Of Congress.

ALDRICH BILL AMENDMENTS.

Senator Informs Republican Leaders
They Will be Satisfactory to Majority of Senate.

Washington, April 13.—That the Aldrich currency bill as passed by the senate will not be concurred in by the house is the conviction of many Republican members of the lower chamber. Indeed, that any currency bill will be passed at this session is not positively assured, but if plans which were matured today by the Republican leaders in the house are approved by a Republican caucus to be held next week, the Aldrich bill in an amended form will become a law.

The Republican leaders have ascertained in a purely informal way that with certain amendments the Aldrich bill can get enough supporters in the house to assure its passage and Senator Aldrich, it is stated, has informed them that the amendments they have in mind will be satisfactory to the majority in the senate. To the caucus will be submitted a new currency bill drafted by the Republican leaders in the house and introduced today by Representative Vreeland of New York, which embodies so much of the Aldrich bill as they feel confident of, and in which is incorporated the amendments agreed upon. As it is generally recognized that sentiment in the house in favor of such a radical reform in the national money system as a change from a bond-secured to an asset currency is not strong enough to uphold the Fowler bill, the question in the caucus will be simply whether there shall be an amended Aldrich bill or no financial bill at all.

CURRENCY COMMISSION.

If by the time the caucus meets the senate has not enacted these promises of Senator Aldrich to pass a currency commission bill, such a measure will be agreed on by the caucus and passed by the house. It is believed that it will go through the senate.

In support of the no-legislation idea, it is suggested that such a course would leave the Republican party without an alternative to the Chicago convention and enable the free shaping there of a financial plank.

In the bill introduced today by Mr. Vreeland, the Aldrich bill, so far as it appertains to the issuing of currency on municipal bonds, is left unchanged. The section of the Aldrich bill which changes the present law of reserves is stricken out entirely. This is the section which has met with the most objections of the banks both in the country and in the reserve cities. The last clause in the Aldrich bill, commonly called the La Follette amendment, is stricken out. These sections were eliminated on the theory that neither one was necessary to a purely emergency bill—on the agreement that the bill should be held as closely as possible to its purpose of providing simply for an emergency currency; that it was not desirable at this time to go into a revision of the banking and currency laws, but that the work should be, and would be, taken up by a commission to be created before Congress adjourns.

VREELAND SECTION ADDED.

In the Vreeland bill a section is added to the Aldrich bill to meet the objection of the western and southern banks that they own no bonds such as are required for security under the Aldrich bill; that they do not feel able to divert their money to the purchase of such bonds, and that all of their funds are required in the needs of their business. The new section creates an agency for the handling of ordinary assets of banks, including commercial paper. Under this section groups of national banks not less than 10 in number and having an aggregate capital and surplus of at least $10,000,000 may form voluntary associations, to be known as "national clearing house association." Such an association shall have offices and a board of directors selected from the representatives of the banks composing the group and shall be organized and governed according to rules to be prescribed by the secretary of the treasury. Any bank belonging to such an association may deposit and assign to the association in trust such securities, including commercial paper, as may be satisfactory to the officers of the association. The association may thereupon make application to the comptroller of the currency in behalf of the depositing bank for authority to issue additional bank notes to an amount not exceeding 75 per cent of the cost value of the securities so deposited.

The association is made a corporation for the purpose of the act only. Upon failure of any bank to retire its circulating notes, the association can sell at public sale the securities deposited. If there should be a deficiency after the sale, that deficiency is made a first lien upon the assets of the bank issuing the notes. If there should still be a deficiency, the assets of all the banks belonging to the association are made liable in the payment of the notes. All of the other provisions of the Aldrich bill are made applicable so far as they apply to this section.

The methods of existing clearing-house associations are used so far as possible in framing the provisions of the Vreeland bill. It has not been thought best to disable existing clearing-house associations nor to exercise government control over them.

RICHARD HALL ACQUITTED OF CHARGE OF STEALING

Seattle, Wash., April 13.—A special to the Times from Dawson, Y. T., says that Richard Hall has been acquitted of the charge of stealing gold dust to the amount of $40,000 from a Yukon river steamboat last summer which was consigned to Seattle by persons in Fairbanks, Alaska. The jury which deliberated on what has been pronounced the most famous criminal case in the Yukon territory reached its conclusion after two hours.

Hall was not placed on the stand, and no defense was made for him other than to introduce witnesses to prove his good character.

Crown Prosecutor Pattullo required two hours for his argument, and was greatly surprised by the verdict. The defense was conducted by C. W. C. Taber. In charging the jury, Justice Dugas emphasized the point that it was extremely doubtful if Hall was guilty of any of the three indictments against him.

At the trial dust to the amount of $24,000 was accounted for. The remainder is still believed to be "planted." Of the precious metal sold to local banks, a large quantity was mixed in such a way as to disguise its origin.

The trial lasted three and a half days. The outgo for witnesses brought from the states and distant Alaskan points will aggregate more than $1,000.

FOR A BUREAU OF MINES

House Committee Agrees to Recommend
Passage of the Bill Drawn
By Sub-Committee.

