The Grand Jury has reported twelve more indictments; ten under the Territorial laws and the remainder under the laws of the United States.

MR. GEO. A. MERRILL will shortly retire from the liquor business, and desires that persons owing him should promptly settle their accounts.

HER Majesty's Opera Company, which is to appear at the Salt Lake Theatre on the 24th prox., has three tenors from the principal Italian theatres and three prima donnas who have all achieved the greatest lyric distinction.

THE grand operatic battle in the East between Col. Mapleson and Henry Abbey seems to have resulted in favor of the former, who says he will continue his seasons indefinitely in the United States, while Mr. Abbey, throwing up the sponge, incontinently flees the field, after sinking some two or three hundred thousand dollars of Vanderbilt's money.

REMINOTON, JOHNSON & CO., wholesale and retail grocers, moved into their new store—Walker Brothers old stand—Saturday morning, and are ready to receive their patrons. Everything in their store is new and fresh, and as the greater portion of their stock has been received since the reduction of the freight rates, they of course, can sell cheaper than heretofore.

LOCAL NEWS.

High Council.—The High Council will meet in the Social Hall, to-morrow, Tuesday, February 19, 1884, at 10 a.m.

WILLIAM W. TAYLOR, Clerk.

Concert To-night.—The 15th Ward concert, postponed from last Friday night on account of the grand ball at the Theatre, will take place at the Chapel in the above Ward at 8 o'clock this evening. The programme has already been published in our columns, and it is needless to say that the entertainment will be of the highest order.

The proceeds of the entertainment will go to the Sunday School and poor fund of the Ward. Those who desire attending should be there promptly, as there is sure to be a crowded house.

Children's Grand Ball.—The management of the Salt Lake Theatre will avail themselves of the present condition of the interior of the building, a floor being down and in good condition, to give a grand entertainment for children on the 1st of March. It will open at 2 o'clock, regular dancing commencing till six, at which hour a series of grand marches will be introduced, including novelties never before witnessed in this city. All the children are invited, there being ample room for a vast assemblage. The admission rates will be small, and the treat a fine one.

Lost in the Snow.—Last Monday morning, says the Logan Journal, Messrs. G. T. Benson and F. Ballif started from Logan to bring home two loads of wood which was stacked at Paradise. They got to the end of the journey all right and loaded up the two sleighs, and started homeward, but in a short time found it necessary to abandon one load and attach the four horses to the other.

When nearly half way to Millville the snow became so blinding that they wandered from the road towards the mountain, and could not discover their position until sunset when there was a full in the storm. They were then obliged to leave their load and ride the horses home. They suffered greatly from the cold.

Robbery in Ogden.—The Ogden Herald says on Wednesday last, the Omaha House, on Lower Fifth Street, was the scene of one of those occurrences which, of late, have given Ogden a rather unenviable reputation. In the afternoon of the said day a mulatto entered the establishment and asked for a bed to sleep, as "he had been up all the night before."

Instead, however, of retiring to his couch, he went through several rooms, finally landing in the private dressing room of the proprietor, where he snatched a bureau by means of a skeleton key, abstracting eight silver watches and one gold watch and chain. He also "went through" a valise belonging to a railroad man.

He then disappeared and the last seen of him was his supple figure in a train bound for Salt Lake City. To this place Deputy Sheriff Brown followed him as soon as informed of the fact; but up to last accounts the black-robed bird was still at liberty.

Holland's Benefit.—The performance at the Theatre last Saturday evening was witnessed by an audience, which, though not large, seemed to be highly delighted with what they saw and heard. The bill was an extensive one, almost too much so, but then it was Saturday night and the idea of "We won't go home till morning," did not seem to weigh very heavily upon the minds of the merry, mirth-loving people present.

The pieces presented were all old favorites with the public, as well as most of those who presented them, and both are and will be known to be would be next to superfluous to attempt a description of how each character was enacted. Messrs. McKenzie and Margette had parts with which their names have been identified from earliest theatrical times in Utah, and their appearance once more in the same old characters was a source of pleasure in more ways than one, the reminiscences they recalled second only in interest to the intrinsic merit of their acting.

