or medium blue. The graceful gored skirt, with its V-trucked front panel, is quite as generally becoming as is the half-fitting and hip cutaway. This is practically sleeveless, but elaborately soutache-trimmed and has an ornate waistcoat. The third piece is a soutache-embroidered jumper worn over a tucked white net blouse.
