

JEFFRIES COMING TO SALT LAKE

Will Give an Exhibition of His Prowess on the 14th.

HE WILL MEET FITZSIMMONS

No Local Matches Have Been Arranged For by Manager McNamee of the Athletic Club.

Unless the plans of Champion James J. Jeffries are changed, the great fighter will arrive in Salt Lake the latter part of next week and entertain local sporting men with an exhibition of his skill with the padded mitts.

Yesterday J. R. Egan, the champion's advance agent arrived here, and at once consulted Manager Jack McNamee of the Salt Lake Athletic club, relative to Jeffries' appearance. Although no definite arrangements have as yet been made, it is understood that an entertainment will be billed for the night of the 14th.

At present Jeffries is at Los Angeles visiting with friends but will soon start for the East accompanied by his manager, Billy Delaney, and his brother, Jack Jeffries. From Salt Lake they will go to Cheyenne and then to Denver. After a few days' rest in Colorado metropolis they will then proceed to New York. An effort will then be made to clinch the proposed match with "Doc" Fitzsimmons. It is understood that Fitz is anxious to meet the champion in February, and the latter says he will willingly accommodate him at any convenient time or place.

If Jeffries shows here, some interesting preliminaries will be arranged for and every body will be made to make the event a huge success. As there is no local boxer who could make any kind of a showing with the big brawler, he will in all probability box with his brother Jack.

JEFFRIES DECLINES.

Says He Will Meet No More Colored Men.

Discussing Champion James J. Jeffries' decision to meet no more colored men in the prize ring, Otto Flato in the Denver Post says:

It's come to pass James J. Jeffries has drawn the "color line." In his reply to Billy Madison, when the latter challenged the champion on behalf of his latest meat ticket, "Denver" Ed Martin, Billy Delaney replied that Jeffries would not in the future meet colored men. This is certainly an amusing view of the fact that Jeffries has in the past tackled three colored men of Ham, viz: Peter Jackson, Bob Armstrong and Hank Griffin. Delaney on the other hand makes his excuse that the battles with the men referred to were not of championship caliber. And then goes on to state that Jeff's reason for not tackling the colored men is that in case of defeat the American public would have to "bow down low" before a coon. What's the difference provided the coon delivers the goods. In a so-called war there might be some objection, but when it comes to the game of upper-cuts and cross-counters, if a colored man is capable of winning the championship we ought to submit to it. George Dixon was the champion for many years and we can't say that the American public suffered any inconveniences through that fact. Of course we can't blame Jeffries for refusing to fight Martin. Why should he? What has Martin done to entitle him to a match with the champion. Bob Armstrong knocked Martin out with ease when he met him in a prize ring in New York a few years ago. Martin has not wiped out that defeat. Armstrong is now in San Francisco, and why should it not be a good plan to make this pair? But that is not according to Madden's liking. A losing end against Jeffries would amount to far more than a winning end in a match with Armstrong. It is hard to see, however, how Jeffries is going to be able to "bar coons" in the future in view of the fact that he has already fought three of them. Champions, however, are strange creatures and make the rules to suit themselves. Sullivan drew the color line but he adhered strictly to the same from the start of his career in the ring. John L. never fought a colored man in the ring. Jeffries has fought three. That's where the difference comes in between this pair. They ought to look all alike to the champion. Yet it seems they don't.

FOOTBALL AT MURRAY.

Diamond Buckers Easily Defeated The Smelter Town Team.

The Diamond Buckers of Salt Lake and the Murray team met on the gridiron at the smelter town yesterday afternoon and although the Murrayites had all the better of it in the matter of weight, the little fellows put it all over them, and did not quit until they had run up a score of 21 to nothing.

The big fellows had the locals badly scared until they got fairly into the game and then it began to look different. The Buckers were quick and sure and played rings around their opponents. The teams lined up as follows:

STEWARDS DECISION.

Foreign Crews May Compete in the Regattas They Say.

London, Dec. 1.—The decision of the Henley stewards to admit foreign crews to the regattas receives much attention from the Sunday papers. A Cambridge man writing to the Sunday Times says: "The feature of American life which Dickens caricatured as dead. The typical American is keenly anxious to excel. It is the Henley grand cup the Americans want to win, and it is the grand cup we take pride in defending. It is the severest test of pluck and endurance to be found in the country, and if we are to battle with crews from over the seas let us continue to meet them where the crowning qualities of seamanship are most effectively displayed."

THE INTERMOUNTAIN LEAGUE.

Enthusiastic Meeting Held at Helena—Proposition Thoroughly Discussed.

In all probability Helena will have a league baseball team in the field next season. An enthusiastic meeting of baseball enthusiasts was held in the office of W. E. Phillips, in the Montana bank building, last night.

mountain league, which it is proposed to have consist of Salt Lake, Ogden, Pocatello, Helena and Butte and possibly Great Falls. Letters from the president of the Ogden club, and from the secretary of the Salt Lake team, were read, and the letters spoke highly of having Helena and Butte join the league.

