Editor Desert News:

Mr. and Mrs. Tibbitts are both well known residents of this city, the bride being the daughter of Bishop H. B. Clawson and Sister Ellen O. Clawson, of the Twelfth Ward, at whose residence a reception for the family and immediate friends will be given to-night. The affair will, we are pleased to note, quiet and family-like, as such things should always be. We tender our heartfelt congratulations.

Lying Low. — We learn from "Homespun," a Provo correspondent, that President Jacob Gates has been lying almost at the point of death for thirty days. He was taken down Thanksgiving day with typhoid fever. The fever has spent its force, but symptoms of pneumonia seem to be developing; although not severe or alarming at present. He is still very weak and low, and no doubt all of his many friends in Utah will unite with his family in their strong faith for his restoration to health, and an additional lease of life for many years to come. He is one of the valiant veterans "friends to God," of the few who yet remain, and he feels a strong desire to live for many years and continue his labors among this people. Heaven grant it.

It was a constant thought with him that when he should be blessed to recover he would express his gratitude personally to all the people he knew. He is now gone. God did not permit him to live to fulfil his desire. And out of our woe we must offer the kindness toward his and our friends with which his heart was overflowing. We pray that the depth of sorrow in which we are now buried may never reach them; but should such affliction ever come, may they learn the utmost which sympathy can do to sustain the human heart.

On one occasion, he says his team crossed the track, and barely escaped the cow-catcher of the engine by a few inches. The same thing occurred with his son only last week. Last winter his wife, while driving a team across, neither seeing nor hearing the advancing train, descended the hill and ran the horses' heads right up against the freight cars, and but for the quick attention of some men standing near, who seized the plunging animals by the bits and forced them back, a serious accident might have taken place. The frightened lady went to the railroad office and complained, and was told that the matter would be seen to, but up to the present time no protective measure has been adopted.

Our correspondent says the people in that vicinity, who enjoyed the right of an unhindered road-way before the railway track was built, feel that they have been and are still being imposed upon, not only because accidents are all the time liable to occur, but because they are obliged to wait, sometimes for three quarters of an hour, for cars to get out of the cut before they can pursue their way. This on cold winter nights, when horses are sweaty, shivering and unruly, and the inmates of the wagons cold and liable to sickness from detention and exposure, is not the most pleasant thing in the world to endure. Our informant states that on one occasion his wife and daughter stood there for half a

FROM A CLERGYMAN SEVENTY-ONE YEARS OF AGE.

A clergyman in Cleveland, O., seventy-one years of age, who had preached regularly every Sunday for over fifteen years, says in a letter dated February 8th, 1882, a few weeks after commencing the use of Compound oxygen:

"My strength was equal to the work until about a year ago, when I began to fail, and had come to the conclusion that my work, if not my life, was nearly at an end. But now I am quite a new man; yea, the revitalizer has introduced new life into my almost dead organs. I can say that I am well, with the exception of a little soreness in my throat. Allow me to give thanks, first to God, and then to you, for this blessed hour to health."

Our "Treatise on compound Oxygen," containing a history of the discovery and mode of action of this remarkable curative agent, and a large record of surprising cures in consumption, Catarrh, Neuralgia, Bronchitis, Asthma, etc., and a wide range of chronic diseases, will be sent free. Address, Drs. Starkey and Palen, 1109 and 1111 Girard St., Phila.

All orders for the Compound Oxygen Home Treatment directed to H. E. Mathews, 806 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, will be filled on the same terms as if sent directly to us in Phila.

How a Lawyer Treated the Case.
I, David Strouse, of New Haven, Connecticut, was attacked with a severe rheumatism in my right arm, hand and foot, so that I walked with difficulty and could hardly use my hand to eat with. I used one bottle of St. Jacobs Oil, rubbing well three times a day, and obtained instant relief and a perfect cure.—David Strouse, Attorney-at-law.

Many who never complain are nevertheless seriously ill. Use Brown's Iron Bitters and there will be no cause of complaint.
