

the latter and after getting their spiritual eyes open, enquiring if there are many here who are breaking the law in the marriage relation.

There will be a little excitement here to-day in the justice's court, owing to trouble between two of the D. & R. G. employees. It appears that a bad feeling had existed for some time against a Mr. Marsh, agent of this place, in consequence it is thought, of his having made complaints against some of the employees.

A letter was sent a short time ago by Captain Hawley, detective of the D. & R. G. to Mr. Bancroft, the receiver of the road, complaining of Mr. Marsh having sent five sacks of coal to his father at Lower Crossing, which he had reason to believe had been picked up around the coal sheds at Price and forwarded by rail without any freight having been paid; also that he (Mr. Marsh) had been using the company's tools on his ranch—a place in care of his father at the Lower Crossing. The said letter was returned to Mr. Marsh to answer, to which he replied denying its correctness and showing his accounts to prove to the contrary; also stating that the charges had been made from malice.

Captain Hawley came to the depot on Saturday, went into the office of Mr. Marsh, forcibly took possession of the office without showing papers for his authority, put Mr. Marsh out by the neck into the street and closed him out from his personal effects as well as from the company property.

Mr. Marsh complained to the justice of the peace of Captain Hawley having taken forcible possession of the office and the property in trust of the D. & R. G. Express Co., and his personal effects without showing cause or authority to do so.

Captain Hawley was arrested on Saturday night, and the examination will come off to-day at 5 p. m. Mr. Marsh and Mr. Hawley have both gone to procure attorneys, and we expect to be instructed in the magnitude of the law as to forcible entry and retainer without showing authority.

If this affair proves satisfactory to the saloon board we may try and get up something more interesting.

Yours, J. B.

PARTICULARS OF THE ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING OF HUNTSMAN.

KING EXONERATED BY THE CORONER'S JURY AND RELATIVES OF DECEASED.

FILLMORE, MILLARD CO., U. T.
Jan. 10th, 1885.

Editor Deseret News:

In justice to all parties concerned, and to prevent any misunderstanding, the following facts are submitted concerning the dreadful accident which deprived one of our young men, brother Joseph Alonzo Huntsman, of his life:

Early on Wednesday last, the 7th inst, six young men, viz Joseph Alonzo Huntsman, D. P. Callister, Wesley W. Dame, Chas. Mace, W. H. King and J. Hawley, with team, proceeded to the Cedar Mountain, to shoot rabbits. They had been out several hours, and considering it time to return, were all in the wagon except W. W. Dame (who had taken passage in another team) and were driving towards home when a rabbit was observed some little distance away to the left of the wagon. Brother J. A. Huntsman exclaimed, "shoot it!" Whereupon brother W. H. King and Jacob Hawley, who occupied the rear seat, arose to their feet and raised their guns to fire. Upon rising brother W. H. King said, "I will shoot." Simultaneously with the firing of the guns by the aforesaid, brother Huntsman, the deceased, raised to the level of the guns, inclining his body to the left, and the charge from the gun held by W. H. King struck the side of his head near to the centre blowing off a portion of the skull and leaving the brain exposed. Fragments of the scalp was subsequently found as far as two yards from the place where the accident happened.

This move on the part of J. A. Huntsman was unexpected, from the fact that he and another or two, having rifles, were to shoot such game as should be too far for the shot gunners and none other, such arrangements having been thoroughly understood.

The accident occurred early in the afternoon, and two hours later the unfortunate young man was brought home to his grief-stricken family unconscious, yet not quite dead. Hopes were entertained by some that his life might yet be saved; accordingly Dr. Pike, of Provo, was telegraphed to immediately, who took the evening train for Juab, and was there met by team and conveyed to Scipio, where horses were changed, and at midnight continued his journey. Arriving at Holden, he was met by a dispatch to the effect that his services were not needed, as the young man had died at 8.30 p. m.

As soon after life had become extinct as a jury could be empanelled, a coroner's inquest was held over the remains, and following is a transcript of the VERDICT OF THE JURY.

We the jury empanelled and sworn, examined into the cause of the death of Joseph Alonzo Huntsman, before us there lying dead, do find and present, that the deceased came to his death by the accidental discharge of a gun, in the hands of William H. King, on January 7th, 1885, in the county of Millard, Territory of Utah, and furthermore we find that no censure or blame is attached to the aforesaid Wm. H. King.

