SPECIAL BUSINESS NOTICES.

MR. SHIEL BARRY as "Rory O'More" in "Rory O'More," and as "Dermod" in "Devotion" at the Theatre to-night.

—— A young man of Youngstown, O., went to a drug store to purchase arsenic with suicidal intent. Somehow the clerk divined his intent, and gave him a powerful emetic, instead of the poison, which the chap swallowed as soon as he got home. The result may be imagined.

MUSEUM.—No extra prices. All the sights, including the Rocky Mountain Wild Animals, collecting for the Zoological Gardens at Philadelphia, 50c. Visitors to the Menagerie only 25c.

JOSEPH L. BARFOOT,
d8 6 Manager.

—— A young man who professes to have traveled says that the only difference in the whiskies of the two principal cities of California is that, after taking a drink of Sacramento's chain lightning, you immediately make a short cut to the railroad and go to sleep on the track; whereas, after imbibing a little of San Francisco's bottled insanity, a burning desire takes possession of you to steal a horse and buggy.

NOWLIN & CUNNINGTON'S stock herd starts for the Sevier, Dec. 6. See advt.

FOR SALE.—A CITY LOT, planted with Fruit Trees, and a HOUSE containing SEVEN ROOMS, situated in the 20th Ward. Apply to S. P. Neve, Dinwoodey's Upholstery Rooms. d7 1w

—— "Oh, Autumn, with thy dying smell," is the latest from the pen of a poetic gusher.

CHEAP COAL.—Wasatch Weber Coal, $3 per ton at the Depot. Orders received at Globe Bakery, or at office, south of U. C. Depot.
d4 2w GEO. NEBEKER.

—— Sitka has a public debt of $150, and only seventy cents in its public fund.

BY-LAWS, Rules and Regulations, of Mining Co's. printed at the NEWS Office.

—— The San Bernardino (Cal.) Guardian of November 20, has the following: We have rumors of another big gold strike near the San Jacinto Mountains. Four ledges are said to have been discovered, one of them measuring eight feet on top, and the top rock assays wonderfully rich—so rich that we are almost afraid to state the amount per ton.

THREE hundred and fifty sheep lost. See advt.

—— The world is full of need; unless we wisely spend our means, we are sure to require them all the more. But that is a poor life which helps no one. But it is only by economy that one can possibly have the joy of assisting others. This, too, is worth planning for.

MARBLE, Sandstone and Slate GRAVESTONES cut in every style. Beautiful imitation Marble MANTLE-PIECES and elegant Steel GRATES, at —— Magistrate—"You have been intoxicated; but the officer testifies that you were not so tipsy as not to know what you were about." Prisoner—"O, if I had known that was an objection I could have easily taken another drink or two."

DODGERS and Hand Bills printed at the NEWS Office.

—— Here is a bit of frankness from an out of town editor: "For a man reported murdered in the columns of the Paper a few weeks ago, the individual who has just left the office, wore a very healthy look and carried a stout cudgel. That he left no room for doubting his identity was evident from the rapidity with which the editor declined the editorial honor, and classed himself an embryonic reporter. Discretion is the better part of valor."

MISS ANNIE PAGDIN, (successor to Madame S. C. Watters,) Ladies' Hair Dresser, the cheapest place in the city, for real and imitation hair, 1st South street, opposite the Theatre. d289 eod tf

—— "That's unjust," exclaimed a traveler, when informed by the conductor of a railway train that the price of passage had been recently doubled. "True," replied the urbane official, as he took the passenger's cash; "it is hard, but then it is fare."

A LARGE shipment of the celebrated Rumsey Pumps just received in all kinds and sizes at Z. C. M. I. Constitution Buildings. Orders promptly filled. d302 1m

—— Robert Wright, of London, was found dead the other day with a cigar in his mouth, and a post mortem established, the physicians say, "that he fainted from too much smoke on an empty stomach, and that through too great use of tobacco the heart was not energetic enough to resume action."

BALED HAY for sale at General Tithing Office. E. F. SHEETS.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

THERMOMETER 42 degrees F. in the shade, at 1 p.m. to-day. Storming around on the mountains.

Snow.—It did really try to snow to day, but it was a failure.

Cornice.—The large zinc cornice manufactured by Mitchell and James, is being put on the new Groesbeck buildings.

Moist. — The foggy atmosphere to-day reminded people forcibly of the misty weather of the old country.

Notice. — The superintendents and teachers of sabbath schools are requested to attend the usual monthly meeting to be held at the City Hall on Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock.

