The Mandamus Proceedings.—The court proceedings in the mandamus cases monopolize most of our available space to-day, to the exclusion of other matter.

The Report.—The excellent report of the arguments in the mandamus cases that has appeared in News, was the reportorial work of Brothers George F. Gibbs and John Irvine.

Brought to Town.—The young man Craik, arrested by Marshal Fowler, of Lehi, charged with purloining goods from Mr. Keeler's photograph gallery, was brought to town last night.

Primary Conference and Fair.—Sisters E. R. S. Smith and Z. D. H. Young went to Provo this morning to attend the Primary conference and fair of Utah Stake. They expect to return this evening.

Books and Papers. — Brother Ernest S. Penrose will start on a trip south, on Monday, taking with him a stock of Church publications for sale, and will also solicit subscriptions for the NEWS and Juvenile Instructor.

The California Excursion.—The posters and newspaper notices are out for the proposed excursion to California under the direction of Messrs. Riggs and Snell. The company will visit Sacramento, San Francisco, San Jose, Santa Cruz, Pajaro, Monterey, Los Angeles, and other places. The tickets for the round trip are placed at $35.00, children under 12 years half fare. The party will leave Ogden Dec. 28.

Nearly a Fire.—At a late hour last night, Mr. Younger, connected with the Germania works, discovered smoke issuing from one of the rooms on the third floor of the Deseret Bank Block. He promptly notified nightwatchman Watson, who soon reached the premises, broke in the door and found a box containing ashes, all ablaze. He carried the burning mass down stairs to the street, and what might have culminated in a disaster was prevented.

Another Singing Class.—Brother J. Stephens will start his third (and last juvenile) singing class next Monday afternoon, at the Council House, 125 boys and 75 girls will have the chance of joining. This is just what our boys need. Let them learn to sing and read music. A recommend from their Sunday School Superintendent or Teacher is desired, in addition to the usual admission fee, 75 cents for 13 lessons.

Produce Market. — Agricultural products are all in good demand in this market, prices firm. The following are the present ruling wholesale rates.

Wheat finds ready sale at 90c. to $1 per bushel. This year's crop is lacking in quality, the most of it having ripened before it was fully matured, hence it is not so full and plump; consequently will not give as great a yield in milling. It is not anticipated to advance much past present figures.

Oats are active at $1.85 to $2 per cental. Although a greater acreage was sown this past season, the demand exceeds the supply, and importations will have to be resorted to.

Corn is so little grown that the greater bulk has to be brought from Eastern markets, which control the local price.

Barley is not much used by stock men, hence is but seldom called for.

Hay is now selling at $14 per ton, an advance over last season's rate; a somewhat less crop having been cut, and a larger amount being fed to beef cattle is the cause.

Lucern now rates at $10 per ton, about same as previous season, with a good supply and steady demand.

Potatoes are generally of excellent quality and slow sale at 40 cents per bushel. There is no demand for them from outside markets, the high rates of freight both east and west, precluding their shipment at present. Increased railroad competition may possibly be of advantage another season, in disposing of the surplus "murphies." At present the outlook is, however, blue.

Eggs are scarce, and now frequently enquired for at 30 cents a dozen.

WOOLEN MANUFACTURES.

The following was included in a report to Zion's Central Board of Trade, the first portion of which, on "Wool," was published yesterday:

We are sorry to report the manufacture of woolen goods in Utah at a low ebb. Wasatch and Brigham City mills having done nothing in 1882, some other mills report doing very little.

We estimate the production of the woolen mills of Utah for 1881 as follows:

Stocking Yarn	$ 40,000
Flannels	110,000
Linsey and Repellants	75,000
Cassimeres or Quiltings	45,000
Blankets	26,000
Shawls	4,000
Total production	$300,000

Consumption of wool about 650,000 pounds.

We find that most mills ran on low grade goods, which do not pay so well as higher grades. The character of the goods manufactured we find to be quite creditable, although some improvement is still needed.