On Friday, at 12:30, the funeral services were held in the Fillmore Meeting House, the room being packed to its utmost capacity. Several Elders made remarks calculated to enlarge the heart, lift up the drooping spirits and comfort with hope the sorrowing relatives and friends. Previous to the funeral the wife, parents, brothers, sisters, and other relatives had signed the following resolutions, which were read by Bishop Smith to the meeting and adopted by unanimous vote:

RESOLUTIONS OF EXONERATION OF BROTHER W. H. KING.

FILLMORE, Jan. 9th, 1885.

Whereas, our much respected brother and esteemed friend, W. H. King, was the one whose hands held the fatal gun, the discharge of which deprived our deceased husband, brother and son, Joseph Alonzo Huntsman of his life; and

Whereas we appreciate the deep sorrow and constant regret occasioned the said Brother W. H. King, because of the said unfortunate accident: Therefore, we the undersigned upon this public occasion wish to offer the following:

Resolved, That Brother W. H. King is entirely and indisputably blameless in this most unfortunate affair.

Such being the case we continue to extend to him the same feelings of respect and friendship we have heretofore entertained towards him, and in our bereavement do not forget to extend to him our heartfelt sympathy at the deep distress occasioned him by this sad accident.

J. H. HOLBROOK, uncle.
L. HOLBROOK, uncle.
MRS. M. W. RAY, mother-in-law.
W. A. RAY, brother-in-law.
JOS. E. RAY, brother-in-law.

A large concourse of people in 26 vehicles followed the remains to the grave, and amid the tears and sobs of many people the last sad rites were performed which consigned a good young man to his last resting place.

Brother Joseph Alonzo Huntsman was born January 14th, 1862, in Fillmore, Utah. He was the third son of Gabriel and Eunis Huntsman. After attaining his majority he seemed desirous of informing himself morally and intellectually, and latterly was studying with a view to becoming a useful member of society. He frequently expressed a wish that he might soon be called on a mission, as by such labors his qualifications for usefulness might be increased. He was a kind and tender husband, and possessed many qualities of heart and brain that endeared him to hosts of friends.

Besides a large circle of immediate relatives, Brother Huntsman left a wife of tender years and delicate health to mourn his loss. It is to be hoped that He who is a husband to the widow and a Father to the fatherless will pour the balm of healing into her wounded and bleeding heart.

It is but just and proper in concluding this article to set forth the generous, prompt and noble parts enacted by men of all classes and conditions, irrespective of party, sect or creed, during the terrible hours of trial which disqualified the family of the deceased from acting in their own behalf. Telegrams were sent and teams promptly forwarded for the physician, and driven too, without regard to horseflesh; and our riders flew like the wind to other settlements north, to arrange for proper changes of horses to convey the physician with all speed to the scene of trouble. Funeral arrangements in all their details were also thoughtfully considered, planned and carried into effect. In short, all things were done that good earnest thoughtful men and women could devise to all eviate the sorrow of the living and lovingly put to rest the dead.

Respectfully,

NEPHI PRATT,
CHR. ANDERSON.

CONSUMPTION.

IMPORTANT TO THE PUBLIC AS WELL AS THE MEDICAL PROFESSION.

Hall's Journal of Health, referring to consumption, makes the following important statement:

"Consumption usually begins with a slight, dry cough in the morning, then on going to bed, getting more and more frequent, with more and more phlegm, increasing debility, thinness of flesh, shortness of breath and quickness of pulse. In fatal cases its average course is about two years; hence the importance of arresting the disease at as early a stage as possible, and the sooner rational means are employed for this purpose the greater the chance of success. The disease is owing to an irritation commencing in the throat and extending to the lungs, so that their action is interfered with, and the blood does not receive sufficient oxygen to purify it. The most marked sign of lung disease is emaciation: and the most positive indication of returning health is increase in weight.

So speaks Hall's Journal of Health, and we may add that in desperate cases, and, in fact, in all cases of Consumption, or troubles of the throat and lungs, immediate relief may be obtained and a permanent cure effected by the use of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the lungs, a medicine known for more than 35 years as an unfailing remedy for coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary and pectoral diseases. That the worst cases of Consumption have been cured by the use of Hall's Balsam has been attested to by the thousands who have used it, or have been cognizant of its wonderful remedial efficacy.

J. H. Semple, of St. Paul, traveling for Lanpher, Artch & Skinner, was found dead in his bed this morning. He is supposed to have died of apoplexy.