Expected Home.—Bishop John Sharp, superintendent of the Utah Central Railroad, is expected to arrive from the East this evening, where he has been on a business visit for several weeks.

Commendable.—We are informed that the Wasatch Woollen Mill Company, Messrs. Sharp, Smoot and Burton, purpose building a new house for Mr. James McGee, in place of the one recently destroyed by fire. This is very commendable on the part of the gentlemen comprising the company.

On the Rampage.—The soldiers of Camp Douglas have been on the rampage for a couple of days, having lately received their monthly pay. Justice Clinton had something over a dozen of them before him to-day, who had been indulging in intoxicating draughts to excess and creating disturbances.

Mill Creek.—The plastering of the large new meeting house at Mill Creek is now finished. The cornice is a very fine one, being probably of as handsome a design as any that ornament the interior of any other building in the County. The carpenter work is also completed, and the house only now needs painting and seating. When all is completed the house will be used exclusively for public worship. Besides the main hall the building contains a vestry and upper room over it.

Mortuary. — Sexton's report for November. Males 18; females 22—of these adults 24; children 16. Causes of death as reported: fevers 9; consumption 4; brain disease 4; fits 3; lung complaints 3; diptheria 3; killed accidentally 3; teething 2; croup 1; cancer 1; erysipelas 1; convulsions 1; heart disease 1; paralysis 1; not reported 3; total interments 40.

JOSEPH E. TAYLOR, Sexton.

Bountiful.—The new co-operative store at Bountiful is a fine building and a credit to the people of that place. That branch is doing a good business, and, notwithstanding the building of the new store, is free from all indebtedness. Mr. Wm. Thurgood is the superintendent.

The co-operative brick yard has stopped operations for the season. While it was running they could dispose of all the brick that could be made.

Welcoming the Colors. — The Thirteenth Infantry, stationed at Camp Douglas, marched to the railroad depot to-day, where they welcomed the colors of the regiment, which had arrived from Fort Steele, the previous headquarters. The band played at the head of the column, and the men presented a trim and soldierly appearance.

Theatre.—The second presentation of Mr. Tullidge's drama of "Oliver Cromwell" was honored with an excellently large audience. The piece was shortened somewhat from its first presentation, which was an advantage, and it was better played than on the previous evening. Mr. Sawtelle certainly gave an improved personation of the great protector, and all the company acted creditably, in some scenes with more precision, and more fittingly with each other.

The scene of the execution of Charles I was very impressive, but the dragging of Cromwell by Lady Fairfax to the window to view the scene is far-fetched, improbable and rather disgusting, for "there appears no ground for believing that his conscience ever troubled him for the part he had in that 'memorable scene,'" and this statement is more in keeping with the nature of such a remarkable man. A similar remark in a degree may be applicable to his part in the vault scene, as "the story that he visited the body," etc., "is a melo-dramatic invention," and on a footing with the scene, in Scott's "Woodstock," representing him as "going into a fit of delirium on looking at Vandyke's picture of the king."

We noticed one thing in the dramatic treatment of this subject, as presented on the stage in this play—an apparent purpose to make the hero appear a curious medley, with one or two heroic qualities, such as an iron will and a fixed regard for the prosperity of the commonwealth, and a number of powerful weaknesses, which rendered him in his advanced years little more than a creature to be despised.

However, altogether the play proved a decided success both nights, and the excellent manner in which it was put upon the stage on comparatively short notice is worthy of commendation.

This evening the celebrated Irish comedian, Mr. Shiel Barry, will appear as "Rory O'More" in Lover's romantic three-act drama of that name. Miss Denin will appear as "Kathleen," Miss Cogswell as "Mary," Mrs. Rea as "Betty," Mr. Oreeble as "De Weiskin," Mr. Marden as "De Lacy," Mr. Thorne as "Shaun Dhu," Mr. Rea as "Soldering Solomon."

The performance will commence with the beautiful one-act drama of "Devotion," Mr. Barry appearing as "Dermod," Mr. Sawtelle as "Lieut. Cleveland," Mr. Marden as "Julian Estcourt," Mr. Thorne as "Dr. Drysdale," Miss Denin as "Mrs. Ada Cleveland," Miss Adams as "Emily."

Mr. Barry is well spoken of by the English, Irish, Scotch, New York, California, and Australian papers.

Scratched.—A soldier, named Frank Harden, whose face was plowed all over with big scratches, was before the police judge this morning. He had obtained a meal at a restaurant and refused to pay for it, when a scuffle ensued between him and the proprietor of the eating house, and that was the way in which he got his face plowed. For being inebriated, attempting to cheat the restaurant man and having a plowed face, which had a harrowing look, he was fined $10.

