

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS

THE Christmas music program at the tabernacle tomorrow will consist of the following, to be rendered by the tabernacle choir and the organ:

Prelude—"Prelude to Parsifal"..... Richard Wagner
Hymn—"Jesus, Once of Humble Birth"..... Old English song
Anteum—"The Guiding Star"..... F. Dewey Richards
Ladies' Chorus, "Christmas Song"..... Stephens
Anteum—"O Beauty of Holidays"..... Dudley Buck
Postlude—"Pomp and Circumstance"..... Edmund Elgar

It will be noted that the two middle numbers are by home composers. Mr. F. Dewey Richards' sacred song being heard for the first time in the tabernacle, and the ladies' chorus, "Christmas Song," being Prof. Stephens' latest composition, written for this occasion.

Our singers are generally taking a breathing spell after their arduous work in preparing for Christmas. The Festival Chorus will rest until the first Monday in the new year, and the tabernacle choir will "lay off" for the coming week. The children's singing class of Mr. Stephens will hold no practice until the second Saturday in January. The rule, "No attendance, no taking part in the performances," will be observed in all these organizations when work begins again.

The Christmas music given in the tabernacle, the local churches and the ward meetinghouses was very successful, particularly the elaborate efforts in the ritualistic churches. In many of the Christmas programs will be largely repeated tomorrow. The Catholic choir will sing, for the first time in the basement of the new cathedral, which has been sufficiently finished to admit of holding service there. The program will be as follows:

Voluntary (violin)—Edward Fitzpatrick Offertory, "Adeste Fideles"..... Novello Soloists—Misses Rosemary Holland, Alice Farrell, A. J. Duquesne, J. W. Curtis, Giorza
"Veni Creator"..... J. W. Curtis
"Exulta Sion"..... Hammerl
Full choir—Violins—Edward Fitzpatrick, Miss Sylvia Kannan, C. D. Schettler, Organist and Director—Miss Nora Gieseck

At the 8 o'clock mass the junior choir of 50 voices will sing: "Adeste Fideles"..... Novello "Ring Happy Bells"..... Jordan "Gloria in Excelsis"..... Bordeose Isabelle Higgins, soloist. Violins—Miss Luichina Compson, Walter Aureus, Carl Sprangman, Hubert Prince.

At St. Mark's, the choir made a most favorable impression by their rendering of the Hallelujah chorus, while the remainder of the program was of marked excellence. The Christmas music will be substantially repeated tomorrow morning. In the evening, there will be a special service of song.

At St. Paul's Episcopal church, the musical features of the annual service will be repeated in the morning, and at night there will be a service of special song, the program for which choirmaster Brines has carefully arranged.

In the First Methodist church, the Christmas music will be substantially repeated tomorrow morning, with a special song service in the evening. The morning organ recital will include "Singing Sons"..... Charles Hurd; the evening transcription, "Divine Beamer"..... Gounod; postlude, "Cornelius March"..... Mendelssohn. The choir will also sing "Dreams of Galilee," by Sheldy; and in the evening, "Crossing the Bar," by Barnby.

Fred Graham will furnish performers for the musical part of the service to be held this evening in the Arts Building. A feature will be a men's quartet, consisting of Messrs. Graham, Ashworth, Christopher and Squires; and a number of actors from the Orpheum are expected.

There was an enjoyable concert given last evening, at Kayayee, by Salt Lake talent including Fred Graham, Horace Ensign, Ed P. Kimball, Miss Edna Evans, Miss Claudia Holt and Miss Helen Hartley.

There was a rushing demand for sheet music before Christmas. Every kind appeared to be in demand—good, bad and indifferent. Mandolin music was largely called for. The piano trade, too, has been excellent, and the rush for talking machines and records has been a craze. A prominent machine agent reports he can tell the general calling of purchasers by the class of music they call for.

The Musical Union will hold its quarterly meeting tomorrow afternoon.

The Fifteenth Infantry band now has 16 men, with George E. Bacchus as bandmaster. Mr. Bacchus is now in Mexico City, on furlough, and will arrive to take station at this post next month. It is the purpose of the commanding officer to increase the band to 42 men as soon as possible. As Fort Douglas is an attractive station, it is believed there will be no special difficulty in securing the number of musicians desired.

