FRAGMENTS.

A GOOD girl wanted to do general housework. See advt.

WM. G. POLLEN, of Salt Lake City, has been appointed a notary public.

ARCHIBALD LAWSON was brought in by the police last night for drunkenness.

JOHN THORNTON is to have his examination tomorrow afternoon, on the charge of forgery.

There are messages in the Western Union Telegraph office for Miss L. Ellenbecker, Miss J. D. Williams and Milton Stevens.

BEN BUTTE, an insane individual, was about the streets yesterday afternoon asking somebody to kill him. He was taken in by the police.

THERE is to be a meeting of democrats in the Federal court room this evening, for the purpose of organizing democratic clubs.

IN the suit of Wm. Hurd vs. H. P. Folsom et al., Judge Zane today overruled the motion of the defense to dissolve the injunction formerly granted to the plaintiff.

THE funeral services over the remains of Brother Montague W. Cornell will be held in the Eleventh Ward meeting house, on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Friends are respectfully invited.

THERE will be a Hawaiian excursion to Syracuse on Tuesday, Aug. 28, when the natives of the Sandwich Islands who reside in this city and their friends anticipate a pleasant out at the grove and lake.

ED. MCLELLAN'S saloon was burglarized last night, and $6 or $8 taken from the till. The thief got in by the transom over the back door—breaking the glass and opening the catch. The police were notified this morning.

MISS ADA CAMPBELL, the Australian lecturess, is on a visit to the city. Besides being noted for ability on the platform, Miss Campbell is also engaged in journalism, and is a representative of the Australian and New Zealand press. She is staying at the Continental.

MR. JAMES DENNING was seriously injured a few days ago by being careless in handling a self-binder. He undertook to adjust some of the machinery while the machine was in motion, and the consequence was that the needle went clear through the palm of his hand.—Malad Enterprise.

WE regret to learn of the bereavement of Brother and Sister Moroni L. Pratt, of Provo, in the death of their little girl, Ozzie B. Pratt, born May 27, 1877, and who died yesterday, 23d. The funeral will be held at the residence in Provo, at four o'clock tomorrow (Saturday). Friends are invited.

ABOUT 8 p.m. last evening two buggies, each containing a lady and gentleman, were coming up Main Street, near the corner of Third South, at a moderate rate of speed, when a cart containing a man dashed down the street at a furious rate, just grazing one buggy and colliding with the other. The occupants of the latter vehicle were thrown out, the horse ran away, and the lady was quite severely injured. The fellow who was the cause of the trouble never stopped to see what damage he had done. Fast driving is becoming an almost intolerable nuisance in some parts of the city. Especially is this the case on the drive west of Liberty Park.

Chief Justice Sanford.

It is anticipated that Utah's new Chief Justice, Elliot Sanford will reach this city on Sunday evening. He left New York a few days ago, and intended stopping over in Denver, leaving there in time to be here on the 26th.

Commissioned.

Commissions have been issued to the following recently elected municipal officers of Fairview, Sanpete County: Peter Sundvall, mayor; James C. Benson, Christian Olsen, Mormon Miner, Samuel Bills, Louis R. Earson, city councilors; Philip M. Hurst, justice of the peace; Christian Cruser, treasurer; Christian Petersen, marshal; and Wm. S. Taylor, assessor and collector.

Poisoned His Corn.

George Berk, proprietor of the Railroad Meat Market, sharpened his knife on his boot one day last week and used the knife in paring a corn. Subsequent inflammation set in, accompanied by severe pains in the foot and limb, and Dr. Hanson, who was called to attend him, said the trouble resulted from blood poisoning. Mr. Berk has suffered intensely, but the physician has the poison under control, though last evening the leg was considerably swollen. He thinks there must have been a little blood on the boot on which he sharpened the knife, and that the poisoning resulted from it. It is by no means unusual to have serious consequences result from paring corns, and people should see that the knife used for that purpose is perfectly free from all poisonous substances.—Winnemucca Silver State.

Thief Caught.

