

EVENING NEWS.

UNPUBLISHED DAILY, MUNDAYS EXCEPTED
AT FIVE O'CLOCK.

DAVID G. GOLDEN,
EDITOR AND PUBLISHER.

Monday, August 16, 1875.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Louis Commander Armstrong,
of the U. S. N. S. is dead.

Three men killed at Mt. Pleasant, Pa.

The latest report from the Rio Grande is "All quiet, and no indication of cattle rustling."

Gen. W. A. and A. P. Tracy
Companys have raised their rates between Boston and Washington, and New York and Al-

An order has been issued from the headquarters of the Department of the Missouri, directing the military officers detailed to inspect supplies for Indians, to take into account the quality and quantity of such supplies are not changed before reaching the agency.

Luise is henceforth the queen of the trotting turf, she having beaten Goldsmith Maid in three consecutive heats at Rochester, N. Y., on Saturday.

The miners of Custer City, in the Black Hills, are leaving their claims more or less according to the said that they rendered obedience to the orders of the President under protest.

The total receipts of the government for the past fiscal year are about fourteen million dollars in excess of the total expenditures.

Five thousand persons assembled at Twin Mountain House yesterday, to hear Mr. Beecher preach.

The body of Miss Philpot, who was recently drowned at Niagara Falls, has been recovered.

Three men were drowned at Passaic Falls, yesterday morning.

Three thousand persons, including President Grant, were present at the Sunday School Convention at Forest Park, N. Y., on Sunday.

Fifty-five thousand dollars damage by fire at Philadelphia.

Spain will send a royal commissioner to the Philadelphia Centrally hot weather has pre- vailed in China and Japan; a good deal of suffering has been endured in the former country in consequence thereof.

The hop crop is damaged in Europe, on the continent by un- favorable weather, in England by blight.

The new Spanish conscripts are ordered to join their regiments by the end of October.

The insurgents of Herzegovina are said to have burned several villages and massacred a number of Mahomedan families, in conse- quence of which all the Turkish troops garrisoned in Roumania and Bulgaria have been ordered against them.

The body of the late Mr. Munford, vice president of the W. U. Telegraph Company, was taken to-day to his former home at Ros- ester, N. Y.

The Herman Monument Celebration commenced at Det- void, Germany, this morning. The Emperor William and other mem- bers of the royal family are there, and the visitors are so numerous that about fifty thousand are said to be unable to obtain sleeping accomodation of any kind.

The Fate Napoleon was cele- brated yesterday with great enthusiasm. The eastern governments have notified Turkey that more energetic measures must be taken to quell the insurrection in Herzego- vina.

Arrangements have been about completed for printing the new national bank currency.

Wm. Morris, a yard master of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, was killed this morning.

General Quesada has captured the Carlist position at Luncu.

The Presidents of Oberlin College died to-day.

The Washington Chronicle, in an article accuses the officers of the marine corps of swindling the marines dispersed and driven back to their old ways and habits of living.

The steamer Hugh Martin exploded her boiler, in the Tennessee river, on Saturday, five or six persons were killed and a number of others injured.

Prince Charles Theodore, uncle of the King of Bavaria, was killed to-day.

The U. S. steamer Rio Bravo was wrecked on the night of the 13th inst.

General Sheridan left Chicago this morning on a visit to the Pacific coast.

THE CORINNE PARADE.

The Sacramento Record Union, ready as it has proved itself to be, to lieve things derogatory to the "Mormons," can hardly believe the sensational dispatches concerning the Corinne farce and thinks "there is something very pecu- liar about the reports." But our hasty and judgmental Sacramento contemporary does not fail to improve the occasion by talking in a very savage and threatening style towards the "Mormons," of which the following are a few speci- mens—

"So much is certain that if the Gentiles of Utah are in danger and help is wanted, a call for volunteers in California will be responded to by twenty thousand armed men in six weeks, for hours, and if these volunteers should go to Utah and find hostilities in operation, we should be compelled to have a place for the consequences of that indignation. The Mormons, in fact, are playing with matches at the open door of a powder magazine. Their leaders may not realize the truth, but it is a fact that they are making an abortive effort to procure justice upon the bloody butchers of the Mountain Meadows has been to raise the public anger to white heat, and if the Indians are not kept from overt acts of violence there is a real danger that the people may take the vindication of the law into their own hands, and make an end of the Mormons, and that more than the Mormon fashion than civilization would approve of."

