DRY GOODS OUTLOOK. The wholesale dry goods trade is "resting on its ores" this week, pre-paring to begin the active full trade delivery next week. The bins and shelves of the big jobbing establish-ments are all well loaded with seagon-able goods, heavy consignments hav-ing been received from the east on good time. Jobbers report advances to meet high cotton, the upward movement to go still further, though no great rush is reported, and buyers are acting con-servatively. The print cloth business is reported limited, the mills not being inclined to press for orders. There is a fair call for staple prints; glnghams are moving steadily. A bond must be furnished for one-half of the bid with good and sufficient surcties, all satisfactory and acceptable to the undersigned. The bids are to be for the following considered:

is at present quite light, as there is much coming in from wool and early crop sales, so that people are not so dependent on the banks for investment funds. 'Then there is another influx coming from the sale of lambs, so that rates of interest ought to be weak and variable rather than stiff and inflexible. A prominent banker remarked today, that it was a mistake to imagine banks were making money when in-terest was high. Henry Clews, in his latest circular letter, says: "The steel trade continues to show "The steel trade continues to show great improvement, the demand for steel products being genuine and large ; advancing prices. Railroad earn-ings continue satisfactory, showing that traffic is constantly growing, the better returns now received being as much due to higher rates and reduced means and the solution sweather much due to higher rates and reduced expenses as to the actual growth of traffic. There is more or less public complaint about high prices for farm products, and it must be admitted that in the absence of any important sur-plus that the chances for lower prices seem somewhat remote. We are prom-ised a bumper corn crop, and it is evi-dent that there will be a good demand for the ontire yield at profitable prices. The monetary situation is satisfactory, and while firmer rates must be looked The monetary situation is satisfactory, and while firmer rates must be looked for before long, no particular stringen-cy is in sight. A feature in the bank-ing situation is the tremendous expan-sion in loans, due more to stock mar-ket operations than to ordinary busi-ness requirements.

INDUCEMENTS SCARCE.

"There is plenty of money seeking in-vestment; it is the inducements which are scarce, and the speculative spirit has not been aroused. Another element The scarce, and the speculative spirit has not been aroused. Another element which prompted buyers to wait was the large new issues expected next month, including the Harriman and Gould financing. There is every indi-cation of a large output of new securi-ties during the next few months, and it is well understood that some bunkers are better prepared to share in this new financing than others. Some of our best financiers and syndicate or-gunizers have openly declared the mar-ket too high, while others who, appar-ently, have not yet got rid of their talk and interviews regarding the pros-perous condition of the country. It is worth while others have stocks to market is approaching the these gen-ulemen have a habit of talking bull-ishly for public consumption when the market is approaching the truth of they or their friends have stocks to sell. No one questions the truth of their statements, nor dees anyone sup-pose them to be put out from purely philantbronic motives " pose them to be put out from purely philanthropic motives."

The hardware trade reports condi-tions about the same as last week, "only a little more so." At this time of year, most of the articles sold are considered staple, particularly builders'

The Vermont build-ing on South Temple is still awaiting ing on South Temple is still awaiting suitable brick for the front. Work however, is being pushed on the other parts of the building. With the ar-rival of specifications for the founda-tion of the new Utah hotel work will begin as soon as possible on the foot-ings. The same is true of the New-house hotel, the excavation for which has been finished for some time.

That Salt Lake's business is growing is evidenced by the number of ware-houses which are being planned, and which are in course of construction. Among those planned is one 100x200 feet which is to be constructed by B. F. Redman on the site of the old Westminister shurch on Fourth Work Westminister church, on Fourth West between First and Second South streets. It is proposed to make the new structure fireproof. When completed it will cost in the neighborhood of $55,000.

The Standard Furniture company will build a warehouse at Seventh South and Third West at a cost of about $5,000, which is to be 50x100 feet

The bishopric of the Thirtieth ward are considering enlarging the meeting house, and plans are now being pre-pared with the view of ascertaining the cost. In addition to making the main hall bigger some smaller rooms will be built. The proposed improve-ments will cost, it is said, about $6,000.

Ashton-Jenkins company reports, the

Ashton-Jenkins company reports the following sales during the week: A five-room house and a lot 50x130 feet at the corner of McClellan avenue and Ninth South for $3,750. J. T. Horne sold the property and M. E. Ealkin was the purchaser. Also, a modern six-room bungalow, located on Seventh East between Third and Fourth South which was sold to J. A. Carter for $5,600; three lots in Country Club place, a plece of land 3x9 rods, on Tenth South, to John Gerstenschlager for $900; and also two lots 37½x125 feet on the west side of McClellan avenue to Samuel Cottam and Heber C. Walker for $600 each. In spite of the doubts expressed by some people about the safety of put-ting money into more apartment houses at this stage of Salt Lake's growth, there is plenty of money to invest in this class of buildings. This is evidenced by a number of such buildings which are either planned or in course of erection. In addition to the splendid Covey building, the first unit of which is now being built on South Temple and A streets, there is the elegant apartment house of Mrs. Edwin Kimball, comaining 14 apart-ments and costing about $65,000, which is to be built at Second South and Sixth East, also the serven-apart-ment house to be built by Miss Geneva Hicks on Sixth East between South Temple and First South at a cost of about $28,000, also the Brown apart-

There is still a shortage of brick, especially face brick, and this condition is delaying jobs to the annoyance of contractors who like to finish a job as quickly as possible. Such delays mean loss to them, as it prevents them plan-ning to the best advantage. "It has been that way every year since I have been here." said one prominent con-tractor today. "One would think that with all the brick companies we have and the size of the plants that they would be able to more than supply a

BERNARD SHAW MAY VISIT AMERICA THIS YEAR New York, July 24 .- It is now fully believed that George Bernard Shaw, the Irish playwright whose creations have caused so much comment in this have caused so much comment in this country and abroad in the last few years, will visit America before the year is out. A brief cablegram was re-ceived from J. Eads How, head of the International Association of the Unem-ployed, saying that Mr. Shaw was sure-ly coming to America. Mr. How, who is known as the "Millionaire Hobo," went to London especially to interest Mr. Shaw in the cause of the unem-ployed, and to obtain from him, if pos-sible, a promise to visit this country in their behalf. The plan to have Mr. Shaw visit America has included a toture tour of wide range. It has been planned to have him speak in the principal cities of the country, devoting several weeks to the larger cities and extending the campaign through to the Pacific coast.
