

JUDGE HOWELL ON GOOD CITIZENSHIP

Duty to Vote—Political Apathy
A Menace to Free Institutions.
SHAME TO RIDE TO THE POLLS

Only by Full and Free Ballot Can This
Be a Government of All
The People.

Ogden, Nov. 4.—At the Third ward meetinghouse last evening Judge J. A. Howell delivered a strong address on good citizenship before the Y. M. and Y. L. M. I. A. Joint session. He briefly outlined the founding of the great government of the United States, with its free institutions, and pointing to the duties of its citizens, directed special attention to the elective franchise. On this subject he said:

"If the high ideals and the lofty aims of this government are to endure, then it is absolutely essential that not simply a few of the many, but that all the free citizenship of this great united land should band together for the preservation and enlargement of those ideals, and that is the reason why those of our people who have paid attention to the questions are seeking as best they may to arouse the people to a recognition of their duties."

"It is not necessary for me, in order to convince you that the people of today are not fulfilling their duties of citizenship to our country as they should, to remind you that we have but lately learned that there are or have been whole cities in our country under the domination of a single man, as for instance Cincinnati under Cox; that there are or have been entire counties or boroughs whose soul or core is dominated by a corrupt machine, as for example New York by Tammany; that there are or have been entire states under the control of a single corporation, like Pennsylvania under the Pennsylvania railroad, but keeping ourselves strictly at home let me remind you that at the last so-called general election, when we elected a Congress, men and all our county officers, judges, the carriages ran from north until night, yet nearly one-half the voters could not be counted or counted into performing the simplest of their duties of citizenship, the more exercise of their suffrage."

"It must be remembered that the casting of the ballot is not the only function of a citizen, any more than the function of a church member, but the good citizen must day by day seek to make his influence felt for the uplifting of the government, just as the good churchman must, as he goes about his daily work, carry into practice the teachings of his church in the uplifting of all humanity. But the churchman who does not devote even one day in the week to the practice of his religion is worse than he who is not willing even to set apart one, as the citizen who does not even vote is worse than he who does at least that. Yet you know and I know that the coming election, which is fraught with so much weight or more to our citizens here, the greatest effort will be made by all political parties to induce our citizens to vote, they will be driven in carriages and automobiles, and yet a large proportion will not go at all. Oh, why will our citizens not awake to their opportunities and their obligations! To secure the right of a free and untrammelled ballot men have in the past given their very lives, but for that sacrifice of our forefathers for their posterity we would not have it, yet we value it so lightly that men and women must be driven to the polls, and some cannot be driven. It would be highly improper for me to abuse my privilege in being here tonight in an attempt to influence you to cast your vote on Tuesday next for any party, or men who are candidates for public office, but I can vote the sentiment of all the better thinking men, what ever be their political affiliations, when I say: Shame upon every man and every woman, who if he or she be not aged or infirm, chafeens the inalienable rights of citizenship on Tuesday next by riding to the polls."

Assuming, then, that the people do not rightly perform their duties of citizenship, what are the causes?"

There have been said that politics are dirty and that therefore good men and women do not want to become contaminated by them, but you may be sure that just as long as the great body of good men and women of this country neglect to perform their duties of citizenship, just so long as they leave them in the care of men who have more bad social interest in them, just so long will they remain dirty, and that only those who have clean hands themselves can ever hope to cleanse them. But though some may be influenced by an alleged fear of contaminating themselves, yet I believe the great reason for the apathy in political affairs upon the part of the great body of people is its indifference. A great many of our citizens feel that the government will get along, although they take no part in it, and that their taking part in it would serve no actual purpose. They are as complacent as some members of a church, who believe that so long as they help to maintain it they are performing all the duties of a Christian, therefore it is essential that an attempt be made to arouse these people to take a more interest in public affairs, because it is their failure to do so that prevents our government from becoming what it was intended by its founders—a government of all the people, whose voice shall be paramount and whose will should be the law. I do not wish you to think me pessimistic, nor am I, but we must not blink at our delinquencies, rather with courageous fortitude must we remove them, or our free democracy will degenerate into a miserable despotism, or oligarchy, of those who are in a material fashion benefited by a misuse of its functions, or it will be dissipated altogether, because of the antagonism aroused by such misuse, and anarchy will reign in its stead."

THREE TICKETS.

The citizens of Ogden have three tickets to select civic officers from at tomorrow's city election, nominated by the Republicans, Democrats and Socialists.

