ANNUAL GATHERING.

Reunion of Polynesian Islands Missionaries at Calder's Park.

The general committee having in charge the annual reunion of the Elders who have labored on the Pacific Islands have made arrangements for the gathering this year at Calder's Park, and the date assigned is Thursday, July 7th.

The object of these reunions is to cultivate a fraternal feeling among all who have visited the Sandwich Islands, Samoa, Tahiti, Tonga or New Zealand, and to offer an opportunity for renewing acquaintanceships formed upon the Islands of the sea, also to present to visitors and friends some of the characteristic customs of the natives.

An interesting program is being prepared, and it is anticipated that the natives, Hawaiians, Maoris and Tahitians will take part in the exercises. Special announcements also will be arranged for.

All Elders who have ever labored in New Zealand, Australia, Tasmania, Tonga, Samoa, Hawaiian and Society Islands, Maoris and their families, are invited to attend, also all persons who have emigrated from these islands are urged to be present, to gather with relatives and friends of Elders now laboring in any of the respective missions. Committees of reception will be at the park at the various mission headquarters.

Further particulars can be obtained from the chairman of the committee, Hon. John T. Caine, or the secretary, J. H. Dean, Salt Lake City. Visitors from all parts of the State can avail themselves of excursion rates, which will be given during the first week in July.

To all missionaries and their friends the committee extend a cordial invitation.

WHITE OFFICIAL FAREWELLS.

Captains of Utah Volunteer Forces Send Letters to Governor Wells.

Camp Merritt, San Francisco Bay, Pictured. Men are Suffering from No Serious Sickness.

Governor Wells is in receipt of letters from Captains Young, Grant and Caine. The letters are full of interest and are as follows:

FROM CAPTAIN YOUNG.

On the Ocean, 6 a. m., Wednesday, June 15, 1898.

My Dear Governor:—At last word of battle. The command is now still to be the solemn assembled in the ocean. My own battery has the smallest boat, but the most comfortable as to the men are concerned. There is, however, a shortage in bunks and the question must soon be met by the boys. Two of these boys are elderly gentlemen—somewhat seriously. We have very much that is found it impossible to come down to see us. How could have secured a few weeks' rest and recreation in the mountains with our boys, which are not uncomfortable in the midst of all of us. I suppose the officers could have had better accommodations than the men, but through the press that we have made a favorable impression here in all circles.

Major Cannon informed me that another battery would be attached to the battalion, but I have not yet confirmed with certain that I have absolutely nothing to do with this General Greene and I have had no official communication, making anything our promotion. I suppose it will come, but I could not feel about it were it not for the fact that I think the boys have given a good account of themselves in the campaign as far as it has gone, and I would like to have them go through the press that we have made a favorable impression here in all circles.

Another thing: what is a captain worth, all right—the rank is not the question's stake; what is the pay? How does the pay for a first and a captain?

I am that the Astor battery is coming, and I am glad to hear from Wyoming. Good-bye. Yours very respectfully,

RICHARD W. YOUNG.

CAPTAIN GRANT'S LETTER.

On Board the Steamship Ohio, San Francisco, Cal., June 15, 1898.

At the o'clock this afternoon the steamer Ohio with two companies of the Eighteenth United States infantry, the First Colorado infantry, one-half of troops now stationed in and around the engineer regiment of San Francisco and several generals and men left the dock at the foot of Market street. Tonight with bands playing and all the troops including our own men, Ohio was let loose from the dock and dancing. While the grand ship lay peacefully anchored our thoughts drifted back to the dear ones we left behind at home. The men have already been thoroughly in earnest in their work, and if you could have seen them after we left the dock, I know that you would have been proud of them. In behalf of both officers and men, I wish to tender the heartfelt thanks of the command for your many generosity and the interest you have taken in us, while being mustered and since having the State. We assure you that both officers and men will be all the more zealous in duty and honor as the flag when they think of the Governor of our State.

The letter concludes by wishing the Governor God speed and again expressing appreciation of the receptions tendered and solicitude for the Utah volunteers.

WHAT CAPTAIN CAINE SAYS.

Headquarters First Troop Utah Vol. Cavalry, Camp Merritt, San Francisco, June 15, 1898.

My Dear Governor:

I promised to write you occasionally that you could keep track of the boys, getting on. I am happy to say that so far everything has been quiet which is much better than we had expected, and knocking out of trouble. They are becoming accustomed to the discipline, and are getting down to drilling and soldiering everyday with their homemade-ship. We are very pleasantly located, and have a fine camp ground and good water. The boys are in splendid health and the same being an independent and under the command, I am able to run it in my own way.

I have seen a copy of the Tribune of last Friday in which Camp Merritt is described, and I am sure you will be pleased to know that the boys are all right and thoroughly have full away. I will not pretend to defend the safety that I have given, but I do say that I am on the corner camp in command. The story is accurate in every detail. Only I will say that I have been more strict about keeping people out of camp, so sorry, in fact that the men have had their work to do and they could not do it if they were surrounded by the crowds of people who are ever ready to come in. I have been obliged to draw the lines without my men sacred, and am sorry to report given orders against allowing
