

S. W. ECCLES AND JOHN C. STUBBS.

Reported Pending Change Leads To Some Comparisons of Their Characteristics.

BIG SALARY BUT MUCH GRIEF.

Position of Traffic Manager for the Harriman Lines Requires Talents of a Diplomat.

The report that S. W. Eccles can have Mr. Stubbs' place as traffic director of the Harriman lines, if he wants it, has occasioned considerable gossip in business and railroad circles. It is every where conceded that Mr. Eccles is well able to hold down the job, and to hold it down hard, as he is regarded as one of the ablest traffic men in the United States. He has that wide acquaintance with western men and western commercial, industrial, mining and agricultural conditions which admirably qualify him to fill such a position; and moreover, Mr. Eccles has one very desirable quality that Mr. Stubbs does not possess, and that is an unusual gift of diplomacy, very necessary in positions where problems calling for calm and nicely discriminating treatment are frequently recurring, and where judicial equipoise and a complete control of temper are imperative in settling the same. This, in Mr. Eccles' case, is not a matter of course, but a matter of habit, and of it is reassuring and convincing.

Mr. Stubbs is irascible, and the slightest division of the spinal fur from the customary angle of inclination with reference to the plane of the spinous equator, is liable to evoke a cyclone. Local railroad men have been known to say things to Mr. Stubbs which would have thrown Mr. Stubbs into temporary dementia, and Mr. Eccles would remain as equable and unperturbed as an idyllic summer evening.

Later, however, he would speak a word of mild reproach to the other parties in such an unassuming, yet very persuasive way that they would like themselves away, feeling like a dollar less.

And by way of side remark, an old acquaintance observes of Mr. Eccles that he is so smooth of men, and can with such skill placate a perturbed and disquieted spirit that the latter, although absolutely turned down, and sent off with his request entirely denied, will be so courteous that he will witness of his rejection that he will want to invite Mr. Eccles out to take a cigar and trimmings.

Mr. Eccles is a very approachable man, notwithstanding the altitude and the magnitude of the position, and if he accepts the position of traffic director of the Harriman lines, while his office will, of course, be guided against unwarranted intrusion, there is no danger of a caller being obliged to pass the gruntnet of a dozen flunkies, or to go through a succession of stages of approach requiring as much time as to pass through the air locks of an East river tunnel.

However, there is doubt expressed that Mr. Eccles will be willing to accept the position likely to be offered, if it has not been tentatively offered to him already, for the plain and simple reason that there is too much grief connected with it. Complete questions are being constantly referred for adjudication likely to occasion irritation, no matter which way they may be decided, and there is a constant strain on judicial and administrative temperaments calculated in time to sandpaper and roughen the most unflappable nature. A dozen different lines of traffic are being handled as many different things at the same moment, and demanding that a decision be reached to suit them immediately, if not sooner, and after two or three years of judicial turmoil, there comes a weariness of the flesh and a drowsiness of the spirit that recall the saying of the Psalmist, "Oh that I were a bird, that I might fly away and be at rest." Then the fact that Mr. Stubbs has stubbed his toe against a wrinkle in the Harriman carpet, is always a menacing suggestion of the danger of judgment of a traffic director may run counter to executive policies he may have innocently enough misjudged. The job is one unending vexation of spirit, worry, and corroding care calculated to bring the tenant thereof down with gray hairs to the grave.

Mr. Eccles even now holds a very responsible position as general traffic manager of the American Smelting and Refining company at a salary that reaches up into the upper regions where one is apt to feel lonely, so few there are who attain to that height. His work suits him, and there are no questions likely to segregate the temper and make him weary of hope of mental peace and empty dream. There is really no reason why he should want to make any change, and the belief that he will not grows apace with time.

LINE TO GOLDFIELD.

Proposed Freight Route Will Be Great Thing for Utah.

