Reformers. HE SUGGESTS GOOD RULES.

Tells How Sport Could Be Greatly Improved in Saving of Time and In Other Ways.

At the Yale alumni dinner in New York, attended by 480 graduates, Walter Camp. the noted authority on football, delivered a speech on football and the reform ovement, which should prove highly interesting to all interested in the great college game.

Mr. Camp's speech follows in full: I think you have heard football discussed as ably as any body of men could possibly discuss it. I don't think there is very much left for a man, who is said possibly discuss it. I don't think there is very much left for a man, who is said to be the practical man, to talk upon now. The game itself has rather reached the point that the rabbit reached the point that the rabbit reached the point that the rabbit reached the point that the fabbit reached the point the fabit had to climb the tree. Football is going to be made over, but whether it will take on new principles such as climb-ing trees, nobody can tell. The old rules committee has come in for considerable censure. I was a member of the old rules committee has come in for considerable censure. I was a member once lest their mother. One of the neigh-bors came in and began to sympachics with them, and said: "You must miss your mother very much." The elder of the two girls said: "Yes, she used to eat all the burnt cookies." That is the position of the old rules committee will also find there are some burnt cookies to eat yet. The vides committee always have a hard time. Nobody can make rules of any sort with-out being subjected to criticism, some burnt to colles the are sime burnt to stor fulles comes out, a number of criticism, some saying that the rules and that any set of half a dozen sensible gentiemen could make up a better code. Now if that is true of goilf. I am sure it must be true of a more intricate sport like football. OPENING THE PLAY.

OPENING THE PLAY.

The practical part of the rules, it seems to me, applies to not only the player and the person who goes to see a game two or three times a year, but to every one who is interested in the sport in any degree today. It is impossible to make rules that shall eliminate what is called mass play, unless a rules committee is made up of men who are so bold in the sport that they can set themselves against the allied wisdom and judgment of all the coaches in the country. The only way to open the game is to set a certain stand-ard of gain to be made in the distance, so that the conches must make that gain or let the ball be kicked. That will set the the question at once. It is impossi-ble to make ten yards in three downs without mass play, and as long as that distance is absolutely required, the coaches must find some new way out. They must make long runs, or else they must have their men kick the ball. It is possible that that move might require some amendment. It may require, either a change in the weakening of the defense, which i doubt, or it may require, in or-der to make scoring possible, a reversion to the oid rule that, when the ball reaches the 25-yard line a require-ment of 10 yards, may answer the pur-pose. AS TO ACCIDENTS. The practical part of the rules, it seems pose. AS TO ACCIDENTS.

As to the question of accidents-and that s one which has not been dweit upon As to the question of accidents-and that is one which has not been dweit upon very strongly but is to my mind quite im-portant-1 think that the elimination of nurding, and making the requirement that a man must tackle above the knees, will go far towards stopping some of the inturies. The same is always as has will go far towards stopping some of the injuries. The game is always, as has been said here tonight, a game of per-sonal contact; it must be rough, and some injuries will eventuate. It is impossible to expect anything else, and any set of rule makers who offer a code of rules, and state that those rules will eliminate all accidents, so that the nervous mother at home will feel perfectly confident that her boy will not get a sprained ankle, will find themselves snowed under in the first two weeks of the season.

George Gardner and Jim Flynn to Meet at Pueblo. Meet at Pueblo. Denver, Feb. 1.-George Gardner of Lowell, Mass., the well known former light-heavyweight champion, yesterday accepted terms to box twenty rounds with Jim Flynn before the Eagles at Pu-eblo on the evening of Thursday, Feb. 15. Gardner has been guaranteed £500, with an option on 60 per cent of the house. In addition to transportation west for pinu-self and his brother. Jimmy Gardner. This battle should prove a strong draw-ing card in view of the fact that the men have not met since their hard-fought ten-round draw at the Denver Athletic club Sept. 16, 1904.

ALMOST SUCCEEDED.

"Fighting Dick" Hyland Puts Away Two Out of Three in Denver.

crawls for it or not, nobody will touch him. That was demonstrated a number of years ago. You will remember there was criticism about coming down on a man who had punted the ball. He had a right, if he was not stopped, to run up and put his men on side or to get the ball himself. which was equivalent to a run of the distance of the kick. As a result, the opponents went down on top of him to stop his getting there. They did pre-vent that man going forward, and, as a matter of fact. I would not have a full-back on a Yale team who did not expect such treatment under those rules. We made a rule, however, to the effect that he could not put men on side. There was then, no ionger any object in stop-ping him, and for the last few years we have not seen that thing done at all: we have entirely eliminated that ele-ment. Two Out of Three in Denver. Denver, Feb. 1.—"Fighting Dick" Hy-land of San Francisco tonight in his at-tempt to defeat three 130-pound local boys before a local club, succeeded in knocking out two of his opponents—Jack Haley and Kid Sullivan—In the fitth and third rounds respectively of sched-uled five-round bouts, and failed to dis-pose of Kid Erienborn, 118-pound cham-pion of Colorado, in the same number of rounds. There was an agreement that if both boys were on their feet at the end of the contest, no decision was to be given. Hyland was the aggressor throughout this bout, but Erienborn gave a clever exhibition of blocking and box-ing and was fresh at the close of the con-test. PENALTY FOR TIME TAKEN OUT. Another rule that seems to be advisable is one which works in two ways. It would require that whenever time is taken out at the reqeust of a captain, the side would be penalized for the taking out of that time-say, for every hair minute, two yards. That will not only enable the teams to play a faster game, and a game consequently with less mass play and less ilability to injury, but it will also work in another way. A man is often kept in the game when he is exhausted. He is plucky and has been a good player, and he can make a run. Then he will lie down and time will be taken out. It is that man, the exhausted man, who has not control over his muscles. Who most sure-ly receives an injury. But, if it is cost-ing his captain two yards to keep the in-jured man in the game, he is going to put in a fresh man. He will thus take away one of the great chances of injury in the game.