Washington, April 13.—The house committee on mines and mining today agreed to recommend the passage of a bill drawn by a sub-committee for the establishment of a bureau of mines in the department of the interior. By the terms of this bill it shall be the province and duty of the new bureau to "foster, promote and develop the mining industries of the United States; to make diligent investigation of the methods of mining, the safety of the miners, the possible improvement of conditions under which mining operations are carried on, the treatment of ores, the use of explosives and electricity, the prevention of accidents, the values of mineral products and the markets for the same, and of other matters pertinent to said industries, and from time to time make such public reports to the secretary of the interior as may be required; to investigate and information obtained, with the recommendation of such bureau."

Provision is made for the government of the bureau, under the secretary of the interior, by a commissioner to be appointed by the president at an annual salary of $8,000.

INJUNCTIONS.

Senate Judiciary Committee Reports
Bill Regulating Them.

Washington, April 13.—Through Senator Overman, the senate committee on judiciary today favorably reported a bill regulating the practice of granting injunctions by United States courts restraining the enforcement of state statutes. The bill provides that no circuit or district court shall issue such temporary injunctions on the ground of unconstitutionality until testimony shall have been taken by three judges, at least two of whom shall be circuit judges. It requires five days' notice of such proceeding to the governor and attorney-general of the state involved, unless in cases in which the loss of so much time may work irreparable damage, when a temporary order may be issued. The bill also provides for a direct appeal of such cases to the supreme court of the United States, and gives them precedence there. It is intended to meet conditions such as have recently arisen in Minnesota, North Carolina and other states.

MANCHURIAN SITUATION

Secy. Root Has Endlessly Satisfactory Interview With Baron Rosen on the Subject.

Washington, April 13.—Secy. Root had a long conference at the state department today with the Russian ambassador, Baron Rosen, the feature of which was the Manchurian situation, and in consequence when the ambassador left this afternoon for New York on his way to Russia he bore with him the last words of the American state department on that important subject. The interview was eminently satisfactory on both sides.

From the Russian standpoint it was made plain to Secy. Root that the local Russian officials in Harbin were deserving of support in their efforts to rehabilitate that important trade center and resume the execution of the ambitious plans that had been formed by the Russian government for the development of the city before the war with Japan.

Therefore the objection of American Consul Fisher to full recognition of the Russian authority at Harbin was found to be based rather upon the form in which the local Russian officials proposed to attain their objects and not to the objects themselves. Therefore it may be stated that there will be no further friction between the American consul and the Russian government at Harbin over this incident.

WOOD PULP CASES.

Attorney-General Bonaparte Says Investigation Is In Progress.

Washington, April 13.—The attorney-general today sent to Speaker Cannon a letter in reply to the house resolution asking what steps have been taken by the government to investigate the alleged combination of wood pulp or print paper manufacturers. The attorney-general says an investigation is in progress, but that no action has yet been obtained to justify legal proceedings.

He says that when the investigation and the report thereon is completed he will submit them without delay if he can do so without affecting the interests of justice, but that if the investigation should lead to civil or criminal proceedings it may continue expedient to temporarily withhold from the public the evidence and information.

PUT POISON IN FLOUR.

Francisco Nicolazzo Says He Did it at Suggestion of Victim's Mother.

Chicago, April 13.—Francisco Nicolazzo today declared that he had placed in Mary Renda, an 8-year-old girl who died some days ago under suspicious circumstances, was caused by poison which he had placed in the flour at the suggestion of the girl's mother. Nicolazzo was a friend of the Renda family and declared today that the woman asked him to buy the poison, and after he had done so, requested him to mix it with the flour. When his confession was read to the woman in the presence of Nicolazzo she made a vicious attack upon him and he acquired full strength of two policemen to drag her away.

Mrs. Renda charged Nicolazzo with the crime, and declared that she believed it was his intention to poison herself and her husband, for the purpose of securing a sum of money that they had saved, and a portion of which she carried about with her. Nicolazzo, according to Mrs. Renda, was not at the breakfast table the morning the poisoned bread was eaten, but returned later to learn what the effect of the poison had been.

Nicolazzo, by his own confession, has been in trouble with the police at Rumford, Me., where he was arrested for the murder of Francisco Valerio, but was acquitted. He also said he had fled from Gorham, N. H., last December, after the sudden death of the owner of a boardinghouse where he had been living.

WHAT JOY THEY BRING To Every Home

as with joyous hearts and smiling faces they romp and play—when in health—and how conducive to health the games in which they indulge, the outdoor life they enjoy, the cleanly, regular habits they should be taught to form and the wholesome diet of which they should partake. How tenderly their health should be preserved, not by constant medication, but by careful avoidance of every medicine of an injurious or objectionable nature, and if at any time a remedial agent is required, to assist nature, only those of known excellence should be used; remedies which are pure and wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, like the pleasant laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna has come into general favor in many millions of well informed families, whose estimate of its quality and excellence is based upon personal knowledge and use.

Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna has also met with the approval of physicians generally, because they know it is wholesome, simple and gentle in its action. We inform all reputable physicians as to the medicinal principles of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, obtained by an original method, from certain plants known to them to act most beneficially, and presented in an agreeable syrup in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to promote the pleasant taste; therefore it is not a secret remedy, and hence we are free to refer to all well informed physicians, who do not approve of patent medicines and never favor indiscriminate self-medication.

Please to remember and teach your children also that the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna always has the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package and that it is for sale in bottles of one size only. If any dealer offers any other than the regular Fifty cent size, or having printed thereon the name of any other company, do not accept it. If you fail to get the genuine you will not get its beneficial effects. Every family should always have a bottle on hand, as it is equally beneficial for the parents and the children, whenever a laxative remedy is required.