Mr. Holland gave fresh proofs of his versatility as a comedian. Miss Morille played well. Mr. Lindsay appeared to good advantage and Miss Adams, as usual, left nothing to be desired. Most of the minor parts were in good hands, and the Thomas Orchestra, in their music, were fully up to the dramatic standard of the entertainment.

ASSEMBLY HALL SERVICES.

Yesterday afternoon the assemblage was addressed by Elder Abraham Rich, who related some incidents that occurred in his early experience, with particular reference to his seeing the Prophet Joseph Smith for the first time. He next referred to the character of the work performed by prophets in a general way, and pointed to the effects which had flowed from the labors of Joseph Smith particularly, exhibited by the establishment of a great people, who are the adherents of the doctrines enunciated by him, in this region.

President Joseph F. Smith was the next speaker. He delivered a clear and instructive discourse, in which he showed that the ministration to the gratification of the animal nature of man was the most grovelling phase of human life. The Saints had a higher and nobler aim, having reference to their eternal destiny, the hopes and foundation of which were largely constructed from self-denial in this probationary sphere.

The speaker showed that all those ties, associations and conditions that ministered to the joy of mankind here were secured eternally to those who sought the performance of God's will instead of their own. On the contrary those who are sensual and gross had before them a prospect of disappointment and in pain. It was appointed to all men to die, but they would again live, when the body and spirit, in indissoluble connection, would constitute the living soul. Those who should be conformed to the image of the Son of God, would possess eternal increase, thrones, principalities and powers and the posterity given them here would be theirs forever, as the associations under the new and everlasting covenant are endless.

Primary Associations.—The State Secretaries of Primary Associations are earnestly requested to distribute blanks to the various branches and obtain complete annual reports in order that concise State reports may reach the central board by March 15th, 1884.

LILLIE FRIEZE, Secretary Central Board of Primary Associations.

Rents-Santley Burlesque.—The Rents-Santley Burlesque Company, now en route to this city, where they are engaged to appear at the Theatre on February 21st and two nights following, should not be confounded with the Rents-Minister. They are a different combination entirely. The Burlesque (Mc.) Express says:

A full house greeted this company last evening, and fulfilled what was expected of it by the audience. The jokes were fresh and the music was principal feature of the evening was Alice Townsend, who sang with much sweetness and acted in a manner as to stamp her as a burlesque actress of high order; add to these qualifications a handsome face, and she is a "Thyrone" in figure. She has a rival to fear in her line of business.

One of the attractive features of the occasion was the singing and dancing of the La Verde Sisters. Miss Virgie Jackson and Fyran & Eason added to the interest of the entertainment. All in all, it was the best entertainment of the kind ever given in this city.

Petit Jurors.—At the session of the Third District Court, held on Jan. 3rd, for the purpose of drawing 25 names from the jury box to serve as petit jurors for the February term, the venire was made returnable February 15th, i. e. to-day. # Wandered Off.—Jonathan Bentley, of the Tenth Ward, a demented and harmless individual, left the home of his brother, Joseph Bentley, about three weeks ago, and wandered off and has not since been heard from. His brother, Joseph, a carpet weaver, whose place of business is three doors west of the Theatre, would be very thankful to have his anxiety relieved by information of the missing man's whereabouts.

It is feared that he might have been caught out, somewhere away from inhabited portions, and perished from cold in the late severe spell experienced in this locality. He was a man about 64 years of age, of slender build and medium height, and had on two coats, the outer one a dark homespun, and a pair of light pants.

For some time previous to leaving home, he had been unusually low spirited, though nothing had happened to cause it as far as could be learned. One day he went into a neighbor's house and wept bitterly, and the next morning, which was Monday, he wandered off and has been missing ever since. His brother has written to Kaysville, where the lost man sometimes went, and to other places, but up to the present time has learned nothing of his relative's whereabouts.