Ed. Berry no doubt thought last night that he could justly claim the title of a "bold, bad man." Today he is in a position to call himself an exemplar of idiocy. He wanted to exhibit how easily a bold attempt at stealing could be carried out, and proceeded to act on his theory. He went into a barber shop on Second South Street and bargained to sell a pair of boots. He then started off to secure the boots and soon returned. Both were for the left foot, however, and the barber refused to buy. It was but a few minutes before it was learned that Berry had gone into Mr. Saville's shoe shop and deliberately carried off the articles. He was taken into custody by the police and now lodges in jail to ruminate on the penalty of his misdeeds.

Lewis Morrison Again.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of next week the Lewis Morrison company appear at the Theatre, in "A Dark Secret" and "Faust," the latter to be given on Wednesday evening. An exchange says of "A Dark Secret:

"In the third and fourth acts the great water scenes, consisting of the Henley regatta, its racing shells, real steam launch carrying passengers, etc., the vivid description of the race and its termination, accompanied by the howlings of the mob and the shrieking of steam whistles, all aroused the greatest enthusiasm, and the curtain fell amid loud and continued applause. But it was reserved for the fourth act to reach the climax of the play, which is caused by the thrusting of the heroine bodily into the water by the villian, and her struggles and gasps for life, and where she finally goes under the surface apparently for the last time, is really heartrending. She is seen by the hero, who leaps from the boat and brings her to the surface amidst the yells of the audience. This scene was enacted in such a natural manner that the hero and heroine were called before the curtain, dripping as they were with water."

Arrival of Judge Judd.

Judge J. W. Judd, of Tennessee, Utah's new associate justice, arrived in Ogden from the east last night, and is stopping at the Broom. He will probably remain here some time He has not yet decided where he will take up his headquarters in the territory; his work not being all in one district, it will take time to decide this point. The judge expects to remain in the territory until near Christmas time, when, if public business will permit, he hopes to return to his home to eat turkey with Mrs. Judd and the little ones at Springville, Robertson County, Tennessee, about thirty miles north of Nashville.

Judge Judd carries with him an air of intellectual strength. This idea is the first one which impresses a man upon meeting him. He appears to be about fifty years of age, is tall and staunchly built. His hair, which is plentiful, is dark iron gray. He wears close-cropped whiskers on his chin, but his upper lip is shaved after the judicial fashion. His face is strong though not stern.

It is reported that the Judge left a fine law practice to come to Utah. He has been devoted to his profession, refusing even high political honors rather than to sacrifice his association with the law. He declined to be nominated for Congress in 1884, and in a democratic convention of that year in his district—after denying the persistent appeals to allow his own name to be used—he nominated Benton McMillin, who had not yet been in Congress. McMillin was elected, and has served continuously in the House since that time, and his fame as a leading member of the ways and means committee which formulated the Mills bill is now national. To Judge Judd, therefore, belongs the honor of having discovered in the young man McMillin, who was then but a little more than thirty years of age, the future eminent representative of the fourth district of Tennessee. Judge Judd now resides in the sixth district, represented by Joseph E. Washington, who speaks in the highest terms of him.

Several gentlemen called upon the Judge last night, among them being U. J. Wenner and Taomas Maloney, of the Ogden bar. Mr. Maloney is an old acquaintance of the Judge.

The Standard cordially welcomes Judge Judd to his new field of labor, and hopes that his relations with the citizens of this Territory may ever be pleasant. He will probably sit a part of the time upon the bench of the third district at Salt Lake, to relieve the turgidity of the calendar there; and a part of the time at Provo, to attend to business in that end of the first district.—Ogden Standard, Aug. 24.

"The Wife."