We find also that no one mill in Utah has a working capital sufficient to run them over six months in the year, and much loss is thereby sustained, as it is impossible to keep a well trained corps of workmen together unless they can be constantly employed.

Utah needs more capital and skill infused into her woolen industries, and when our railroads are all built and we settle down to 6 or 8 per cent. per annum, capitalists will turn their attention more to manufacturing.

Utah has need of all her productive energies and she can only succeed by producing articles whose quality and price will command the attention of buyers and consumers.

One thing is noticeable by all well informed dry goods men, and that is that Utah woolens are not so highly finished as imported goods, but that they are honest wool, as Utah has no shoddy appliances as yet.

Your committee find that those mills which ran the most regularly are those which find the quickest sale for their goods, as they are kept constantly before the public.

There should be a well directed and well sustained effort to place the woolen interest of Utah on a proper footing, the two greatest needs being capital and skill.

There are 19 sets of woolen machinery in Utah, whose annual production is valued at about $300,000, and it should not be less than $750,000. This deficiency is mostly owing to want of capital to drive them. Each 48 inch set of woollen machinery should not have less than $12,000 behind it in working capital; that is the rule in the East, and it cannot be well done with less than that amount.

Respectfully submitted,
A. O. SMOOT,
H. B. CLAWSON,
JAMES DUNN.

OBITUARY.

George Washington Edwards was born July 8, 1834, in Adams County, Illinois; he died in Panaca, Sept. 28, 1882, of general debility, superinduced by a long siege of internal neuralgia, from which he suffered severely during the last 15 years.

He was an active pioneer in his younger days. Having arrived in Utah some thirty years ago, along with his father, Esaias Edwards, they went to Tooele and settled, there being few settlers who had preceded them. It is only those early settlers who can fully realize the amount of privation and hardship that were endured. While he was a resident of Tooele County he was ordained a member of the Forty-third Quorum of Seventies.

In the month of April, 1859, he was married in Salt Lake city to Electra Jane Lee, daughter of Francis C. and Jane V. Lee, from thence the young couple started on their marriage journey to Cache Valley, there to make a home for themselves, which place was then beginning to come to the front as being a desirable location to settle in.

In Wellsville the arduous labors of making a home were passed through, two little strangers of the male sex were added to their number, when in the fall of 1862 they were called to proceed to Utah's Dixie to strengthen the cords of that Stake in the stupendous undertaking of converting the dry desert and the alkali bottoms to fruitful fields. Having resided in the Clara settlement about a year, he with a few others was called to move to Clover Valley and locate a settlement. The brethren leaving their families, proceeded to fill their mission, built houses and made other necessary improvements preparatory to moving their families in the following spring. The hardy pioneers of Clover Valley experienced many troubles and hardships from the Indians surrounding them, and what with guarding property, watching and fighting Indians, the constitution of the deceased was greatly injured and seeds of disease were sown which have now resulted in the destruction of the life of the body.

In the fall of 1865, he and family moved to Panaca, Meadow Valley — Francis C. Lee and family having located there the year previous. Here he made another home and found rest and opportunity to pursue the quiet avocations of life. He was a kind husband and watchful father, taking great interest in the welfare of his family. Eight children have been born to him, seven of whom survive. The four elder boys are well grown and fully able to attend to the interests of their mother and the rest of the family. They are well disposed young men and give great promise of becoming good and honorable citizens.

Sometime previous to his death Brother Edwards felt satisfied that his dissolution was fast approaching, but, like all others who have the faith of the fullness of the Gospel death had no terrors, he talked placidly of the change and realized that he only passed the veil a little before many of his associates here, and looked forward in full faith to the realization of that glorious meeting with wife, children and friends in the glorious hereafter, when mortality will be swallowed up in immortality and eternal life.

The last rites of esteem were appropriately attended to by a large concourse of our citizens, and his remains were quietly laid away to await a glorious resurrection.—COM.
