

VOTE ON VREELAND CURRENCY BILL

At 4:30 Today, Best Information Being That it Will Pass By Small Majority.

DEMOCRATS WILL NOT ASSIST

Minority Leader Williams Says They Will Not Walk Into the Trap Set for Them.

Washington, May 13.—At 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon the house will vote on the Vreeland currency bill. The best information indicates that the bill will be passed by a small majority.

When the house meets tomorrow at 11:20 a. m., a resolution or order will be reported from the committee on rules in substance as follows:

"That the bill be taken up for consideration and passage; that amendments be limited in number to one; that general debate proceed until 4:30 p. m., the time being evenly divided between the two sides of the house; that at 4:30 the bill be voted on."

"This resolution will be adopted under suspension of the rules by a roll call vote, which is not expected to disclose the real strength of the Republican insurgency, for, while several of the insurgents undoubtedly will vote against the bill in order to give consistency to their past attitude and subsequent action, others of them will vote for the rule out of party spirit and the desire to bring the whole controversy to an issue."

It is to be expected that the Democrats will vote solidly in the negative.

The purpose of the regular Republican leaders in advancing one amendment to be offered to the bill is to give the Democrats an opportunity to move the substitution of the Williams currency bill for the Vreeland bill, the idea being that some Democrats, after casting a complimentary vote for the Williams bill, will in the second and deciding vote support the Vreeland bill.

But Mr. Williams, the minority leader, declared today in an interview that he does not propose "to walk into any trap." He said that if the order from the rules committee allows only one amendment to be offered, and the choice of that amendment is left to the Democrats, he will not offer the Williams bill, but the Fowler bill. "The Fowler bill," he said, "has been reported to the house by a majority vote of the banking and currency committee, and it is thereby properly before the house for action. The bill which bears my name has not the same parliamentary standing before the house, the reason being that it is reported from the minority of that committee. I do not propose to be placed thus trickily in the position of gratuitously affronting the Republican friends of the Fowler bill by offering a minority bill as an amendment, which would be voted down. If an amendment is permitted to offer any amendment it will be the Fowler bill, not the Williams bill."

The backers of the Vreeland bill, however, are of no mind to let Mr. Williams do this. Their attitude is that they have work enough cut out for tomorrow without counting in a fight on the Fowler bill. Hard feeling has already been caused by the ignoring of the reported Fowler bill and the virtual discharging of the banking and currency committee from any further consideration of currency measures—facts which the insurgents, though only one of their number is positively committed to the Fowler bill, have not been slow to take advantage of in developing their dissensions within the party ranks. In view of all these circumstances, it may be that the order to be brought in tomorrow by the rules committee will designate definitely the Williams bill as the one amendment which will be entertained.

Word got abroad today that some of the insurgents were willing to cast their votes for the Vreeland bill if there should be eliminated from it the government guaranty clause. A tentative compromise was therefore worked to the effect that those in charge of the bill would consent to the insertion of the words "or other securities approved by the secretary of the treasury," as an alternative guaranty basis for emergency currency.

As the leaders have issued strict cautions for all members to be in their seats tomorrow at noon, it is expected that the heaviest vote of the session will be cast on the Vreeland bill.

VITAL DECISION IN UNIMPORTANT SUIT

Chicago, May 13.—Upon the decision of Judge C. C. Kohlhaas of the federal court in the case of the Beatrice and Blue Valley Creamery companies against the Pere Marquette, Grand Trunk, and Michigan Central railroads may hinge the entire campaign against general advance in freight rates. Buried in a comparatively unimportant injunction suit in which the final arguments were heard yesterday is the whole issue, which will serve as a precedent in the coming great contest. Judge Kohlhaas's decision will determine whether a federal court has power to enjoin the railroads from advancing rates pending a hearing before the interstate commerce commission, which alone is granted power to determine questions of unreasonableness and discrimination, or whether it can sit only as a court of review after the opinion of the commission has been given.

The case in which Judge Kohlhaas's decision will decide this question is the application of the Beatrice and Blue Valley Creamery companies of Nebraska, for a preliminary injunction to restrain the Michigan Central, Grand Trunk and Pere-Marquette from advancing their freight rates on cream pending a hearing before the interstate commerce commission as to the reasonableness of the advance.

HARRIMAN DIVIDENDS.

New York, May 13.—The regular dividend of 2 1/2 per cent quarterly on Union Pacific common stocks, of 1 1/2 per cent on the quarterly on Southern Pacific common and of 3 1/2 per cent semi-annually on Southern Pacific preferred stocks, were declared by the directors of those companies today. Following the meeting of the directors, E. H. Harriman was asked about the plans for issuing part of the $100,000,000 in bonds recently authorized by the Union Pacific stockholders. He said: "Everybody is trying to do the Union Pacific finance. It does not need any money."

BROWNSVILLE AFFAIR GOES OVER TO DEC. 16

Washington, May 13.—Further consideration of the Brownsville affair will today postponed by the senate until Dec. 16 next. This decision was reached after an extended exchange of views among senators. Mr. Foraker, after urging the appointment of an early day for voting on his bill, moved that it be taken up next December. After a motion by Senator Culberson (Texas) to vote on the bill next Saturday was laid on the table, Mr. Foraker's motion was adopted by a vote of 62 to 6. Mr. Foraker gave out a statement saying that while he could not have passed the bill now, he thinks he has insured its passage by the postponement.