The large attendance at the Theatre last night, on the opening of Frohman's Lyceum Theatre company's engagement, was itself a compliment, but it was by no means undeserved. From the rinzing up of the curtain on the first scene to the close of the piece the performance was such a one as only a thoroughly first class company can give. The intense interest with which the audience watched scene after scene, and the warm applause that greeted the actors indicated the pleasure that was experienced. Of the ladies, Miss Cayvan was of course the leading figure, and her graceful and dignified portrayal of "Helen Truman" was marked with an impressiveness that carried with it the deepest sympathies of the audience. Miss Dillon shared with her the honers of the evening, and delighted and amused all by her charming presentation of the part of "Kitty Ives." Each time she came upon the stage the audience anticipated a fresh source of merriment, and they were never disappointed. Mrs. Walcott, Mrs. Whiffen and Miss Henderson also becomingly sustained the different parts assigned them. Of the gentlemen Mr. Kelcey's fine appearance and calm, exalted demeanor made him a centre of admiration. The character of "Senator Rutherford" was by him placed in a light that brought a lesson from the example of the great and good. Mr. Wheatcroft, as the unscrupulous politician, rendered his part in an almost provokingly lifelike manner. Mr. Miller, Mr. Dickson, Mr. LeMoyne and Mr. Walcott were also equal to the roles they had essayed.

"Tonight and tomorrow night "The Wife" will hold the boards, and lovers of an artistic performance will not be disappointed in witnessing the piece in the hands of the Lyceum Company.

Board of Canvassers.

Yesterday afternoon the board of canvassers finished the count of the city votes, but had not time to complete the returns from Salt Lake County. During the count the following protest was considered:

I hereby protest against the counting of votes for county clerk for the office of clerk of the county court.

W. H. SELLS.

The board referred to the statutes of 1880, and finding that the ballots cast were all right, the protest was overruled. An adjournment was then taken till tomorrow, as some of the members of the board had to be elsewhere today.

Arrested.

On Monday, August 20th, John D. Jones was arrested by Deputy Marshal Hopson at his residence in Cherry Creek, Idaho, for unlawful cohabitation. He was bound over to await the action of the grand jury, at Blackfoot, next October. This is the third time Brother Jones has been arrested on a charge of living with his wives.

CACHE COUNTY.

Items of Interest in Northern Utah.

There are a number of cases of typhoid fever in Wellsville and Richmond.

Workmen are busy putting in complete roller process machinery in the Cache Valley mills at Richmond.

The cañon contains an unusual large number of campers out this season. Several families have been at Tony Grove the past three weeks.

Cache will be represented in the fair at Salt Lake to be held in the beginning of October, by several registered thoroughbreed Holstein bulls, which were bred in this country.

The Home of Mrs. Robinson of Richmond, had a narrow escape from fire last week. Some clothing that was out on an upper porch caught fire, but the fire was discovered in time to prevent serious damage.

George Parsons, while working at one of the mills in the cañon on Monday, had his right foot badly cut into the bone. He was brought to Logan and in the evening Dr. Snow dressed his injuries.

On Monday evening Willie Anderson, a fourteen or fifteen year old boy, who is working for L. R. Martineau, was thrown from a colt. One of his wrist joints was fractured. He received surgical attendance from the hands of Dr. Ormsby and is getting along reasonably well.

On Tuesday Oliver E. Smith, of Paradise, was arrested by Deputy Whetstone on an indictment, dated some time in May, 1887, charging him with unlawful cohabitation. He was put under $1000 bonds to await his trial.

Last week Deputy Whetstone arrested William Coleman, of Smithfield, on the charge of unlawful cohabitation. Commissioner Goodwin put him under bonds to appear for examination. The examination will be held sometime this week at Smithfield on account of the ill health of the defendant's wife.

Mr. C. C. Goodwin and C. L. Lowe, who were the bondsmen for Mr. Goldsberry when he was postmaster at Paradise, finding it their duty, now he is dead, to take possession of the office and install a temporary postmaster, went to Paradise on Tuesday morning and appointed Mrs. Goldsberry to that office; her daughter is assistant.

On Tuesday Deputy Whetstone arrested Thomas W. Obray, of Paradise, on an indictment dated May, 1887, charging him with unlawful cohabitation. Mrs. Margaret Obray and the alleged second wife were bound over in the sum of $200 as witnesses and Mr. Obray was required to give $1,800 bonds.

On Tuesday Deputy Whetstone arrested Lewis Halverson, of Hyrum, on the charge of adultery, said to have been committed with Anna Hanson Johnson, who is now Mr. Halverson's wife. Mr. Halverson gave $500 bonds for his appearance in the Commissioner's Court for examination. He gave bonds also for the appearance of his wife.

