AMUSEMENTS. hannen

For the second time in this city 'Way Down East" has entered upon a run for a full week at the Salt Lake Theater. The first time was a year ago when it broke all records at the old dayhouse. The second was last night, when it started out under the most favorable conditions and with money in the boxoffice than it had or the occasion of its initial performance here. Some of the characters who made themselves strong favorites at that time are now missing from the cast, but nough of them remain to preserve its identity. Among those who were speed ily recognized was the inimitable and irrepressible John E. Brennan, as Hi Holler the chore boy. The same old hugh, and droll capers; his never-tobe-forgotten makeup and pickings from Puck which convulsed audiences last year, made it roar again last night un-til it fairly held its sides. The role of anna Moore, the injured girl, was conscientiously though not strongly acted Grace Hopkins, who is a stranger to Salt Lake audiences. Charles Riege ooked and took the part of the unfor giving squire in a manner thoroughly ceptable. Charles A. Burke, as Rub Whipple, the town constable, is as fun ny as ever and the song. "All bound round with a woolen string," made the usual hit, as did also the village choir in a number of well rendered selections. As for the play itself it was pervaded with the same fresh atmosphere of hought and simple rural surroundings that have given it such a hold upon the hearts of the American people. The stage settings were artistic and true to exact reproductions of those previously shown here, including the mos ealistic snowstorm ever seen in any theater.

The "Eleventh Hour," with its high oloring and melodramatic compositio vas witnessed by an audience that was very large at the top and not small at the Grand last night. It was closely followed and loudly cheered as the hero was triumphant over the vil ian and as the mechanical genius Lincoln J. Carter unfolded itself. smashup scene at the end of the pla vas a climax that set the galleries will and drew the downstairs portion of the cause into the vortex of enthusiasm The engagement ends tomorrow night

"The Man From Mexico." a popula farce comedy, not unknown to Sal Lake theatergoers, will hold the boards it the Grand during the latter half of the week.

H. Seever, a carpenter and builder of Kenton, Tenn., when suffering intense-y from an attack of bilious colic, sent to a near by drug store for something to relieve him. The druggist sent him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, three doses of which effected a permanent cure. This is the only remedy that can be depended upon in the most se-vere cases of colic and cholera morbus, Most druggists know this and recom-mend it when such a medicine is called for.