Senator Rayner's resolution directing the president to appoint a court of inquiry to investigate the case of Col. William F. Stewart of the army, now stationed at Fort Grant, Ariz., was referred to the committee on military affairs with an understanding that Senator Rayner would appear before that committee tomorrow to make a further statement on the Stewart case.

The senate passed the house bill restoring the motto "In God We Trust" on coins of the United States. The proposed repeal of the commodity clause of the rate bill was considered at some length.

BP. HORSTMAN DEAD.

Canton, O., May 13.—Bishop Ignatius Horstmann of Cleveland died at the parsonage of St. John's church, this city, tonight of exhaustion caused by overwork and heart failure. The end came suddenly and unexpectedly while the physician, who had been in attendance during the day, was absent from the house.

An hour before his death Bishop Horstmann was much better than the nurses and physician and friends at the parsonage thought he was on the way to recovery after a refreshing sleep of an hour or more earlier in the evening.

The bishop came to Canton on Monday to participate in exercises of confirmation of three days at local churches. After mass at St. John's this morning he complained of feeling ill. The bishop went to the parsonage and a physician was hastily summoned. The doctor found the prelate in a serious state of nervous collapse.

SOME CHANGES IN FLEET FORMATION

Will Take Place Friday When Admiral Thomas Hauls Down His Flag as Commander-in-Chief.

SPEERY WILL SUCCEED HIM.

Off-Duty Officers Attended the Annual Spring "Jinks" of the Bohemian Club.

San Francisco, May 13.—Extensive changes in the formation of the Atlantic fleet will take place Friday, May 15, when Rear Admiral Thomas hauls down his flag as commander-in-chief and is succeeded by Rear Admiral Speery. Several of the ships will be shifted to different divisions and Capt. Richard Wainwright and Capt. Seaton Schroeder will assume command of divisions. Capt. Wainwright will be succeeded in command of the Louisiana by Capt. Kossuth Niles, and Capt. Schroeder will be succeeded on the Virginia by Capt. Alexander Sharp.

The Minnesota will take the place of the Louisiana in the first division, the latter becoming Rear Admiral Emory's flagship in the third division. The Georgia will continue as the flagship of the second division, with Capt. Wainwright in command of the division. The Nebraska will take the place of the Virginia in the second division, the latter joining the third. The Wisconsin will be Capt. Schroeder's flagship, heading the fourth division. The Connecticut will remain the flagship of the fleet.

When the contemplated changes are effected the different divisions will be made up as follows: First division—Connecticut, flagship; Kansas, Minnesota, and Vermont. Second division—Georgia, flagship; Nebraska, New Jersey and Rhode Island. Third division—Louisiana, flagship; Virginia, Ohio and Missouri. Fourth division—Wisconsin, flagship; Illinois, Kearsarge and Kentucky.

Rear Admiral Emory will be tactically in command of the second squadron, although the squadron command has been eliminated as far as administrative purposes are concerned. Capt. Wainwright and Schroeder, who will assume command of divisions, will not receive the rank of rear admiral until July 15.

The actual transfer of flags will occur at 10:30 Friday morning and will be accompanied by the customary ceremonies. On the same day, an hour or two before Admiral Speery hoists his flag, the Pacific squadron of armored cruisers, commanded by Rear Admiral Dayton, will get under way and go to sea, en route to Santa Barbara. This will remove any cause for complications that might arise from the ranking of Admiral Speery by Admiral Dayton. The Pacific fleet will leave San Francisco for Puget Sound at 10 o'clock next Monday morning.

The reason for the changed formation of the fleet is to assure homogeneity by divisions. By the new arrangement the ships of the first division will be of one class, as will those of the second division. The only ships with differing screws, the Virginia and Louisiana, will thus be in the same division. The vessels of the remaining two divisions will be as near the same class as is possible to place them by investigation.

Practically every off-duty officer from the combined fleets attended tonight the annual spring "jinks" of the Bohemian club, which is famed for its clever entertainments. It was one of the few functions that the officers have attended voluntarily, their presence at teas, parties, balls, etc., being the result of official details. The privileges of the club have been extended to all the officers and it really was as members of the noted organization that they attended tonight the "jinks" that depicted the days of '49. The scenes and incidents of the evening were intended to recall California's golden age of romance and life. The setting of the "jinks" was a huge tent just where the Leavenworth trail hits the old Post Highway, fitted out as the Red Dog Music hall. There, by song and speech and dance and play, the hours were passed by the young Californians after the fashion of their argonaut forebears. Two men of "The Luck of Roaring Camp," while Tennessee and his chum and Trustful James, John Oakhurst, Ah Sin and several like them acted as floor committee. Sandy Stewart ran the band, including Miller, Coyote Putnam, Frenchy Mathieu, Old Sleuth Lyon, Courtyard Ford, Sunset Norris, St. Paul Canfield, Allan Did, Sundown Field and many others dealt faro, tendered bar and variously assisted in the ceremonies.

The "jinks" portrayed California's true Bohemia of long ago and its surviving spirit of today. The day was replete with entertainment for officers and men, the San Francisco reception committee, and the various social organizations of the city being well nigh relentless in their determination to make the visit of the fleet one long to be remembered.

Chicago, May 13.—Admiral Evans and party arrived from the west today and left for the east after a three hours' stay. The admiral was feeling well.
