

Local and Other Matters

FROM FRIDAY'S DAILY, JAN. 16

Eye Blown Out.—Yesterday morning an engine-boiler exploded at Lake Station, on the C. P. R. R., and blew two sheets of the boiler "sky high." Some of the flying glass, from the cab, struck Mr. Sim Tooker, the engine driver, in the eyes, totally destroying one of the eyes, and seriously injuring the other. So we learn from the Junction.

Chopped off his Thumb.—A little son of Mr. Eugene Fullmer, of the 6th Ward, an urchin of 7 or 8 years, met with a painful mishap, yesterday morning. His older brother had been chopping kindlings for the fire, and the little one, as is common to children, was inspired with the idea of going and doing likewise. He secured a drawing knife, unobserved of anyone, and before he could be prevented, started to split a piece of wood. Unfortunately the sharp knife came down upon his left thumb, and completely severed a portion of it from the hand. Dr. M. L. Davis was at once called in, and after administering chloroform to the little boy, removed a portion of the remaining bone and sewed up the wound.

This morning the little fellow is around playing as usual.

A Serious Case.—A distressing accident took place in the vicinity of the Theatre, last evening, about five o'clock. A gentleman named Grant, of Sandy, was riding horseback along the street, when he encountered a boy with a buggy, drawn by two horses, coming from the direction he was pursuing. The young man who drove the vehicle, seeing that he was about to run against Mr. Grant, reined in his horses, and the horseman, who had unfortunately turned to the same side of the street, received a terrible blow from the tongue of the buggy, which ran up his right leg, and inflicted a dangerous laceration of the perineum and scrotum. The injured man was immediately attended to under the skillful hands of Dr. J. M. Benedict, and was then taken to the Sisters' Hospital, where he now remains. He may recover, though the wound is of a very serious character.

The Faubel Canard.—The rumor that was current yesterday, of a certain woman's having confessed complicity in the murder of Valentine Faubel, last August, we are informed was based upon the following: A woman of ill repute named Em. Sadler remarked to her paramour, one Reeder, in a jest, that she knew who murdered Faubel and continued the pleasantry (?) by attributing the commission of the deed to Mr. John D. Varcoe, of Alta. Upon this slender clue, the fellow Reeder communicated with one Glasner, a would-be-but-cannot Deputy U. S. Marshal, (who has endeavored on several occasions to assume the office and authority of a genuine official) who, of his own accord, arrested the woman Sadler, had Varcoe taken into custody, and brought from Alta and examined before Commissioner Pearson, this morning at 11 o'clock. It was there proven that the whole thing was a hoax, Varcoe proving an alibi, (as he was in Alta on the 17th of August, when Faubel met his death) and the woman Sadler telling the real origin of the sensational story.

"Leader" Lines.—The following items are from the Logan Leader of the 16th inst.:

The lady who was nearly frozen to death recently in an attempt to walk to Newton, has suffered very seriously from the effects. Yesterday she was to have been brought to Logan for treatment by Dr. Ormsby; but was unable to leave her bed; and to day it is the intention of the doctor to visit her and give such surgical aid as may be necessary. In all probability six of her toes must be amputated, and possibly that will not be all.

On Sunday afternoon last, at Paradise, the wife of Thomas O'Ray received a stroke of paralysis. The lady, who is quite aged and somewhat of an invalid, was in meeting at the time, sitting near the stove.

Dr. Groesbeck, of Logan, on examination, found that the entire right half of her body was completely paralyzed. Everything possible was done, but she remained in a state of coma until Monday afternoon. Then she partially recovered consciousness; and, though not able to move her limbs to any great extent or articulate distinctly, had the power of signifying her wishes. She has gradually improved since that time; and a hope is entertained that time and careful treatment will restore her to her usual health.

FROM SATURDAY'S DAILY, JAN. 17.

Amputation—Going West.—Mr. Toponce, of Corinne, who was badly frozen some time ago, has had four of his fingers amputated.

