CATARRH

NEVER-FAILING RELIEF

AFFORDED BY

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

IT is a fact that can be substantiated by the most respectable testimonials ever offered in favor of any proprietary medicine, that the RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH does in every case afford instant and permanent relief. No matter of how long standing, or how severe the disease, the first dose gives such evidence of its value in the treatment of Catarrhal affections that confidence is at once felt in its ability to do all that is claimed for it. The testimony of physicians, druggists, and patients is unanimous on this point, and the accumulating evidence is in point of respectability superior to any ever before obtained in favor of a popular remedy. The proprietors, therefore, may justly feel proud of the position this remedy has attained, and believe it worthy of its reputation.

10 YEARS A SUFFERER.

From Hon. Theo. P. Bogert, Bristol, R. I.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen.—Feeling thoroughly convinced of the efficacy of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH, I am induced to drop you a line to say that although I have been sceptical of all the nostrums advertised as "radical cures," I have never found anything like it, and such relief and ultimate cure as that of SANFORD'S.

I have been afflicted with this dreadful disease for more than ten years, and not until recently could I be induced to persevere with any until I read the letter of Mr. HENRY WELLS, and can truthfully say that after using one of six bottles I am thoroughly convinced of its curative properties. Hoping that others similarly afflicted like myself will be induced to make the trial, I am, gentlemen, very truly, etc., THEO. P. BOGERT, BRISTOL, R. I., July 31, 1877.

CATARRHAL AFFECTIONS,

Such as Sore, Weak, Inflamed, Red, and Watery Eyes; Ulceration and Inflammation of the Ear; Ringing Noises in the Head; Sore Throat; Elongation of the Uvula and Swelled Tonsils; Nervous Headache, Neuralgia, Dizziness, Impaired Memory, Loss of Nervous Force, Depression of Spirits,—are all carefully and scientifically treated with this remedy according to directions which accompany each bottle, or will be mailed to any address on receipt of stamp.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

EVENING NEWS.

Friday, . . February 14, 1879.

Correspondence.

OGDEN CITY, February 12, 1879.

Editors Deseret News:

Five days from home, your correspondent still finds himself an inmate of the "future capital of Utah." The present week has been one of unusual interest to the Junction city, an election and a murder transpiring on the same day; the former here, the latter at Plain City, both of which events your readers are already acquainted with. The election on Monday passed off very quietly, the returns hugging the registry list very close, and to the honor of the "Mormons" of this city be it said that notwithstanding the differences of opinion at the caucus and the efforts of their enemies to swell the discord of the hour, they listened to the voice of counsel, and, laying aside all private feelings, went to the polls and voted the People's Ticket en masse.

The young man Dudley who killed Henry Wadman, on Monday night, is an inmate of the city jail, pending a hearking, for which there is no immediate prospect. In company with the reporter of the Junction, I interviewed him yesterday. Judge of my horror on entering the cell wherein he was confined, to recognize his face as that of an old schoolmate at the Deseret University several years ago. In person tall and strongly built, of a dark and sallow complexion, though tolerably good looking, young Dudley impresses the observer as being, when sufficiently provoked, a dangerous man to impose upon. He uses few words, is very earnest in manner, and tells his story in a plain, straightforward way. That he is not naturally a quarrelsome nor a bad character, most everybody admits, and that he acted in self-defence, as he asserts, is believed by many. From what I can learn, young Wadman had done much to bring upon his head the terrible retribution that overtook him.

The lecture season is lively in the northern counties. Prof. Owens, phrenologist and mind-reader, has been contributing to its interest and astonishing the natives with his exhibition of mesmeric skill, clever delineations of character and able disquisitions on the infantile, and with some, questionable science of phrenology.

Your correspondent has not had the pleasure of witnessing him in public, but from an extended fireside conversation is free to admit that the Professor is a gentleman of affability and intelligence.

That he has ready wit, whether stereotyped or spontaneous the following will testify. While examining the head of a young boy, noted for his exceedingly mild and affable disposition, the lecturer remarked that the subject was with difficulty aroused, but if driven to extremities, was a dangerous character. He would, if hard pressed, never hesitate to cut and shoot. At this juncture the house exploding at what they deemed an egregious blunder of the Professor's, he dryly added, "he would cut around the corner and shoot for home."

Another, if in a battle and ordered to "strike for his country and his home," would undoubtedly strike for his home in the country.

Mind reading, which is a branch of his profession, Professor Owens claims is based upon the philosophy of impressions, the active mind swaying the passive and unconsciously imparting to its most secret reflections. For instance, the lecturer calling up a subject, tells him to think of any object in the room. He does so, and the scientist, by allowing his own mind to become passive to the other, is immediately impressed with the identity of, and enabled to declare the person's thought.

Those who take this without salt, may think themselves entitled to a niche in the temple of credulity, but the doubting Thomases who are disposed to season it have cause to rejoice that their lot has been cast in a region where that commodity is so plentiful. We reserve our own judgment for another time. EN ROUTE.

ENGLAND'S DIFFICULTY—CAN WE AVOID IT.

Since the praiseworthy efforts of the Deseret Tanning and Manufacturing Association to supply the home demand for good and durable boots and shoes, several eastern jobbers and manufacturers have been making strenuous exertions to impede the progress of this branch of home industry.

No doubt our friends East do not altogether admire the prospect there is for the large and growing demands of this community being supplied from Utah workshops; they have been used for years past to receive good orders from our merchants and co-operative institutions, and at the prospect of any falling off, their agents are possibly informed to look into this thing, and see if some stop cannot be put to these "Mormons" manufacturing their own leather and making up their own foot wear. They cannot afford to allow the trade of this Territory to slide gradually out of their hands without doing their best to prevent it.

The idea of these Mormons, from whom they have obtained such easy orders, endeavoring to cope with them in quality, style and price, is considered perhaps a little presumptuous and in order to place a few more obstacles in the way of home enterprise than there are already, agents from New York, Omaha and Chicago are canvassing Salt Lake City and the principal towns of the Territory, offering goods at lower figures, and on much easier terms than heretofore.

It is true that our eastern friends can boast of machinery and cheap labor, some firms controlling a large number of Penitentiary operatives for a mere nominal sum. In reply to the foregoing we can say that the machinery can be purchased and the prospect for cheap labor is pretty fair provided the Supreme Court decision take good effect here. But we cannot avail ourselves of convict labor at present from the fact that we do not have sufficient criminals in the Territory, and a full supply is by no means desirable.

Permit us here to mention, that our Salt Lake firm having placed in the market a style of gents' boot that exactly suited the wants of our community (who should know better how to suit them?) a certain eastern house manufactured an article as near like it as possible, and have offered it for sale as the Salt Lake Boot, and further developments are being awaited of a similar nature in copying our women's calf shoes.

These copies are offered at lower figures than the genuine, but upon examination the cause is apparent at once, to any judge of material and workmanship.

Employees should strive to do their level best while the employers are striving to maintain them in their positions, and engage still more labor, and the sensible of our community, who are not a few, will undoubtedly give their support to a business and enterprise that if it does not employ their own relations, it maintains their brethren and sisters who are engaged with them in the same common cause.

Thus we regard support of home enterprise as a safe and sure way to guard ourselves against the present suffering and distress experienced in Old England. PILGRIM.
