William Moore, awaiting trial on the charge of burglarizing Richmond's second hand store, and John Cain, awalting trial on the charge of housebreaking, made a successful escape from the county jail yesterday about 1 o'clock. The men had been locked in the new part of the county jail together with a man named Murphy held on the same charge as Moore. Their cell doors were supposed to have been locked, also the small corridor door in front of the cells, The prisoners were in their cells at noon when Deputy Sheriff Belnap gave them their dinner and nothing out of the ordinary was shown in their demeanor. At 1 o'clock Deputy Cave went into the jall to take out their dinner pans and went to the cells in the her pane dependence of the set of the set of the outside open, supposing all the prisoners were in their cells as usual, but Moore and Cain had usual, but Moore and Cain had prisoners were in their cells as usual, but Moore and Cain had gone out of their cells into the main corridor, which leads to the outside, and hid behind the cells close to the door, when Mr. Cave's al-tention was drawn by Murphy, who asked for a match, the convicts escaped. asked for a match, the convicts escaped. Mr. Cave went to their cells to get their pans when he saw their doors unlocked and the prisoners gone. He immediately rushed back to the outside door, but the men had escaped, jumping over the back fence. Deputy Cave followed for nearly two blocks, when he lost all trace of them. He immediately notified sheriff Ballay and his deputies elso the sheriff Balley and his deputies, also the police department. It was learned that the two men had boarded the east bound Twenty-second street car and had ridden to the top of the car line, then walked northward along the street east of the state school for the desi and blind down into the thick brigh along the banks of the order Ogden The officers went to the river and made thorough search of the underbrush but were unable to find them. One strange feature about the men's escape is that both of them had hats on. Moore wore a coat, Cain had on a jumper. When the prisoners are put in the jail their hats and coats are taken from them, and where the two escapes got their hats and coats from is a mystery. Murphy, who was in the cell with Moore, refused to escape. Moore is con-sidered a bad man. He is an ex-convict from the Ohio penitentiary with a bad record.
