An almost fairy-like picture greete the eyes of the guests who attended the dancing party at the Country club last night, given by Mr. Newhouse in honor of Miss Alice Goodwin. The grounds were ablaze with electric lights and lanterns, strings of them lining the walks, and studing the arched en-trance, while rugs, settees and loung-ing chairs made cosy nocks through-out the lawns. The veranda was dec-orated in the national colors, and here orated in the national colors, and here punch was served. An orchestra was stationed under a large umbrella tree, furnishing music for the dancing, the floor being laid on the east side. The receiving party included, besides the host and guest of honor, Mrs. Henry L. Irving, Mrs. W. H. Cunningham, Mrs. A. E. Walker, Miss Elizabeth McIn-tyre, Miss Hellen Gillespie, Miss Alieen Maclato, Miss Jasmine Young, About Maclain, Miss Jasmine Young, Abou 49 guests were present.

Mrs. F. A. Vincent and Mrs. W. S Loomis entertained at a Kensington yesterday in honor of Mrs. William Coates of London, and Mrs. Robert Monroe of Philadelphia. The rooms were done entirely in yellow, the effect being charming throughout. About 35 guests were present to meet the visit-ing ladies.

Mrs. David Kelth was hostess at a most delightful tea thisafternoon, the affair being one of the most elaborate ones of the entire season. The rooms were beautifully decorated throughout, and beautifully decorated throughout, and an orchestra rendered delightful music. LAST NIGHT'S STORM.

Light & Railway Company Was Again Hit, but Not as Hard as Last Week.

The tall end of an electrical storm struck the city from the northwest shortly after 8 o'clock last evening, and short circuited the high tension lines of the Utah Light & Railway company between this city and Ogden. As the management noted the coming storm, management noted the coming storm, the steam plant was ordered into opera-tion so the hlatus was for less than half an hour. The absence of street lights did not amount to much as it was still daylight, but the stopping of street car traffic proved a bonanza for the hackmen who had their hands full carrying home people who did not care to wait for the street cars. to wait for the street cars. The children of St. Ann's Orphanage

The children of St. Ann's Orphanage and the junior choir of the Catholic church, 175 strong, went to Saltair yes-teriay, in charge of seven of the Sis-tras and Miss Gleason, organist of the church. The excursion was with the compliments of the Utah Light & Rail-way company and the Saltair Beach company, and as this included the merry-go-round and pop corn, the chil-dren were assured of a fine time. Bish-op Scanlan was to have joined the party later in the day, but engagements prevented him. The entire resort was thrown open to the children, and lunch was served at 5 p. m. in order that the children might catch the 6 o'clock train. The day was very pleasantly spent, and all enjoyed themselves. There were no accidents or any un-pleasant features to mar the occasion.

They will guarantee you 6 per cent on the dimes and dollars you have accumulated, and there is no possible risk of loss in the transaction. They risk of loss in the transaction. They place your money in no securities upon which they would not venture their own capital. Adversity may come at a time when it is least expected, but if, through habits of economy and thrift and by careful investment, you have accumlated a small fortune, you have nothing to fear. Wealthy people generally did not become so by specula-tion or accident. They merely did what you are in a position to do—saved a portion of their income and invested it portion of their income and invested i wisely. Outside of the high rate o interest guaranteed, the best induce ment to place your money with this firm is the fact that you are taking no chance of losing your hard earned doihars.