Rain, a little last night.

An Old Hand. — Lou Cohn is young and hardened, having had numbers of similar previous interviews with Justice Clinton to that which he had this morning, when he was fined $25 for stealing blankets.

Free Lecture.— A free lecture will be delivered to-morrow night at the 6th Ward school house, under the auspices of the 5th and 6th Wards Young Men's Instructive Association; subject — "Human Character."

Blanket Stealing.—Wm. Bowden is an ungrateful fellow. He had no place to sleep. He communicated this fact to a man who took him in as a bedfellow. In return for this kindness he stole his benefactor's blankets and sold them for $2.50. This morning he was fined $25, which he will work out upon the streets.

Fine Lithographic Likeness. — Messrs. Campbell and Patterson, the enterprising booksellers and stationers of this City, have had that excellent Indian ink portrait of President B. Young, by B. K. Bornemann, lithographed, a copy of the picture being now before us. For a lithograph it is very good, doing justice to Mr. Bornemann's production.

The lithographs are sold at $10 each, without frame, and $22 framed.

What's the Time? — A man named George W. Wheeler stole a cloak from the retail grocery department of Z. C. M. I. This morning he was arrested and fined $25. When taken to the City Hall he put on airs as well as a look of sublime innocence that was really affecting. He said he was a type setter and an honest man. He is also suspected of having stolen some goods from the store of Blumenthal Brothers. The latter have lost quite a large number of articles from their store lately, which have been stolen. It is probable that the police will be able to trace up the thief or thieves.

Beaver.—The Beaver Enterprise of Nov. 25th contains the decisions of Judge Boreman, who had been hearing testimony, as an examining magistrate in the case of the shooting and killing of John Howarth on the 2nd day of October. The examination lasted nearly four days. Messrs. Riddle and Porter were discharged, it having been proved conclusively that they had nothing to do with the shooting. Messrs. Oakden and Farnsworth were held in $4,000 bonds, although the Judge admitted, in his decision, that the evidence against them was weak; that the probabilities of their guilt were not strong; but he was not positively convinced of their innocence.

Shooting.— On Saturday night three soldiers, who were in the third circle of the Theatre, made a disturbance during the performance. Two of them came towards the doorkeeper of that part of the house and one of them struck him, knocking him down, and also struck at another man as they went down stairs. One of them had a dirk, and another showed a pistol. They were followed down stairs by Mr. John Howard, who informed two special policemen of what had occurred—Messrs. Leaker and McKay. The two latter went towards the man who showed the pistol, to arrest him, when he ran northwards, up First East street, pursued by Messrs. Leaker and McKay, and subsequently one or two of the regular police. When the ruffian was about opposite Dr. Sprague's residence, he turned and fired a couple of shots at his pursuers, but nobody was hit, one of the bullets, however, passing through the skirt of Mr. McKay's coat. He struck eastward along South Temple St., turning into the walled enclosure at the gap near Mr. Conrad's house. Here Mr. McKay was close upon him when the fellow turned and fired again, the ball grazing the side of Mr. McKay's head. Before he could fire again Mr. M. knocked the pistol up and the bullet went upwards into the air. He started again still hotly pursued, going northwest, inside the wall, and finally escaped in the vicinity of President Young's saw mill.

The same man was in town yesterday, dressed in citizen's clothes, when he was arrested and placed in jail.

Rowdies. — Yesterday, between the Hot Springs and this City, there was a wagon load of boys, from fourteen years of age and upwards, who behaved in a manner more becoming barbarians or savages than young people who are supposed to be civilized. They hooted and yelled at people in passing vehicles, pulled and tore each other about, whipped up the mules attached to their wagon, driving the poor dumb brutes nearly wild, then they would stop and wheel, wait till another vehicle came up to shout and hollow at its occupants. It was, to say the least, a humiliating as well as disgraceful spectacle to see such conduct either on the Sabbath or any other day. This is only one among numerous instances of the same kind. Numbers of fast young fellows who are endeavoring to ape the vices instead of seeking to emulate the virtues of some older people, go out of the City in vehicles on Sundays, some going down the State Road, others to the mouth of Parley's, and some again, like those alluded to, in the Hot Springs direction, and all apparently attracted to one kind of centre—to places where beer and other intoxicating beverages are sold.

Even men and women who should be exemplars to the rising generation, instead of stumbling-blocks in the way of their progress in the paths of virtue, spend occasional Sabbaths in this way. If such conduct should be condemned in the youth, what shall be said if it when manifested by those whose duty it is to show the young a good example?