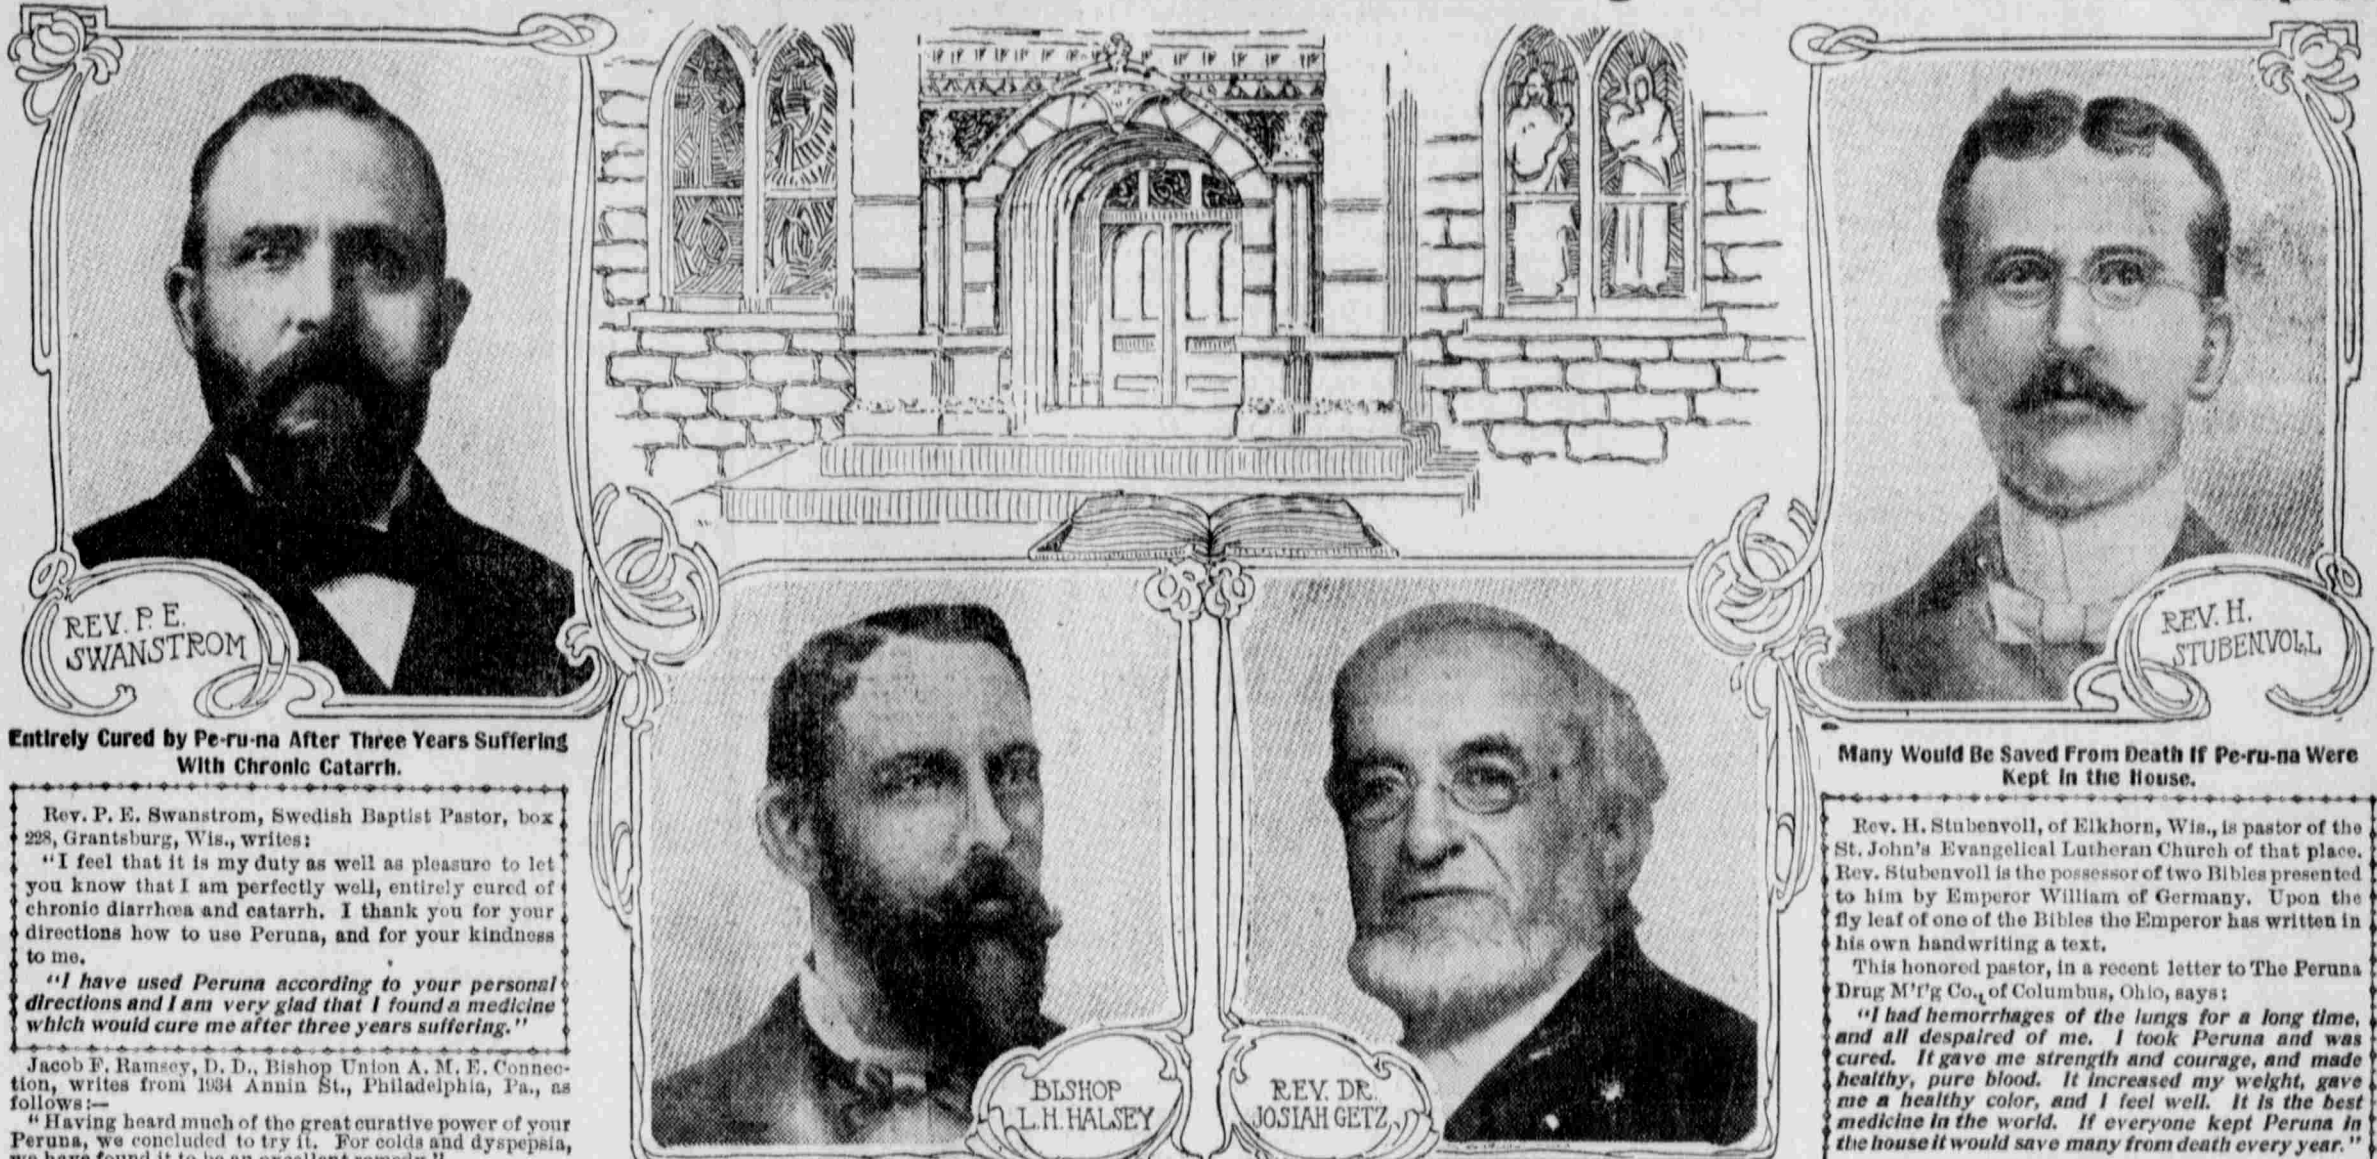

Members of the Commercial Club meeting of conference with Mr. Marsh at Goldfield, call attention to the fact that the establishment of the proposed freight route from the San Pedro road to the great Nevada mining camps means a great thing for western Utah farmers, as it will open an almost unlimited market for hay, grain and provisions raised in Utah. Hay is selling at $50 and $60 per ton at Goldfield, and other provisions and supplies bring corresponding prices. At each of the stations to be established by the new freight company between the railroad and the camps, there will be a steady demand for these things at remunerative prices, and if they are not hauled to the camps can be disposed of at the stations.

There is no telling when the Southern Pacific will have connections made with the camps. It is widening the narrow gauge, at the rate of 40 miles in four months, and there are 160 miles yet to go. The railroad company has refused to receive any more freight, and there is every advantage offered for entering the camp from a different route, and that route is from Salt Lake over the San Pedro road. The latter company was asked if it was in any way tied up to the Southern Pacific so that the latter could shut it off from carrying out the part proposed for it in relieving the freight congestion, and Manager Wells said there was not, and that the San Pedro was in for all the business it could get irrespective of what the Southern Pacific might want or not want.

The committee advised that Utah farmers and producers hurry right into the field for all the business they can get hold of. Several large Salt Lake houses have already men on the ground soliciting business, and expect to do a

THE CLERGY SPEAK OUT CONCERNING PE-RU-NA.

Ministers of All Denominations Join in Recommending Pe-ru-na to the People.