Another letter was received from the Oregon Short Line, offering a 1-cent mile rate to the proposed league. After much discussion a committee was appointed to confer with the Salt Lake and Ogden clubs and arrange terms and dividends of the league if effected. The prospect of having a league consisting of Helena, Butte, Great Falls and Spokane was also discussed, and should the terms of the intermountain league prove satisfactory it is quite likely that the above league will materialize. Spokane has already signified her acceptance of a place in this league, if it is carried out—Helena independent.

MAJOR YOUNG'S LECTURE.

Interesting Talk at Twenty-Second Ward Upon Philippines.

There was a splendid attendance at the Twenty-second ward meeting house last evening on the occasion of a lecture by Major Richard W. Young upon the Philippines. In addition there were several excellent musical features which combined to make the evening an interesting one. The ex-soldier was listened to attentively and by the time he had concluded his address his audience was decidedly better posted upon the latest of Uncle Sam's possessions.

After giving the brief history of the discovery and development of the islands by the Spanish, a dissertation upon the climate, habits, customs of the Malays, and the sixty-three languages which were spoken on the archipelago, Major Young proceeded to expatiate upon the resources of the country. In this sequence he touched upon the hemp, sugar, tobacco and timber resources, all of which he said were in the kindergarten stage of development, and prophesied that just as soon as the islands were opened up to the world, the speaker in summing up stated that the average Filipino was a treacherous native, but he was a lover of music, so much so that there was scarcely a town on the islands that did not possess a band or an orchestra, while in every city that had been entered by the troops there were in evidence in the biggest houses. In the opinion of Major Young the great problem before the rulers on the islands was the Chinese question, and should the author too let down the bars to the almond-eyed oriental he said that it would cause a great deal of trouble and that the friends there.

PINEY WOODS.

Healthful but Not Always Curative.

To go to the piney woods is a help, but if one carries along the bad habits of food and drink that have caused sickness, the piney woods will not produce a recovery.

Coffee drinking caused blindness in a Virginia gentleman, and his remarkable experience is worth reading. "I have been a coffee drinker since my earliest years. If I missed coffee at a meal it brought on headache. This should have shown me that I was a victim to a drug habit. Finally, wakeful, restless nights came on. After dinner I was always drowsy and after sleeping would waken stupid and morbid, and felt as though I had been drugged, and when this feeling wore off nervousness and restlessness would set in until I drugged myself with coffee again.

At last my eyesight began to fail. Some of the best optical specialists agreed that I had an affection of the optic nerve, and after two or three years' treatment my eyes slowly lost their power and I became almost sightless.

I was advised to go to a pine woods near the sea in a most isolated place. This I did and lived there for two years without any visible benefit. I gave up all hope of recovery until I fell Spring a friend expressed the belief that the coffee I drank was the cause of all my trouble. He had been a slave to it and had been unable to read or write. My mind is once more clear and active, and I no longer suffer from sleeplessness, nervous spells. I was always a free trader for my restoration." W. Harold Penton, Brighton, Va.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA.

A CURE FOR IT.

Not a Patent Cure-All, Nor a Modern Miracle, but Simply a Rational Cure for Dyspepsia.

In these days of humbug and deception, the manufacturers of patent medicines, as a rule, seem to think their medicines will not sell unless they claim that it will cure every disease under the sun. And they never think of leaving out dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They are sure to claim that their nostrum is absolutely certain to cure every dyspeptic and he need look no further.

In the face of these absurd claims it is refreshing to note that the proprietors of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have carefully refrained from making untrue claims or false representations regarding the merits of this most excellent remedy for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They make but one claim for it, and that is, that it is a rational cure for all the various stomach troubles, chronic or nervous dyspepsia, who they go no farther than this and any man or woman suffering from indigestion, chronic or nervous dyspepsia, who will give the remedy a trial will find that nothing is claimed for it that the facts will not fully sustain.

It is no modern discovery, composed of harmless vegetable ingredients acceptable to the weakest or most delicate stomach. Its great success in curing stomach troubles is due to the fact that the medical properties are such that it will digest whatever wholesome food is taken into the stomach, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. It rests the overworked organ and replenishes the body, the blood, the nerves, creating a healthy appetite, gives refreshing sleep and the blessings which always accompany good digestion and proper assimilation of food.

In using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets no dieting is required. Simply eat plenty of wholesome food and take the tablets after each meal, thus assisting and resting the stomach which rapidly regains its proper digestive power, when the Tablets will be no longer required.

Nervous Dyspepsia is simply a condition in which some portion or portions of the nervous system are not properly nourished. Good digestion invigorates the nervous system and every organ in the body.