The proprietors of those drinking places which are thus resorted to should either be compelled to conform to the law with regard to selling liquor on Sundays or be made to close their establishments altogether.

Thanks from Edward W. Tullidge.

Editor Deseret News:

Permit me, through your journal, to return my sincere thanks for the generous patronage extended to me in the first presentations of "Oliver Cromwell." I am also under many obligations to the management of the Theatre, and deem it my duty to return special thanks to Mr. Vinson, to whose artistic direction my play owes much of its success. I am grateful to Messrs. Sawtelle, Marden, Thorne, Crosbie, Rea and Dudley; indeed to every member of the company, for each one showed an uncommon sincerity in the performance. To Miss Kate Denin, for her fine "Lady Fairfax," I am indebted beyond the expression of mere words; also to Miss Adams, Miss Cogswell, Mrs. Crosbie and Mrs. Rea for their effective and artistic renditions of their parts.

I further owe obligations to the following gentlemen:—Mr. Charles J. Thomas, leader of the orchestra, for his fine selection of music and excellent performance by himself and associates; Mr. Tirrel, for scenic effects, Mr. Edward Callister, the costumer, and also the stage carpenter and his associates.

In conclusion, I beg to tender my heartfelt thanks to the members of the press generally for their cordial support and favorable notices.

Respectfully,
EDWARD W. TULLIDGE.

Fire—Burned to Death—Murder.

SAN FRANCISCO, 1.—A fire today, in Pacific St., destroyed the Atlantic Hotel and several other buildings. Charles Allen, a guest at the hotel, was burned to death.

Yesterday, near Elko, Nev., Jno. Davis shot and instantly killed S.S. Hedge. Thomas Brown, Davis' brother-in-law, a mere boy, thereupon drew a revolver and shot Davis through the head, killing him instantly, and then made his escape. Domestic trouble in Davis' family was the cause. Hedge had tried to induce Mrs Davis to leave her husband and live with him.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Fight With the Ashantees—Bombardment of Carthagena.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Dispatches from Cape Coast Castle report another engagement with the Ashantees near Durgust, at which forty Englishmen and native auxiliaries were killed and wounded. The Ashantees boldly attacked the British position at Abbracrampta, but were driven off after an hour's fight, with a loss of thirty. The British were protected by field works, and their loss was trifling.

Special dispatches to the morning papers report that the bombardment of Carthagena was continued on Saturday. There is great distress among non-combatants, who have taken refuge in the suburbs. The city is filled with wounded. Seventeen houses and the principal hospital have been distroyed. The government fleet remains inactive outside the harbor.

A Dreadful Calamity.

The ship Tri-mountain from New York, arrived at Cardiff early this morning with intelligence of a dreadful disaster to the steam ship Ville De Havre, which left New York Nov. 15th, for Havre, commanded by Captain Surmont. At 2 o'clock on the morning of the 23d, the Ville De Havre came in collision with the British ship Lochere, from London, for New York, and sank shortly after. Two hundred and twenty-six of the passengers of the Ville De Havre were lost. The Tri-mountain saved eighty-seven and brought them to Cardiff.

WEST INDIES.

Havana Excited.

HAVANA, 30.—The news of the settlement of the Virginius question between Spain and the United States, and the terms upon which it is based, was received here with much excitement. Perfect order prevails among the people and volunteers. The chief authorities of the island assembled in conference, and sent a manifesto to the Spanish government, asking it to wait until it shall have received the protocol about the Virginius case, which shows the right of capture and the justice of the subsequent proceedings. The mass of the people oppose the surrender of the Virginius or any yielding to pretensions which may dishonor the Spanish flag. The tone of the press is in accordance with the popular feeling. Extraordinary means and resources are being created to resist any aggressive act, although thinking people do not expect it, knowing the prudence of the American government.

Fire, Murder and Suicide.

ALTA, 1st.—About half-past 5 o'clock last evening the house of Madame Miller, of Alta, was discovered to be on fire. The house was consumed to the ground, but the flames spread no further. After the fire was got under control the remains of two human bodies, burned and charred in a horrible manner were taken from the smoking debris, the heads, legs and arms burned off. One was supposed to be the body of Madame Annie E. Miller, the other of Captain Mat. Hart, both well known characters. It is supposed that Captain Hart, who lived with the madame, killed her and set fire to the house and then shot himself. They had been quarrelling during the day. An inquest is being held on the bodies before Justice W. G. Mills.