FUNERAL OF MRS. UNDERWOOD.

The Fourth ward meetinghouse was well filled with relatives and friends of Mrs. Sarah A. Underwood, who assembled to show a tribute of respect to her memory. That she was highly esteemed in Ogden where she has lived since 1881 was evidenced by the wealth of beautiful floral tributes that covered her bier. Bishop E. T. Woolley presided at the service, and beautiful and appropriate selections were sung by the word choir. Mrs. Mary Farley sang "After the Toll is Over," and Orson Griffin sang "The Christian's Good Night." The beautiful life of the deceased and her many noble characteristics were eulogized and the family comforted by the hope of a glorious resurrection by President C. P. Middleton. Elders C. H. Greenwood, J. M. D. Taylor, Angus T. Wright and Bishop Woolley, interment was made in the Ogden City cemetery.

DEMOCRATIC FREE DANCE.

Republican Rally—Epidemic of Menstrues—Funeral.

Special Correspondence.
Provo, Utah Co., Nov. 4.—The Democrats have issued a general invitation to all over 18 years old to attend the free dance that will be given at the Mozart hall tonight, thus closing the campaign.

The Republican rally at the Opera House Saturday night was enthusiastic. The Chairman, Cliff, made the announcement that giving to some inevitable occurrence Senator Sutherland could not be present. Introduced J. H. Frisby, D. H. Thomas and William E. Redman, as the speakers of the evening. The Brigham Young University band furnished the music, while Prof. A. C. Lund, and David House sang solos, and Messrs. Lund, Reese, King and Nelson as a quartet, furnished some good vocal music.

Provo City has an epidemic of menstrues. The health officers feel that they have it now under control.

A free lecture under the auspices of the Christian Science by Florence White, will be held at the Opera House Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock.

Prof. J. L. Brown of the Brigham Young University, lectured before the state and all officers of the Primary associations at the tabernacle Saturday afternoon, the subject being "How to Train the Minds of Children." The officers of the different associations after the lecture were delightfully surprised by being served with refreshments by the state officers.

comforted by the hope of a glorious resurrection by President C. P. Middleton. Elders C. H. Greenwood, J. M. D. Taylor, Angus T. Wright and Bishop Woolley, interment was made in the Ogden City cemetery.

THRILLING RUNAWAY.

A horse attached to a fireboat ran away about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon endangering the lives of many pedestrians who were walking along the east sidewalk of Washington avenue between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets. One little girl who was crippled and was riding in an invalid's chair, being pushed by her father, Herman Johnson, was struck by the cart and knocked out of the chair but escaped with only slight bruises and cuts about the face. It was little less than a miracle that no one was killed as the animal was running at a great speed swinging the cart from one side of the walk to the other. At last the cart collided with a telephone pole, breaking the cart. The little girl was taken to Bodden's drug store where Dr. Wherry attended her.

PAINTFEL ACCIDENT.

Ogden, Nov. 4.—Harry Cohen, an employee at the local stockyards, had his right foot crushed at 6 o'clock last night, by a box car passing over it, necessitating amputation of the foot at the ankle. Cohen was riding on the box car when in some way he slipped and fell beneath the wheels. He was picked up by other employees and taken to the hospital, where the amputation took place.

The Woods Cross canners completed their season's run last Monday. The county has had a very successful season. The quality of the tomato crop this season has been better than usual. The output of tomatoes has been 1,500 cases over last year's run. Two-thirds of the season's pack has already been shipped. Two cartloads of catsup being sold in Montana, one firm there bought 40,000 pounds of catsup and $5,000 cases of tomatoes.

Owing to the destruction of the power house by fire at Woods Cross, the Improved Brick company has had to suspend operation for lack of power, but expects to be working again in a few days.

SPANISH FORK.

SUNDAY SCHOOL SOCIAL.

Spanish Fork, Utah Co., Nov. 1.—As the seventies' quorum meetings will be held in the future on Sabbath mornings, and there being a good percentage of them engaged in Sunday school, many of these workers will retire from the Sunday school. The Nevada Stake Sunday school board, the officers and teachers of the four wards of Spanish Fork, Leland and Palmyra, have arranged this evening for a social at the City pavilion.

The fasting election judges have been appointed.

First ward, D. T. Lewis, John Beckstrom and M. I. Martell.

Second ward, Charles A. Evans, Henry Hughes and Joseph N. Finch.

Third ward, Lehi Davis, George S. Boychok, and Peter Larsen.