WOULD QUIT FOR AWHILE.

Big 9" Representatives Agree to Abolish Former Style of Play.

ish Former Style of Play. Chicago, Feb. 1.-Reformed football as recommended by the faculty representa-tives of the "Big 9" colleges at a con-ference in Chicago a few weeks ago, will prevail in the future at both the Uni-versity of Chicago and Northwestern University. This was agreed upon to-day at separate meetings of the faculty of both institutions. In each instance the decision to abolish the former style of college football was unapimous and the professors of the University of Chi-cago even went so far as to express their preference for the abandonment of all etyles of football for a period of two years.

As a step toward this end resolutions were adopted stating that it was the desire of the University of Chicago to abolish the game entirely for such a length of time. A copy of the resolu-tions will be sent to the other universi-ties composing the "Bog 9" with the re-quest that an agreement be entered into eliminating the game of football for the next two years. At the meeting of the faculty of Northwestern university all the recom-mendations made by the conference were adopted, although nothing was said about abandoning the game.

NEW RULE FOR A DOWN. There are two or three other points, and have been asked to speak on the prac-tical side, so I am going directly at it. I think that a rule should be made that when any part of a man's person (the run-ner with the ball) except his feet, touches the ground, the ball should be declared oversities, plucky men, who, when they are down on the ground with the ball, with one or two men on top of them. If they have six inches to make that first or down, will fight for it, and they will crawl along the ground for it. The op-ponent who stands over the man finds it impossible for him to reach down and stop the man short of the six inches pained, and so drops on him. The man is fighting for his university; he wants to make that additional gain, and the other han any part of his person is on the ground, except his feet, the ball should be declared dead, is the climinate that have the distance, whether he American Fork, Utah Co., Feb. 2 .--The farmers of American Fork and vicinity are promised a feast of good things tomorrow. Arrangements have been made for a Farmers' institute at which Prof. Lewis A. Merrill, editor of the Deseret Farmer and Manager of the Utah Arid Farm company, will de-liver the principal address. Prof. Mer-rill was for 10 years connected with the State Agricultural college and besides his regular duties is now delivering a course of lectures each week to the students of the Brigham Young university at Provo. As he has had considerable experience as an institute lecturer the farmers here are expecting to derive great benefit from his talk. Mr. J. The arrangements for the institute have been made by Mr. James Sprat-ley, president of the Farmers' associa-tion here and who is an enthusiastic advocate of farmers' institutes.

Special Correspondence. Cowley, Big Horn Co., Wyo., Jan. 29.— Saturday, while coming from Frannie, loaded with pipe for the railroad, Fer-nando Clark of Lovell was run over and seriously hurt. Mr. Clark was walking and while reaching for his lines was caught by the wheel, and the hea-vy load passed over both legs. One an-kle was badly bruised and the other leg crushed between the ankle and knee. The unfortunate man was taken to his home in Lovell, and Dr. Carter of to his home in Lovell, and Dr. Carter of Basin was summoned, who set the broken limb and gave assurance the like amputation of the leg would not be necessary, as was at first feared.

A subscription was raised in Lovell and Cowley to be presented to Mr. Sunday a joint conference of the Mutual Improvement associations of this stake was held. Separate officers' meet-stake was held. Separate officers' meet-ings were held in the forenoon. After-noon and evening public meetings were held, all of which were well attended. Excellent programs were rendered. President Hinckley announced that Miss Eddington and Prof. Todd of the general board were detained at Bill-ings through trains not connecting, but that they would arrive tonight, so meetthat they would arrive tonight, so meet-ing was announced for 7 p. m. A large congregation greeted the visitors, who made interesting addresses. They will visit Lovell and Byron before return-

Work is nearing completion on the first 15 miles of the grade from Fran-nie. It is anticipated the contractors will begin laying steel at Frannie Feb.

The Yale Courant, in 1868, had an edi-torial upon baseball, in which it said that the craze for that sport was very seri-ous, that it was simply a tribute to a number of baseball clubs and sand-bags, and that it would not appeal to enlighten-ed men, that the grant increase in acci-dent insurance policies was due to no other cause, and that if the game did not presently cease, we would be without able-bodied men. Schihner's Monthly. In 1872, relegating baseball to the category and the charac-teristics of boat racing and horse racing, wound up with this statement: "Today the game of crequet is gradually gaining ground, and promises to be the true and only national game of America." It is the point of view, gentiemen, and when in those days they regarded base-lishnan in the time of McLaurin declared through the columns of the Times, that whole boat crews were being swept off by their terrible exertions at the oar, and when in on men, they were all work-the strain on men, they were were liable of that, and thinking that all men who were concerned in those sports were liable. YALE INJURIES.

YALE INJURIES. The injuries by accidents of the Yale team this year-and I take this oppor-tunity of stating this because there have been reported the injuries at other places -the total injuries to the team, which were taken in charge by the surgeon, were 24. Of these 17 were sprain, bruises of the finger, lame shoulder, muscle bruises-all of them disabiling the men less than a week. There were six sprain-ed knees, and all those men played later; there was one oontused side, and probably a fractured rib, but that man played in the Harvard game."