Several members of the band left Pendleton Hero of the Twenty-ninth Infantry at Manila, where he has added enough Pidgin-lingo players to make the size of the band 42 men. The active musicians are fine players. The climate, however, seems to be very hard on band instruments, both brass and wood wind.

Sergius Krauss, formerly of Heil's band, who recently enlisted, has been sent to Fort Grant, Ariz., where he will be enrolled in the band of the Fifth Cavalry. His wife seems to be unsuccessful so far, in securing the cancellation of his enlistment.

Mrs. King's pupils will hold an informal vocal recital next week, in Mrs. King's studio, over Beesley's music store.

Organist E. P. Kimball will furnish, by special invitation, scores of his own musical compositions for the next musical to be given by the music section of the Ladies' Library. He will be assisted by Hugh W. Dougall and Miss Edna Evans.

F. DEWEY RICHARDS.

Composer of the Christmas song, "The Guiding Star," which is to be Rendered by the Tabernacle Choir Tomorrow. Mr. Richards is a Son of Hon. F. S. Richards and is now living in New York, where he is Devoted to Music.

Miss Florence Allen, daughter of ex-Congressman Allen of this city, is musical critic on the staff of the Cleveland Plain Dealer. She had the following report of Sousa's band in a recent issue of her paper: "What this dull band to us? Sousa's not here?" That was the thought-wave which rippled through the audience at the Grays' armory yesterday afternoon. The manager of the Royal Opera in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all think favorably of Mr. Nevin's unique theme and it is predicted that the new year will see "Pola's" presentation on all three of these important stages.

An interesting feature of a recent concert of the New York Symphony orchestra under Artur Nikisch, is the St. Louis "Symphony La-mission" in which the composer sought to depict musically the humdrum effect of his own family life. The entire program was of a domestic character, the opening number being Dr. Leopold Dauerser's "Hymnus," written in honor of his wife of 25 years, and Wagner's "Siegfried Idyl," an orchestration to a famous but winter time tenderly loved by the author and under Hans Charlton's direction and an extended tour to the Pacific coast and south early in the spring.

Permanent opera in English is the goal aimed at in London. It is considered that an important step in that direction will be the forthcoming presentation in English of Wagner's "Ring der Nibelungen" at Covent Garden. Two acts will be given, commencing on Jan. 27, and the others will be given without cuts by singers mostly native, with an orchestra also of English players and largely drawn from that of the grand season and under the direction of Dr. Richter, who, it is said, first suggested the undertaking. Tickets will be given gratis for the complete series, and the prices will considerably less than those of the summer. There will be no dinner interval, but otherwise the performances will be precisely the same as those of the grand season.

Thomas L. Elder of New York, who has listened to 1,000 orchestra concerts in the last 20 years, decides that these are the 10 greatest overtures:

"Tannhauser"..... Wagner
"Midsummer Night's Dream"..... Mendelssohn

"Lesione III"..... Beethoven

"Mignon"..... Mendelssohn

"Faust"..... Wagner

"Dedication of the House"..... Beethoven

"Ossian"..... Gade

"Oboron"..... Weber

"Kantulata"..... Goldmark

Mr. Elder further says: "Falling just a shade behind these are perhaps 50 more all remarkable for tunefulness or classical form. They include such as "The Flying Dutchman," "Flaga's Cave," "Rosamunde," "Veneno Cel," "Egmont," "Prometheus," "ISIL," "Post and Peasant," "Merry Wives of Windsor," "Festen," and "Prinzschutz." Excepting Goldmark's "Oboron" and Sibelius' the moderns do not seem to have done much in the way of overture writing.

Arthur Nevin, the young Pittsburgh composer who wrote the music for the Indian opera "Pola," according to information received from Berlin, where he is spending the winter, is arranging the details for the first German production of the opera abroad. The management of the Royal Operas in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all think favorably of Mr. Nevin's unique theme and it is predicted that the new year will see "Pola's" presentation on all three of these important stages.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

Nothing but the thought of "The Other" in the woman's mind. She can not live a lie, and will tell her husband all about her erstwhile beloved and pack him off. Moreover, the husband falls in love with his wife all over again and there is nothing to prevent their being quite happy.