Fourth ward, Nereed Monk, Oliver Swenson and Benjamin Evans.

This week the stork visited the following homes: Mr. and Mrs. N. Dudley, a girl; Mr. and Mrs. L. Brathwaite, a girl; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jarvis, a son; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wilson, a girl; Mr. and Mrs. David O. Turner, a girl; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Larsen, a boy; Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Boyack, a boy; Mr. and Mrs. Mark C. Johnson, a girl; Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Dart, a girl; Mr. and Mrs. William Beckstrom, a boy; Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Bradford, a girl.

Patriarch Wilkins passed his eighty-first birthday on Monday; he is feeling well in body and spirit, though feeble.

ORANGEVILLE.

SCHOOL OPENING.

Heavy Rains in Kane County—Missionary Farewell.

Special Correspondence.
Orderville, Kane Co., Oct. 26.—The public school opened here last Monday morning under favorable prospects. Besides the usual faculty of three, Prof. Henry Chamberlain, for several years special instructor in music for Utah county, is engaged to teach vocal music. Prof. D. H. Root is principal with Melvin Lake and Amy Carroll assistants.

A daughter was born Oct. 20, to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Espin, Jr.

There has been an exceptional amount of rainfall during the past three weeks. Much of the third cutting of lucern will be damaged and some lost. Hay is not to be bought. Those who had a surplus disposed of the same early in the season at $7 to $8 fresh from the field.

Several new dwellings are going up here. There seems to be an awakening in home building and home improvement.

There is not much fruit in this locality. Apples are about the only kind, while quite plentiful at a cent a pound. A farewell party was given last evening in honor of Israel Espin who leaves for a mission to the Southern States next Thursday. Forty dollars was the proceeds above expenses of the party which was handed to Elder Espin to help pay his way.

Keith-O'Brien Company is to Occupy the Entire Building.

KEITH-O'BRIEN BUILDING. THE INSERT PORT. A. E. OF H. W. WALKER, MANAGER.

This Salt Lake City is on a firm financial foundation and that men in business and business matters have been disappointed. In the nature of things an investment of a million dollars could not yield returns at once where competition was so keen and an entirely new element of profit never in mind as the business also based on another action in business life. That good people, fair treatment and honest dealing would pay in the end—and in fact, they were not disappointed, for the new fifth floor of the firm's existence, the balance is on the other side of the ledger, and it returns on its original investment have an increased total of $100,000. The original stock $100,000. The business of the first year aggregated something like $1,000,000. The present year it will not fall short of $1,000,000. And in this way the firm has increased its business and its faith in Salt Lake has just grown stronger, and the place for further heavy investments are justified by the outcome of the outlook at such a time.

Consequently, arrangements have been entered into where the department the company has secured a lease on all four floors of the building, which it will occupy with new departments as soon as the necessary alterations can be made. These will cost between $20,000 and $30,000. The stairway now leading to the second floor from the street will be taken out and a show window put in its place. The stairways to the upper floors will be all built. Extensive work will be done for rapid access to the upper and lower floors, and every convenience for the rapid handling of goods will be installed. Counting the three-story warehouse, which is connected with the main building by a tunnel, the company will have a total floor space of about five acres, or half the space of one of Salt Lake's large blocks.

In the arrangement of the floors, after the building has been remodelled, the suit and cloak department, the millinery and children's departments will occupy half of the second floor, the other half to be occupied by the carpet, rug and drapery department. The third floor will be devoted to the dressmaking and ladies' tailoring departments, also the alteration department for ladies' skirts, coats, suits, etc.

The street department will also be arranged and several new departments will be added and the other departments enlarged, which will necessitate the purchasing of a much larger stock of goods than is now carried. It is calculated that the firm will carry a stock valued at not less than half a million dollars at all times after the reorganization of the store takes place.

There is a savings bank department already in the store, this department having been instituted the first of last March; there is also a checking department, which differs from ordinary banks in only the feature that no loans are made.

Mr. H. W. Walker, whose portrait appears in the left upper corner of the cut, is the manager of the Keith-O'Brien company, and it is under his direction that the alterations will be made and the store made into a modern up-to-date department establishment. The success achieved by the big store is largely due to the keen business foresight of Mr. Walker, and the harmony which exists among the large corps of assistants in the conduct of its business. There are now employed in the store 300 persons, making 100 employed when the store started.

The work of remodeling will be completed at an early date, and when completed there is no doubt that the Keith-O'Brien department store will be one of the most handsome and up-to-date in the country.