"There are no offices on this side for them to guard, no passes favor- able to ambuscade, and there are men and rifles enough on the slope of the Sierra, without counting Nevada, to settle polygamy and the Church of Late-day Saints to a very fair order."

"Corinne is attacked by the Indians, and I am young see to it that Salt Lake does not smoke for the cutting."

"Our volunteers might be rough, and when their passions are up, they would not perhaps be alto- gether capable of restraint."

"Meanwhile, it is not a disgrace to be a Mormon, and monstrous as it may be, this should outrage American civilization."

"It is time that this farce should be terminated. It is time that the Mormons were made to understand that they cannot be permitted to exist either openly or covert hostility to the Union."

"The temporizing policy has been pursued with too long, they have shown themselves incapable to reason, and decent of demo- cratic institutions, let us know once for all, whether they propose to hoist the pirate's flag, and then it will be in order to make out to them the pirate's fate."

The frantic fellow who wrote the above must be a Stockton escapee.

GOOD IN EVERYTHING.

NATURE makes nothing in vain. There is good in everything. Even poor, failing, frightened Corinne is not without its uses.

Its last hairbreadth's escape has been the means of vastly enriching the well of English undefiled, so far as multiplied pithy meaning to word combination is concerned, in the way of vivid simile and graphic illustration. The republic of con- versation and the republic of letters will owe a world of gratitude to the burgh on the Bear for furnishing a number of wise saws and moleras instances, such as, of the first named class, "As scared as Corinne," "Ran like a Corinne picket guard," and of the second named class, "The Corinne Scare," "The Corinne Fright," "The Farce of the Burgh on the Bear." The multitudinous variations of these same fertile subjects in each of these classes will readily suggest themselves to the ready talker and the gifted writer.

Captain Kennington inquired the cause of the excitement about the Indians preparing to attack Corinne. Mr. Hill replied that the statement was entirely false.

The following questions were then asked, Mr. Hill answering:

"Do you characterize the report about the Indians attacking Corinne a lie?"

"Do you believe that none of these Indians left your camp last night, with the views of attacking Corinne?"

"Not one."

"Do you know that none left the Indians to cultivate the earth instead of relying wholly on the chase, and to gradually adopt the industrial habits of civilized peo- ple?"

This is a good policy, and noble endeavor. It was the very policy which was being pursued, and with a surprising measure of success, with the Indians near the Malad and Bear Rivers, a few miles from scare-crowned Corinne. But, in consequence of a most nonsensical hullabaloo from that poor, self- cowed village, raised for the specious purpose of endeavoring to create difficulties and bloodshed between the "Mormons" and the Federal Government, these peaceful, industrious, moral, and religious Indians must be suddenly driven away from their farms lands by U. S. soldiers, forced back to their nomadic, vagabond life, with the loss of the ripening crops they had toiled so faithfully and hope- fully to raise. These Indians had not been sought after and brought together by the "Mormons," but had come to them voluntarily, of their own unfettered option, asking of them the administration of the ordinances of Christ's church, and instruction in the industrial arts of civilization. These Indians had been thus turned from their mild and vagrant ways to the Lord and to the habits of civilized people by means of dreams and visions.

Major Johnson asked whether the Indians made any distinction between the "Mormons" and other Indians, or between the "Mormons" and other Indians?

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then informed the gentlemen present that the Indians in camp were all friendly and well disposed toward the whites, that they worked for their living, and had cultivated about 185 acres of land; that they wished to become citizens of the United States, and paid their taxes, and that they were willing to submit themselves to the law and claimed its protection.

Major Johnson asked whether the Indians made any distinction between the "Mormons" and other Indians, or between the "Mormons" and other Indians?

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.

Mr. Hill then asked Capt. Kennington if he had seen any armed Indians, or any with war paint on, any whose nose looked vicious, or any other sign in camp? He replied in the negative.