Mr. Eliason's case came up on Tuesday evening and J. H. Perry and D. H. Shaeffer were examined as witnesses. Their evidence was to the effect that they had seen Mr. Eliason working about the home of the second wife. Mr. Eliason was bound over to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of unlawful cohabitation. His bonds were placed at $1000, and Stena Anderson's at $200. Mr. Eliason is about seventy-three years of age and the experience he is passing through is quite severe upon him.—Utah Journal, Aug. 22.

Stabbing Affray.

Joseph E. Morris, who resides in East Mill Creek, is out on $300 bonds awaiting the grand jury's investigation of a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Morris and James Young, of East Mill Creek, got into a quarrel a few days ago, and Morris obtained a butcher-knife, with which he made a cut at Young. The steel struck the latter about the middle of the back, and made a gash about three inches long Fortunately the knife blade struck a rib, or Morris would have had a more serious charge against him.

Out of Prison.

Today Thomas Harding, of this city, Joshua Adams, of American Fork, Jas. Latimer, of Nephi, Jas. Higginson, of Spanish Fork, L. Loveridge, of Provo, and R. E. King, of American Fork, were released from the penitentiary, where they have been serving a term for living with their wives. Some of them were kept in custody longer than necessary because of the failure of the clerk of Provo to report the payment of fines. It is said there are some still in prison simply on account of this neglect, their terms having expired.

Notes From Ogden.

The Seventies of Weber Stake will hold a conference in Ogden on September 2

Mr. John Yount, engineer on the Union Pacific, ran a piece of steel through his hand yesterday at Echo. He is now in Ogden receiving surgical attendance.

Mr. S. M. Preshaw goes to Park City this morning for the purpose of exhuming the remains of Mrs. E. P. Ferry which have been buried since 1881. Mr. Ferry will take the remains East to his old home, for interment.

Mr. Morris of the Central Hotel has substantially aided the poor widow and her four children with eatables. Others, charitably disposed have followed the good example, and they will not suffer hereafter. As soon as means can be obtained they will seek to reach their friends in the north.

About two years ago Marion Munson, car cleaner on the S. P., injured a finger, which was amputed at the Sacramento hospital. The wound healed up and has not inconvenienced Mr. Munson a great deal until lately when it has troubled him considerably. Last night he left for Sacramento to be further treated by the S. P. physician.

Yesterday morning at 3 a. m. a stranger by the name of Frederick A. Bridges died of astama on the incoming S. P. train. Upon arriving at Ogden his body was taken to Undertaker Preshaw's establishment. He had a ticket to Chicago as well as a letter giving the address of a gentleman at that place. This person was telegraphed about the sad death and the remains are held awaiting an answer from him.—Ogden Standard. Aug. 24.

A few years ago Thomas Branson, an officer in the United States army, moved from Fort Custer to Kansas City. Mr. Branson was afflicted with a brain disease, and when under its influence some time ago disappeared, leaving his wife and child to support themselves as best they could. No traces of his whereabouts were discovered for a long time, and Mrs. Branson supported herself and child, in the meantime by establishing a woman's exchange in the Missouri city, where fancy articles are bought and sold and a restaurant provided on a limited scale. Hearing nothing from her husband, she supposed him dead, until the other day a telegram was received stating that he was alive and well, and had been engaged in mining schemes which had turned out most profitably, and that he was now worth several hundred thousand dollars. At first Mrs. Branson scarcely credited the story, but when the following day brought a check for $2500 the affair began to look authentic and she has now consented to meet her husband, who is located at some point in Nevada.

He had been fearfully naughty. His mother did't know what to do with him. She wanted to confine him somewhere, but he showed signs of breaking everything in any room she put him into, and he threatened revenge at every suggestion. She bethought her of a place where there was nothing to break and where he could not wreak any serious revenge. The hencoop. He was borne out into the garden and locked up in the hencoop. He was silent. This was something beyond his capacity to talk back about. But as they were going away his head appeared at one of the little openings.

"Mamma!" His mother stopped. "Mamma! You can lock me in here if you like, but I won't lay any eggs!"
