

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

Experiences of our Friends in the North.

We were pained to learn of the death yesterday morning of Milton M. Brown, youngest child of Alvin Brown, of Providence. This child was born only a few days previous to the death of his father, J. H. Brown, Jr. The little fellow was a great source of consolation and solace to the bereaved mother, inasmuch as he resembled his father more than either of the other children.

Last Sunday night, about half past 10 o'clock, George Peacock died at the residence of his mother, in this city, of what is believed to have been lung fever. He was 24 years old on the 23d of Feb., 1887. He was addicted to drinking, during his lifetime, a fact which doubtless had considerable to do with his untimely end, but he was, when not under the influence of liquor, kind-hearted and well liked by his friends. He was taken sick about a month ago, and for five days prior to his death, had not left his bed.

Last Sunday evening a severe accident occurred at Lewiston. Mrs. Holbrook, of Bountiful, Utah, who had come up with the excursion and was staying with relative at the former place was out riding in a wagon, and, while crossing a ditch, was thrown from the vehicle. Her head struck against an iron attached to the seat, and a deep gash was cut, the skull being laid bare for several inches. There was a slight concussion of the brain and some internal injuries. Dr. Snow, of this city, early the next morning dressed her injuries, sewing up the gash, and making the lady as comfortable as possible. At last accounts she was progressing favorably.

One of the most severe electric storms which ever passed over this city raged for some time early last Sunday morning. It began about half past four o'clock and lasted until nearly six, and after that the clouds cleared off, the sun came out, and all traces of the storm disappeared. It began by a series of terrific streaks and sheets of lightning, which chased each other through the darkness, playing over every conceivable object, and lighting the entire landscape with the brightness of noon. These were followed by peals of thunder which shook the very earth, waking everyone from slumber—no matter how sound—and cracking and sizzling and roaring and reverberating through the air with astounding noise and tumult. Not a few people in town were affected by the electricity, but the worst case of all was the pain and suffering it left in the home of Mr. Geo. S. Hayball. It seems that for some days previous to Sunday, the wife of the gentleman named had had a presentiment of evil, and moreover had felt some uneasiness through her son, Hyrum, being in the canyon on a pleasure trip. When the artillery of the clouds began its deafening work on that, to her, eventful morning, she was awakened, and her mind turned at once to those in the canyon. She arose, went to the east window of her room, and began peering through towards the mountains. At that instant a streak of lightning came in the window and struck the lady in the eyes, and ranged through the entire body, rendering her almost insensible. She gasped and fell backwards, falling into the hands of her husband, who had followed her. The electricity effected her eyes so much that she was rendered blind. She was laid on her bed, and cold cloths were applied to her face, which was very hot. She regained consciousness soon after, and stated that a ball of fire seemed to strike her, and she doubtless inhaled some of the electricity as her lungs seemed to be burning up. The air she exhaled all day seemed also to be charged with electricity and sulphur. She suffered much during the day, and was very weak all day Monday, during which day the slight came into one of her eyes. She was so faint and weak she could hardly turn over. Yesterday the lady was considerably better, and free from pain entirely. Hopes are entertained for her speedy recovery. The electricity damaged the electric light works somewhat, and the high wind blew down a few trees and damaged hay stacks, but outside of this there was very little loss.—Logan Journal, Aug. 17.

Killed by a Broncho.

George English has finished his work and the boys will never again see his familiar form on the range. He had gone out Saturday forenoon with Mr. A. Haas, his employer and a number of other men to bring in some horses. He rode one of his own horses, a broncho weighing about 1,000 pounds. It was an animal that he and the other men on the ranch had been in the habit of riding. It began jumping and he put his spurs into it and struck it over the head with his bat. In doing so the saddle, which had only a single stich, slipped forward on the horse's neck. George slipped sideways and fell to the ground—not very far nor very violently, but it was seen that he was hurt. When he was helped up he said to Mr. Haas, with a half smile, "Well, George is done for this time," but Mr. Haas did not take the words seriously. His limbs seemed to be paralyzed, and a galvanic battery was sent for, but the most powerful shocks failed to induce the least sensation in the arms or legs.

It was seen that the accident was more serious than at first supposed, and Dr. Murry was sent for. He arrived on Sunday afternoon, but not before the soul of George English had slipped from his paralyzed body. It was then learned what was before suspected, that the neck had been broken by the fall. The spinal cord had not been completely severed, however, for which reason death had not been instantaneous as is usually the case. The body was buried at Green River.—Rock Springs Independent.

A Particular Tramp.

On Monday one of the genus tramp went to a residence in the lower part of town and asked for something to eat. The lady of the house furnished him with food consisting of bread and butter, grapes, etc. He said he had not been used to such fare and expressed his indignation by kicking the food around the yard and abusing the donor. Officer Brown was sent for and he arrested the high-bred beggar. Yesterday the dainty tramp was said to be before His Honor Judge Lee and was fined $20.—Ogden Herald, Aug. 17.

DYSPEPSIA

Up to a few weeks ago I considered myself the champion dyspeptic of America. During the years that I have been afflicted I have tried almost everything claim to be a specific for dyspepsia in the hope of finding something that would afford permanent relief. I had about made up my mind to abandon all medicines when I noticed an endorsement of Simmons' Liver Regulator by a prominent Georgian, a jurist whom I knew, and concluded to try its effects in my case. I have used but two bottles, and am satisfied that I have struck the right thing at last. I felt its beneficial effects almost immediately. Unlike all other preparations of a similar kind, no special instructions are required as to what one shall or shall not eat. This fact alone ought to commend it to all troubled with dyspepsia.

BABY HUMORS

And all Skin and Scalp Diseases Speedily Cured by Cuticura.

Our little son will be four years of age on the 25th inst. In May, 1885, he was attacked with a very painful breaking out of the skin. We called in a physician who treated him for about four weeks. The child received little or no good from the treatment, as the breaking out, supposed by the physician to be hives in an aggravated form, became larger in blotches, and more and more distressing. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with soda in water, strong liniments, etc. Finally, we called other physicians, until no less than six had attempted to cure him, all alike failing, and the child steadily getting worse and worse until he gave him CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, and the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and by the last of August he was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of the RESOLVENT about every second day for about ten days longer, and he has never been troubled since with the horrible malady. In all we used less than one-half of a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a little less than one box of CUTICURA, and only one cake of CUTICURA SOAP.

SCROFULOUS HUMORS.

Last spring I was very sick, being covered with some kind of scrofula. The doctors could not help me. I was advised to try the CUTICURA RESOLVENT. I did so, and in a day I grew better, until I am as well as ever. I thank you for it very much, and would like to have it told to the public.
