DISCOURSE AT THE TABERNACLE

Elder C. W. Penrose Preaches Strong Gospel Sermon.

CONTINUOUS REVELATION.

Growth in Religious Thought Not Kept Pace With Material Advancement of the World.

The services in the Tabernacle yeserday afternoon, a feature of which was the presence of Queen Liliuokalani and party, were presided over by President Angus M. Cannon, and opened by the choir singing the hymn, "Though deepening trials throng your way ress on, press on, ye Saints of God." The opening prayer was offered by Elder William W. Cluff, and the services were continued by the rendition of the hymn: "Behold the Great Redeemer died a broken law to satisfy."

ELDER C. W. PENROSE delivered a comprehensive discourse which was listened to with rapt attention, especially by the royal party. Elder Penrose began by saying that the people were blessed greatly in living n a land of liberty, where men can express their sentiments without be ng arrested for heterodoxy; such freewas not enjoyed in all nations. He was happy in the privilege of being able to proclaim a religion which the Saints hold has been revealed from God in the latter days. The speaker then alluded to the wonderful imthen alluded to the wonderful im-provements of the age, but remarked that the material and intellectual ad-vancement had outrun religious prog-ress. This he ascribed to the deter-mination of the world to depend en-

Mr. Jed Earl and wife, Collinston, Mrs. A. Steele, American Fork. tirely upon ancient revelation and to ignore or reject all modern revelation. All the Protestant sects hold that book in the Bible was God's last revelation to man; that the canon of scripture is full, and there is no n further revelation. The Catholic hurch, while claiming the right to explain and interpret ancient scripture, does not pretend to have new revela-tion. The Latter-day Saints, while accepting the Bible containing the word of God, believe in continuous revelation. Elder Penrose proceeded to eulogize the Bible as an invaluable book, but maintained that it did not contain all the words of God to the people in ancient days, and quoted passages from various books in the scriptures referring clearly to inspired works that have not been included in the Bible. The Latter-day Saints believe, as the Bible teaches, namely, that God is yesterday, today and forever, and that the inhabitants of the earth are sons and daughters of the Eter-nal Father. All the people of the earth, therefore no matter of what race color are brothers and sisters. offspring of Deity. The Spirit of mar is a son of God." Christ was born in,o the world as a little child and He was the son of God. He was our brother in very deed, as He told the people when He was on earth. He tried to make it clear to the people that God was the father of all. He taught His disciples to pray, "Our Father, which art in Heaven," etc. The speaker argued that if the people of the earth fully realized this truth, it would pro mote love and peace and good will among the children of men. Elder Penrose then devoted some time in dilating upon the immortal spirit that is in man. This he said was the offspring of God and that He is as much the Father of the Spirits of men in this age of the world as in the days of the ancient prophets. This being true, and God being unchangeable, the eople of this day can approach their Father and receive revelation Him. The modern sects depend entireupon the letter of ancient scripture iolding that it is all sufficient as spiritual guide. that in the days of the Apostles instead of resting upon the written word, the had the living word of God. His reve ations were given to them at that time and they did not have to rely upon th velations to Noah or Moses or any the ancient prophets. They were en-dowed with the Holy Ghost, that spirit which guides into all truth. It was through that spirit they received their inspiration and revelation. That same spirit was vouchsafed unto all the people who would repent and be baptized, as Peter proclaimed on the day of Pentecost. That baptism was for the re-

and not by sprinkling or pouring, the popular forms of the present day. The next step the Apostles took after baptizing the people was to lay hands upon them thus imparting to them the Holy Ghost. The Saints therefore, as affirmed by Paul the Apostle, were baptized into one body and were made to partake of the same spirit. That body was likened with the body of man, which to be perfect must have all its parts intact. Portions of that body were Apostles, prophets, etc., and they could not be done away with any more than the human body can dispense with the head and retain its vitality. It was pointed out that no such organization existed anywhere among the Christian or pagan sects, and while many of them are doing the least they can they have not the Church of Christ as He established it. Strife and dissension exist among Christian nations and they marshal their armies and send forth their artillery to destroy each other, and drench the earth with "Christian" In this age, the speaker urged when there has been so much progress in everything else, there should be progress in religion. The people should know something about God, something about where they came from and where they are going, something definite about of the Holy Chost, its great gifts and manifestations enjoyed in former times and asked where its manifestations were today. Wherever there is a peo-ple who believe in the power of the Holy Ghost and show its outward manifestations they are ridicules by the world. The gift of healing was referred to as one of the gifts of the But faith is the prime essential in all things. Numerous passages from the Scripture were quoted showing that faith is the power which all the mighty works of the Prophets, the Savior and the Apostles recorded in the Bible, were wrought. The speaker made a plea to his hearers to set aside their prejudices and traditions and to look the situation fairly in the face. They were asked to do as the Apostle James advised: "It any man lack wisdom, let him ask of etc. It was that advice which was followed by Joseph Smith when a boy and bewildered by the many sects all contending they were right, acted upon the counsel of the Apostle James and repaired to the woods to pray for light from God. The vision that burst upon the youth was vividly described.

and the subsequent revelations to the young Prophet and the establishment of the Church of Christ were related in ernest words.

Elder Penrose bore a strong testimony that God had revealed His word in this age, and that it was being preached throughout the earth, and the in heart are being gathered and the modern Israel of God is being estab-lished in the "Tops of the Mountains." The reason that the Saints hold together and endure persecution and suffering and renounce everything for the Gospel, is because they have a testimony that the work is from God. Be-fore closing Elder Penrose depicted in glowing terms the conditions of spirits of men and women when out of the body, also the resurrection of the body and the glorious destiny that is marked out for those who receive and remain faithful to the truth and live He showed that those who did not hea the Gospel in their earthly life would have the opportunity of receiving it in the spirit world, through the ministraof the servants of God after finishing their work on earth, and will receive the degree of glory to which they are entitled. The speaker concluded his discourse by again testifying to the divinity of the latter-day Gospel, and invoking the blessings of the Lord upon the congre-The choir sang the anthem "Hosanna," and the benediction was pro-neunced by Bishop W. B. Preston.