Any druggist will tell you Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give universal satisfaction.

Americans already had among the influential Filipinos would all desert, as the Chinaman on the islands even should not go native when it comes to the maximum amount of work for the minimum wage.

DEATH OF "BILLY" VAUGHN

Well Known Cyclist Passes Away—He Had Been Married Only Six Weeks.

Relapsed After Partially Recovering From a Siege of Typhoid Fever Cuts Short His Career.

William B. Vaughn, or "Billy," as the public knew him, died yesterday at his home in this city of typhoid fever. It was known that he had been sick with that dreaded disease, but the cheering word was passed around last week that he was recovering. The hopes of his friends were raised and his devoted young wife thought her prayers had surely been answered, but on Saturday, "Billy" suffered one of those deadly relapses which soon ended his struggle for life. It seems a grim irony that one so strong and full of the buoyancy of youth should fall so suddenly before the withering blight of disease.

Last season "Billy" Vaughn was the most popular man on the saucer track. His speed was not of that brilliant lightning-like class of John's Chapman's first season here, or of Iver Lawson, but his riding was fast and even. When he was on his wheel he gave one the impression of an eagle in its greatest strength. His legs seemed incapable of weariness and he forged around the track mile after mile keeping up the same high speed. The crowd at the track was quick to see the "dirty" work of a rider and equally as quick to show their appreciation of that rider the feats of his disappearance. But "Billy" was not a quitter. He was a fighter. So far as is known he was never associated with a trade or low scheme of any kind. He went upon the track with a clear conscience and a clear head, and the public knew that so far as he was concerned the riding was clean and for that reason "Honest Billy" always received applause in victory and sympathy in defeat.

His professional record is clean and his brief matrimonial career is pathetic. Last summer he rode into the affections of Miss Colton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Colton, of 109 Fifth East street. Six weeks ago they were married at the home of the bride's parents. Dr. Talmage performed the ceremony. The fever was even then upon "Billy," and it was an effort for him to stand on his feet during the brief ceremony. Immediately after the wedding the young couple moved to their home, 255 and Ninth South street. The young husband took to his bed, and the girl who had given him her heart and taken his name waited upon him with that devoted only a woman can show to the man she loves. But it was all in vain. The devotees of the saucer track will long miss "Billy" Vaughn. Quiet and humble in his demeanor, but full of grit and determination, respectable in his daily life and clean in his habits, his taking off removed from the Salt Palace track one of its few ornaments.

William B. Vaughn would have been 27 years old had he lived until next Saturday. He was born in Paysonville, Missouri, and moved to California, with his parents about twelve years ago. He served his apprenticeship as a machinist and became an efficient workman. Four years ago he developed a strong liking for the bicycle race and at once became a formidable amateur. When the Salt Palace track opened he came here and the Salt Lake public is familiar with his record since that time. Last year he spent six months in Australia with John Chapman and Iver Lawson. On Aug. 33rd last he established a new world's record for ten miles unpaced. His time was 21:23.5, and he still stands. He was an ever rider of great strength. He never made any phenomenal sprints or fell below expectations. He had a clear head and quick eye which, coupled with his speed and strength, generally placed him among the three to finish first.

The time and place of the funeral will not be fixed until the man's father, A. C. Vaughn, of Olathe, near San Diego, has been heard from.

LAST TRIBUTE TO

DR. P. J. M'KENNA

St. Mary's Cathedral Thronged by Sorrowing Friends.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES.

Tributes of Flowers and Tears—Tender Words of Eulogy Spoken by Father Keenan.

A great throng of warm personal friends, who loved him in life and mourn him in death attended the funeral of Dr. Patrick J. McKenna yesterday afternoon. The services were held from the Catholic cathedral and were invested with all the tokens of love and esteem. The rich and the poor joined each other in their eagerness to get a seat inside the church, members of nearly every creed and no creed at all crowded together and forgot their differences in the contemplation of their common sorrow and their common loss. What better eulogy could be pronounced upon a man than in his taking off the hearts of the humble and the needy should feel the grief of a personal bereavement. That was the eloquent tribute to Dr. McKenna, which mingled with the fragrance of the beautiful flowers and the sweet melody of the solemn music.

The remains were encoined in a heavy oak casket and at 1:30 in the afternoon were borne from the Keogh-McKenna hospital to the cathedral. The long cortege was headed by the military police and followed by the military band, which played a solemn dirge throughout the length of the slow and mournful march. The church could only contain about one half of the throng that gathered for the funeral, but many remained on the outside until the services were over.

The air of the cathedral was redolent with the perfume of flowers which were scattered around the casket in great profusion. They were tributes from the physicians of the city, the various fraternal organizations of which Dr. McKenna was a member and from many private individuals.

