The Contract Between the Panama Railroad and Pacific Company Now at an End.

New York, May 12.—The understanding between the Panama Railroad company and the Pacific Mail steamship company by which the latter had chartered the ships of the former to run between Colon and San Francisco, and to call at the Columbia river, has been terminated, and on June 15th the steamer company will put on other vessels.

After the Panama canal went into operation, the Panama Railroad company and the Pacific Mail steamship company entered into a contract for an agreement as to the use of the canal. The contract provided that the Panama Railroad company should have the right to use the canal for its own traffic, and the Pacific Mail steamship company should have the right to use the canal for its own traffic.

The contract was for a period of ten years, and was renewed for another ten years. The contract was now at an end, and the Pacific Mail steamship company was free to use the canal for its own traffic.

The Pacific Mail steamship company was now free to use the canal for its own traffic, and the Panama Railroad company was free to use the canal for its own traffic.

Conflict Between Marshals and Unionmen.

Two Railroadmen Wounded and One Killed.

North Yankton, S. D., May 11.—A conflict between the marshals and the railroad union men resulted in the death of one man and the wounding of two others.

The conflict took place in North Yankton, S. D., on May 11th. The marshals were attempting to arrest several union men, and the union men refused to be arrested.

The marshals then used their guns against the union men, and one union man was killed and two others were wounded.

The union men then fled, and the marshals followed them. The union men were then arrested.

The union men were then taken to the jail, and the marshals returned to their quarters.
