THE COLORADO INVESTMENT-LOAN CO.

An unusual stir in financial circles has been created in this city on account of the operations in this State of the Colorado Investment-Loan company Denver, Colo., whose plan of building and loan is so simple and practical as to commend itself at once to investors and borrowers alike, ane Colorado investment-Loan Com pany is an institution of unlimited financial strength and in its plan not only combines all of the good features of the ordinary building and loan so-cieties, but in the essential and vital characteristics stands without a peer in

The plan under which this company operates, each stock certificate holder is insured in an Old Line Life Insurance Company for the full amount stock he carries, so that in the event of death, even though only one monthly payment has been made the home thus secured through the company is immedistely paid for and becomes free of al incumbrance the property of the wife or beneficiary, which makes the plan without doubt the most effective and practicable opportunity ever offered to home-buyer.
To the investor the same inducement holds good, for the same reason, that

In case of death the life insurance at once matures the stock, and the full face value of the stock is paid at once to the beneficiary of the shareholder, There are numerous ways in which the stockholder in this company profits by the life insurance features, among which may be mentioned the division of profits arising where deaths occur. For illustration: Should death take place when the stock of an individual is partially matured, the life insurance fund matures the stock at once for its full face value, and the amount of the monthly payments made to the com-pany by the shareholder remains in the treasury of the company and is divided upon the mutual basis to the living shareholders, thus maturing their stock