PHOTO BY OTTO STORZ.

MAXINE ELLIOTT IN A NEW PLAY.

"Under the Greenwood Tree," the New Production a Great Hit in London.

New York, Dec. 22.—Maxine Elliott has just returned to her native land, after having won new laurels in Europe. Her acting and beauty won the hearts of European theater-goers.

Miss Elliott will produce her new play, "Under the Greenwood Tree," on Dec. 25. The play is by H. V. Esmond, and is a masterpiece.

Miss Elliott is still considered one of the most beautiful women now before the public.

She is spending the winter, arranging the details for the first German production of the Royal Operas in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all think favorably of Mr. Nevin's unique theme and it is predicted that the new year will see "Pola's" presentation on all three of these important stages.

She is spending the winter, arranging the details for the first German production of the Royal Operas in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all think favorably of Mr. Nevin's unique theme and it is predicted that the new year will see "Pola's" presentation on all three of these important stages.

She is spending the winter, arranging the details for the first German production of the Royal Operas in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all think favorably of Mr. Nevin's unique theme and it is predicted that the new year will see "Pola's" presentation on all three of these important stages.

She is spending the winter, arranging the details for the first German production of the Royal Operas in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all think favorably of Mr. Nevin's unique theme and it is predicted that the new year will see "Pola's" presentation on all three of these important stages.

She is spending the winter, arranging the details for the first German production of the Royal Operas in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all think favorably of Mr. Nevin's unique theme and it is predicted that the new year will see "Pola's" presentation on all three of these important stages.

She is spending the winter, arranging the details for the first German production of the Royal Operas in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all think favorably of Mr. Nevin's unique theme and it is predicted that the new year will see "Pola's" presentation on all three of these important stages.

She is spending the winter, arranging the details for the first German production of the Royal Operas in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all think favorably of Mr. Nevin's unique theme and it is predicted that the new year will see "Pola's" presentation on all three of these important stages.

She is spending the winter, arranging the details for the first German production of the Royal Operas in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all think favorably of Mr. Nevin's unique theme and it is predicted that the new year will see "Pola's" presentation on all three of these important stages.

She is spending the winter, arranging the details for the first German production of the Royal Operas in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all think favorably of Mr. Nevin's unique theme and it is predicted that the new year will see "Pola's" presentation on all three of these important stages.

She is spending the winter, arranging the details for the first German production of the Royal Operas in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all think favorably of Mr. Nevin's unique theme and it is predicted that the new year will see "Pola's" presentation on all three of these important stages.

She is spending the winter, arranging the details for the first German production of the Royal Operas in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all think favorably of Mr. Nevin's unique theme and it is predicted that the new year will see "Pola's" presentation on all three of these important stages.

She is spending the winter, arranging the details for the first German production of the Royal Operas in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all think favorably of Mr. Nevin's unique theme and it is predicted that the new year will see "Pola's" presentation on all three of these important stages.

She is spending the winter, arranging the details for the first German production of the Royal Operas in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all think favorably of Mr. Nevin's unique theme and it is predicted that the new year will see "Pola's" presentation on all three of these important stages.

She is spending the winter, arranging the details for the first German production of the Royal Operas in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all think favorably of Mr. Nevin's unique theme and it is predicted that the new year will see "Pola's" presentation on all three of these important stages.

She is spending the winter, arranging the details for the first German production of the Royal Operas in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all think favorably of Mr. Nevin's unique theme and it is predicted that the new year will see "Pola's" presentation on all three of these important stages.

She is spending the winter, arranging the details for the first German production of the Royal Operas in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all think favorably of Mr. Nevin's unique theme and it is predicted that the new year will see "Pola's" presentation on all three of these important stages.

She is spending the winter, arranging the details for the first German production of the Royal Operas in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all think favorably of Mr. Nevin's unique theme and it is predicted that the new year will see "Pola's" presentation on all three of these important stages.

She is spending the winter, arranging the details for the first German production of the Royal Operas in Berlin, Munich and Dresden, all