REV. P. E. SWANSTROM

Entirely Cured by Pe-ru-na After Three Years Suffering With Chronic Catarrh.

Rev. P. E. Swanstrom, Swedish Baptist Pastor, box 228, Grantsburg, Wis., writes: "I feel that it is my duty as well as pleasure to let you know that I am perfectly well, entirely cured of chronic diarrhoea and catarrh. I thank you for your directions how to use Peruna, and for your kindness to me."

"I have used Peruna according to your personal directions and I am very glad that I found a medicine which would cure me after three years suffering."

Jacob F. Ramsey, D. D., Bishop Union A. M. E. Connection, writes from 1834 Anna St., Philadelphia, Pa., as follows:—

"Having heard much of the great curative power of your Peruna, we concluded to try it. For colds and dyspepsia, we have found it to be an excellent remedy."

For many years the clergy have been praising Peruna. By the humblest pastor and the most exalted bishop, Peruna is held in high esteem. These professional gentlemen come in contact with the facts of society. They are acquainted with the homes and know the real life of the people.

They have seen Peruna in thousands of households. They know of its beneficial results. They hear it discussed by their parishioners and praised by all classes.

It is therefore no wonder that the clergymen almost unanimously believe in Peruna.

Remarkable Cures Effected. Many remarkable cures have been made among the clergy themselves by Peruna. The vocation of preaching is a constant strain to the voice.

Diseases of the larynx and the lungs are common among the preachers. Perruna is a specific for these cases, and the preachers have long since found it out. In all parts of the United States, the warmest praise that Peruna can boast is to be found among the clergy of all denominations and creeds.

Cold Settled on Lungs. H. M. Turner, D. D., L. L. D., 30 Young St., Atlanta, Ga., writes:—

"I contracted a dreadful cold which settled on my lungs. I tried several remedies recommended by the doctors, but my condition grew worse until I was alarmed."

"I finally resorted to Peruna, and after I had taken two bottles, I found that the whizzing and tightness from which I had suffered, had entirely disappeared, and I find myself well again."

"I take pleasure in recommending this wonderful medicine to the many other sufferers who are looking for a tonic that will do them good, and doubly pay them for its price."

Bishop Halsey's Strong Tribute to Pe-ru-na.

L. H. Halsey, Bishop, C. M. E. Church, Atlanta, Ga., writes:—

"I have found Peruna to be a great remedy for catarrh. I have suffered with this terrible disease for more than twenty years, until once I have been using Peruna, which has relieved me of the trouble."

"I have tried many remedies and spent a great deal of hard earned money for them, but I found nothing so effective in the cure of catarrh as the great medicine, Peruna."

"I feel sure that Peruna is not only a triumph of medical science, but it is a blessing to suffering humanity."

"Every individual who suffers with respiratory diseases will find Peruna to be a magnificent and sovereign remedy."

Convinced of the Merits of Pe-ru-na.

Rev. Dr. Josiah Getz, 47 Park Ave., Albany, N. Y., for years a Rabbi of the Hebrew Synagogue, but now retired, writes:—

"I am fully convinced of the merits of Peruna in cases of colds and catarrh, and as a general tonic."

"I have taken it off and on now for several years and always find that it is very effective in restoring lost strength and appetite, and very effective in ridding the system of cold. I gladly endorse it."

Rev. James Polindexter, of Columbus, Ohio, writes:—

"My attention was called some time ago to your medicine, and take pleasure in saying I have tried it and found it good. In my opinion, Peruna is justly entitled to the fame which it has throughout the United States."

Throat Affected by Catarrh.

Rev. H. W. Tate, 471 S. 11th Street, Columbus, Ohio, writes:—

"For several years I have been troubled with a peculiar spasmodic affection of the throat. It would seize me suddenly, and for a few minutes I would be unable to speak audibly, and my breath would be greatly interfered with. I would be obliged to gasp for breath."

"I finally concluded that it was some catarrhal affection which probably excited the spasm. It interfered with my vocation as a preacher, attacking me occasionally in the pulpit."

"I had heard so much about Peruna as a catarrh remedy that I determined to try it. After taking two bottles my trouble had disappeared. I feel sure that Peruna has greatly benefited me."

For catarrh of the respiratory organs, no remedy has ever been found to equal Peruna.

Pe-ru-na for Coughs and Colds.

E. Cottrell, D. D., Presiding Bishop of 5th Episcopal District, C. M. E. Church in America, writes from Holly Springs, Miss., as follows:—

"I have used Peruna in severe cases of neuralgia, colds and coughs, and find it to be one of the most valuable remedies on the market."

"I unhesitatingly recommend it to all sufferers from the above troubles."

Pe-ru-na Contains no Narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotics of any kind. Peruna is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. Peruna does not produce temporary results. It is permanent in its effect.