Mr. Sim Tooker, the engine driver, whose eyes were so seriously injured by the boiler explosion on the C. P. R. R., the other day, has gone to Sacramento for medical treatment.

Deseret Museum.—The curator respectfully acknowledges the receipt of a specimen of fibrous black oxide of iron, from the iron mines of Iron County. Also a piece of "Stickensides," both specimens presented by Thomas Taylor, Esq., of this city. Samples of home-made sugar, manufactured by Madson & Co., Gunnison, have been presented by Hon. C. W. Penrose.

City Council.—The City Council held a special session, last evening, to consider the report of the Canal Committee. Two bills were presented and adopted by the Council; one relating to the purchase of a right of way for the canal, the other to the raising of funds for its construction, both of which are to be laid before the Legislative Assembly, next week.

Appointments.—The Millennia Star of December 29 contains the following:

Charles W. Hulse is appointed a traveling Elder in the Welsh Conference, under Elder John G. Jones.

Wm. W. Jackson is appointed a traveling Elder in the Birmingham Conference, under Elder E. M. Curtis.

James Birmingham is appointed a traveling Elder in the London Conference, under Elder George H. Taylor.

Shooting in Ogden.—Last night, about 12 o'clock, a shooting affray took place in Ogden, in which the two combatants, Sam. McMillan and Ed. Morton, were both badly wounded, the former, it is thought, fatally. The Rustler, of Ogden, contains a full account of the affair. McMillan was in a house of ill-fame, at the time when Morton came to the door and the fight occurred right at the door of the house. McMillan received three balls, and at last accounts, was dying; Morton was also shot in two or three places, but not dangerously, and is under arrest.

"Woman's Exponent."—The second January number of the Woman's Exponent is from the press. Its prosal contents are: "Intelligent Conversation," Aunt Em; "Woman's Organizations," E. B. W.; "A Voice from the Tyne," Georgine A. Bird; Correspondence, L. L. D.; "About the Ladies' Petition," editorial; "Home Affairs," "The Legislature," proceedings Monday and Tuesday; Obituaries; R. S. Reports; Utah Silk Association; "An Address, published by request of the Woman's Suffrage Association; "Pipsey Papers," etc.

The poetical department contains "Winter Winds," by Lu Dalton, and "Something to Live For," by Emile.

Silk Meeting.—At a meeting of the directors of the Utah Silk Association, held this p.m., at President Taylor's office, Wm. Jennings, Esq., was elected president; Miss Eliza R. Snow, vice-president; A. M. Musser, secretary, and Paul A. Schettler, treasurer, of the association. Many points of interest pertaining to the development of sericulture were freely discussed and a number of additional shares of stock subscribed. It was the unanimous sense of the meeting that the ladies and officers of the preliminary organization, now dissolved by the organization just completed, under the Territorial Charter, and the several branch societies throughout the Territory, deserve much praise for their indefatigable labors in promoting this important industry, and in placing it upon a solid and, prospectively, a remunerative basis. It is intended to push this enterprise with zeal and energy, and it is hoped that the citizens, everywhere, will give it the encouragement it merits.

FROM MONDAY'S DAILY, Jan. 19.

A New Governor.—By reference to our dispatches, it will be found that Eli H. Murray, of Kentucky, has received the nomination for Governor of Utah. The customary "Who is he?" is now in order.

Death from Paroxysm.—Brother Joseph Olphin, of Pleasant Grove, died on Saturday last from paroxysm. Just a few days ago he attended the funeral of his father, and on returning home was attacked himself by the destroyer. Brother Olphin was a good man, and highly respected. He leaves a family. The funeral was held today.

McMillan Dead.—Sam McMillan, who was so seriously wounded in the shooting affray in Ogden, Friday night, died from his injuries Saturday morning, at 4 o'clock. Morton, his opponent, is dangerously wounded, but may recover. He claims to have killed McMillan in self-defense. The woman, over whom the affair occurred, is said to have once been McMillan's wife, but was divorced two or three years ago. Morton was in her house when his assailant came to the door and (as the former says) began firing upon him. McMillan's body was interred in Stranger's Cemetery, Ogden, yesterday afternoon. So we learn from the Junction.