Rev. Father Keenan, delivered a eulogy over his departed friend and brother. It was a striking sermon and dealt with the character of the deceased in language of love and earnestness. "He was every man's friend," concluded the speaker, "and every man his friend. He had not an enemy in the world."

The music was as beautiful as it was appropriate and consisted of "Nearer, My God, to Thee," "Angels Ever and Forever," and "Lead, Kindly Light," by the choir.

The casket was opened at the hospital to give a few of the intimate friends the privilege to take a last look at the deceased. The pall-bearers were Doctors Wilcher, Fisher, Whitney, S. Ewing, Benedict and Baldwin. A long train of carriages followed the remains to the cemetery, where they were interred after a prayer offered by Rev. Keenan.

ELKS' MEMORIAL SERVICE.

In Honor of Dead Brothers—Judge Powers Delivers Eulogy.

The New Grand theater was filled to its capacity last night, the occasion being the annual memorial services held by the Elks in honor of their members who have died. An air of sadness pervaded the assembly due to the most part to the laying to rest of Dr. McKenna, who had participated in but a few hours before.

Judge Powers delivered the eulogy, and especially well received were the "William Tell" overture, and selections from "The Trovatore" and "Lucia Lamermoor" by Held's band. The musical honors of the evening were, however, carried off gracefully by Will R. Sibley, whose rendition of "The Holy City" was as fine as was ever heard here.

James Leary spoke with fervor on "Our Organization and the service rendered by the audience singing, "Nearer, My God to Thee," led by Held's band. Dr. Thacher of the Unitarian society acted as chaplain.

Had a Good Time. A. J. Snell wanted to attend a party, but was afraid to do so on account of pains in his stomach, which he feared would grow worse. He says: "I was telling my troubles to a lady friend, who said: 'Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy will put you in condition for the party. Take a bottle and take pleasure in stating that two doses cured me and enabled me to have a good time at the party.' Mr. Snell is a resident of Sumner Hill, N. Y. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

One of the most delightful events of last week was the musicale given by Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Whitney on Saturday evening, as a farewell gathering of the principals in "The Wedding Day."

The program comprised vocal solos by Miss Perrin, Miss Clark, Mr. Goddard, Mr. Graham, from the opera, "The Merry Widow," and a quartet, "The Merry Widow," also sang several selections. Prof. McClellan playing the accompaniment. Outside of the opera numbers were several charming vocal selections by Miss Emma Lucy Gates and piano selections by Prof. McClellan and Miss Gates. After the program dainty refreshments were served, and the rest of the evening was devoted to social chat. The affair was distinguished by a delightful informality, which, with the musical program made it one long to be remembered by the present.

Miss Kate Wells has removed her studio to her residence, No. 323 Second street, where she still continues her work in coloring photographs.

The engagement of Miss May Thorne and Mr. R. D. Peacock is announced, the wedding to take place Dec. 29.

Dr. and Mrs. T. G. O'Neil are at home at 120 Twelfth East street.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McCune Jr. have sailed from New York for a European tour.

Mr. W. S. McCornick and his daughter, Mrs. A. H. Bird, left on Saturday for New York.

The Shakespearean reading, given by Mrs. Wm. Iglehart on Friday night was attended by a large number of people, who thoroughly enjoyed the entertainment provided by the talented reader. The selections were "The Merchant of Venice," and "The Taming of the Shrew."

Preceded by a paper on the immortal dramatist, and followed by an interesting description of the birthplace and home of Shakespeare by Miss Colburn, who has recently visited Stratford.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Naylor and child have arrived from Germany, where they have been spending the past year and a half. They are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McCune at the corner of Third and H streets.

Mrs. C. Stanley Price has returned from California.

Mrs. A. C. Ewing returned on Thursday from a month's visit in Kansas City.

Mrs. Ida L. Piper of Washington, D. C., is the guest of Mrs. Charles Higbee of the Fifth East hotel.

Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Ewing have removed from the Canyon to their home on Fifth East street.

The Home and Education section will formally present the works of art that have been hung in the corridor of the Jackson school to that school on December 5th, at 3:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited. The Jackson school is on First North street, between Sixth and Seventh West, and can be reached by the First South street car.

On Thanksgiving day a number of guests assembled at the residence of J. L. Brown, on Polson avenue, the occasion being the celebration of the 70th birthday of John Brown. About 3:30 p. m. thirty-seven guests sat down to partake of a sumptuous Thanksgiving dinner, after which an interesting program was rendered, consisting of songs, recitations, piano solos and speeches, all tending to reveal to the great grandfather the esteem and love which his family entertained for him. The guests left, wishing that the host might live and enjoy health and strength for another score of years.

One of the events of this week in which society will take considerable interest is the grand ball to be given by the Lady Macabees of Banner Hive No. 11, at Christensen's next Tuesday evening, December 3. The ladies expect to see a large number of their friends present on this occasion and promise a pleasant evening to everybody.
