SALT LAKE TO BE WIRELESS STATION

Next Jump in Transcontinental Line Will be from Carson, Nevada.

AGENTS FOR COMPANY HERE.

Development of New Method of Communication Being Watched With Great Interest.

That Salt Lake City may soon become one of a series of transcontinental wireless telegraph stations, stretching from San Francisco to New York, and thence across the Atlantic ocean, is one of the prospects of the near future. This idea, which is conveyed by the fiscal agent for the United Wireless Telegraph company for Utah, O. S. Brewster, who is now in the city. Mr. Brewster is accompanied by David O. Calver, who is the Idaho representative of the company, located at Idaho Falls. Mr. Brewster says that the first stations on the transcontinental circuit have already been established at San Francisco, and at Carson, Nevada, and that the next jump will be to Salt Lake City, and thence eastward to the Atlantic. Stations have been established also at Los Angeles in Southern California, and it is the intention of the company to install a 2 kilowatt station at San Pedro, to be used by the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake railroad in connection with their vessels of its steamship line.

DEVELOPMENT OF WIRELESS. The history of the growth of wireless telegraphy has in the last few years been marvelous. The first known successful experiment with wireless telegraphy was in 1844, when Prof. Morse, inventor of the telegraph code, sent signals across the Susquehanna river without wires. This was improved upon by Sir William Preece in London, who in 1886 sent signals over a distance of half miles without wires. In 1887 Mr. Marconi sent signals from Lavernock to Flathead and introduced the high wire of aerial station. Five years later Marconi, lost in communication with the steamer "Philadelphia" while the vessel was 1,500 miles at sea, and in 1892 actual wireless telegraph communication between Cape Breton, Canada, and Cornwall, England, was established.

The possibilities of the new method of communication have been demonstrated beyond peradventure on land and on sea in storm and calm, and the future development of the latest application of this subtle force, electricity, will be watched with much interest by all humanity.

It has been in use for many years and has always met with unvarying success. For sale by all druggists.

SAFECRACKER RUNS WHEN INTERRUPTED.
Nichtwachtman Finds Man at Work In Office of Kaufmann, Davidson & Semmler.

While engaged in an attempt last night to break open the safe in the office of Kaufmann, Davidson & Semmler, hide and wool dealers, at 380 west Third South street, an unknown burglar was interrupted in his work by the sudden appearance of James Kenney, nightwatchman, and succeeded in making his escape.

When discovered about 10:50 o'clock, the burglar had broken open the heavy door of the safe, by knocking off the combination dial with a sledge hammer and forcing the lock by means of a punch. He had just begun to pull out the inner doors, when the nightwatchman while making his rounds was attracted by the noise within the office and entered the building through the rear door, which the burglar had left standing open.

As Watchman Kenney entered, the building the burglar fled through the front door. The police were notified and Detective Howell and Patrolmen Kelly and Griffin, detected on the case, but were unsuccessful in discovering the burglar. The safe-cracker overlooked $50 lying in a small drawer, and evidently obtained nothing for his work.

A private safe may be rented in the fire and burglar-proof vaults of the Salt Lake Security & Trust Co., 32-34 Main street, $2.00 per year.

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD BURGLAR.
Lat Is Not Only Spunked, But Lands At Police Station.

Engene Burleigh, a 7-year-old boy, found his little excursion into Thieves' den, a bitter experience. He was not only punished in the old-fashioned way by his father, E. R. Burleigh, of 363 Canyon street, when the latter found that the boy had stolen several pieces of hardware from a car standing on the Salt Lake switch, but when the father's command he was returning the stolen stuff to the car he was caught by an S. L. watchman and turned over to the police. When the police learned the circumstances they sent the boy home crying and very penitent after a severe lecture.

A private safe may be rented in the fire and burglar-proof vaults of the Salt Lake Security & Trust Co., 32-34 Main street, $2.00 per year.

POLICE HUNTING CHIMNEY.
Unless the police can locate a chimney of recent construction and containing 800 bricks alleged to have been stolen from the rear of the Golden Gate restaurant on East Second South street, they may find difficulty in convicting William Gibbs on a charge of larceny. Gibbs was arrested on the last evening, charged with the larceny of the bricks, and while he admits having built a chimney he is leaving it for the police to find.