Shot in a Ball Room.—The following special was received this morning:

SILVER CITY,
January 18, 1880.

Editors Deseret News:

Quite a serious affair occurred at a dance in Silver City, last night. Two men from Provo, named E. M. Peck, Jr., and V. L. Thomas, had some trouble in a saloon near by. Peck cut Thomas across the head and breast with a knife, and ran out of doors. Thomas, followed with a self-cocking revolver in his hand. A short time after, the pistol was discharged, and Thomas thinks that, in his excitement, he must have pulled the trigger without realizing the fact. The ball passed through the side of the building, where the dance was going on, and shot a Miss Lydia Green. She was sitting on a bench, with her arm resting on her lap. The bullet passed through the fleshy part of the hip and entered her arm; it is supposed to be in the elbow joint. A doctor has been sent for to extract it. Thomas gave himself up, and regrets the affair very much. It seems that Peck was carrying on with a high hand in the saloon, where a small boy was temporarily left in charge, and when Thomas expostulated because of the mean advantage he was taking, he slashed at him three or four times with the knife, and then ran.

Osborne Reapers and Mowers.—Among our callers, this morning, were Messrs. M. Ayers, W. H. Straub and G. W. Allen. The first is the General Manager, for the Pacific Coast, of the extensive business of the Osborne labor-saving harvesting machinery, so popular in the West; Mr. Allen is treasurer of the concern, and Mr. Straub, the manager of the Company's branch office, that is now being established in this city. The Clift building, just north of Wells, Fargo's Office, is being renovated and refitted for this purpose. Heretofore, the Company have merely had a sub-agency here, but the large and increasing business now demands something more. The new move will be specially advantageous to farmers and country dealers, as commissions paid to local agents will be done away with, the prices of machines correspondingly reduced, and purchasers can hereafter obtain the implements on as good terms as they could if they were within a mile of the factory, at Auburn, New York.

The new premises of the Company, on Main Street are central, commodious and convenient. The front part will be devoted to the display of reapers, mowers, etc., which will be run by a water motor inside the building; next to these are to be the officers, in three nice compartments, and the rear of the building is to be occupied by the retail and extra department, under the superintendency of Mr. A. J. Johnson, the former agent for this city. Fixtures and extras will be kept constantly on hand, and so arranged and numbered that any part of the machines may be obtained, at a moment's notice, by those who come to procure them. See Company's letter.

Railroad Accident.—About five o'clock Saturday evening, as the freight train on the Utah Southern was entering the city, a cow was discovered on the track, a short distance ahead, and the engineer began blowing his whistle lustily, to frighten her out of the way. Instead of leaving the track, however, she only quickened her pace and kept right on ahead. The train was going at full speed in order to ascend the grade which rises considerably near the depot, and besides was to close to the ill-starred bovine to prevent the collision. The engine overtook her, but instead of throwing her from the track, caught her hind feet in the cow-catcher, and pushed her along until the body fell to the ground and passed under the train, which latter circumstance caused the tender, a flat-car and a box-car to be thrown off the rails. In this plight the train was dragged along for a distance of about two blocks before it was brought to a stand-still, just on the brink of a canal. The flat car had lost two wheels, the box car was badly smashed, and the fencing on the east side of the track was somewhat damaged, where the upset cars had knocked against it. The cow was scattered from Dan to Beersheba, not two bones of her entire anatomy being found together. She was the property of Mr. Wm. McLachlan, and unluckily had broken out of the pasture just before the train came along. Considering all, it was very fortunate that more harm was not done, for if the train had proceeded two or three rods farther, a portion of it might have been plunged into the canal.

Superintendent Sharp and others were at the scene of the accident, yesterday morning, loading up the debris of the broken cars for removal, and otherwise putting the track in order.
