

SPLENDID WORK OF UTAH ARTISTS

Edwin Evans Captures Bronze
Medal for Best Work of Art.

TAGGART GETS STATE PRIZE

Third Annual Exhibit Opened by Gov.
R. M. Wells Last Evening - Previous Efforts Surpassed.

The opening of the third exhibition of the Utah Art Institute is as auspicious in all details as the members could have desired. With walls covered with canvases that would attract attention in even a metropolitan art center, with a committee trying to emphasize the merits of each artist's work, and with the public demonstration of interest evidenced in last night's reception, it would seem that the present exhibition might rank as a red letter event in the progress of the Institute.

The old Social Hall, filled as it is with suggestions of historic interest, is a happy choice for the placing of the Institute's exhibits, and with this exist also advantages of space lighting, etc., which former exhibitions have not enjoyed.

The program features for the reception last night were addresses by Gov. Wells and Mr. William M. Roylance of Ogden, and piano selections by Prof. J. Anderson. President Culmer gave a few introductory remarks, presenting the governor, who in a happy speech depicted the purposes of the institute, and the advisability of home people encouraging home productions.

Mr. Roylance in his address spoke with pride of the fact that from his own (Utah) county, came such artists as Harwood, Evans, Hafen, Fairbanks, and the gifted sculptor Dallin. He gave eminent credit to Mrs. Alice M. Horne, whose efforts had procured the passage of the bill authorizing the establishment of the Institute, and of the steady improvement in the exhibitions. Delightful piano selections were rendered by Prof. J. J. Anderson.

PRIZE WINNERS.
President Culmer then announced the names of those who had taken prizes in the various competitions as follows:

A bronze medal of honor for the best work of art in the exhibition. Open to resident and non-resident artists. Edwin Evans, "Harvest in France."

The state prize, $300, for the best painting by a Utah resident artist, the prize to become a part of the Alice Art collection. G. H. Taggart, "Prayer."

Institute prizes, open to resident artists: Fifty dollars for the best water color, the painting with its frame to become a part of the Alice Art collection. H. L. A. Culmer, "Cloudland."

Twenty-five dollars for a perspective sketch and floor plan combining the most convenient and artistic arrangement for a city cottage, to cost about $2,000. The sketches to become the property of the Art Institute. A. O. Trueman.

Ten dollars for the best study of clay or plaster. Earl Cummings, bust of H. R. Clawsen.

Five dollars for best poster. L. G. Richards.

Five dollars for cabinet work. Clara Brooks.

Five dollars for best design for tiling. Mrs. Grace Y. Kerr.

Five dollars for best photographic design. Clara Brooks.

Five dollars, lace handkerchief. Miss Merrill.

Five dollars, lace collar. Miss Merrill.

Five dollars for best photographic exhibition. E. W. Whitaker, Second St. R. H. Officer, Third, T. O. Sheekel.

SOME OF THE FEATURES.
Mr. Evans' prize piece is the superb and well known canvas "A French Harvest" which has previously won high honors.

Mr. Taggart, whose talent and experience make his opinion valuable, said regarding this painting yesterday that probably no painter in the world could excel it, so perfect is the artist's delineation of his subject.

The "Prayer," Mr. Taggart's prize picture, is easily the most striking canvas in the hall. It shows an old couple sitting in the pew of a country church in attitudes of reverential attention; yet there is much more than this one sentiment expressed in the picture. In the bowed head of the woman, the toll-worn hand on which it leans, the thin white hair on the temples, and the life-sorrow and grief which are expressed in the face, the old figures, listening with religious faith that has dignified and apothecized all the hum-drum material aspects of the humble lives there is a complete human drama. It is a canvas which few can study without tears, and is in line with the other fine specimens of character painting in which Mr. Taggart excels. Mr. Culmer's prize picture "Cloudland" is one of a series of nature sketches Mr. Culmer has worked on during the past summer, and it is as perfect in expression of the artist's conception, as designated by its title, as could be imagined. The work is distinguished by the delicate and poetic touch which is Mr. Culmer's chief characteristic in painting, and is an exquisite canvas.

The other prize pieces are equally meritorious in their line with the chief prize-winners, and there will undoubtedly be unquestioned satisfaction with the awards. Of these, and the many other works of art, much cannot be said in detail in one article. Some of the more prominent ones are the entire collection of paintings exhibited by Miss Mary Tensdel, Mr. Evans, Mr. Harwood, Mr. Hafen, Mr. Culmer, Mr. Fairbanks, Miss Alice M. Horne, a beautiful flower piece "Roses," by Mrs. Edna Wells Sloan, and others, all of which will receive extended notice from day to day.

The exhibition will be open daily for the next two weeks, and will be free to the public except on Wednesdays, when a small fee will be charged.

THE JUDGES.
Following are the judges of award for the different prizes:
On $300 state prize—Mr. Evans, Mr. Ottinger, Mr. Culmer.

On medal of honor for best work exhibited—Mr. Ottinger, Mr. Taggart, Mrs. Horne.

On $25 prize for architectural design—Mr. Ware, Mr. Harwood, Miss Tensdel.

DECISION AGAINST O. S. L.

Supreme Court Holds Railroad Company is Bound by the Act of Agent.

Stover Divorce Case Turns on the Question of the Custody of Children—New Trial Granted.

The Supreme Court has affirmed the judgment of the district court in awarding George Nichols $1,000 damages against the Oregon Short Line Railroad company for injury by station to 3,570 head of sheep in holding them ten days at Soda Springs, Idaho, stockyards, when they were ordered shipped to Omaha two years ago last October. Nichols showed at the trial that other shippers, whose orders for cars went in after his, were given precedence. He sued for $3,451.69, and obtained a verdict for $1,326.72, which was later reduced to $1,000 and the railroad company appealed. The court holds that the station agent at Soda Springs had authority to bind the railroad company, which was bound to furnish the cars of another company or show that no traffic arrangement for such a purpose existed. Justice Barth wrote the opinion, the other members of the Supreme Court bench concurring.

PARTNERS NOT LIABLE.
An affirmation of the judgment of the Second district court in the case of Emily Peterson, appellant, vs. James C. Armstrong, H. O. Harkness and D. D. Jones, partners in the Idaho Lumber company, settles the suit in favor of the lumber company. The action was to recover a balance of $419 on the purchase price of a piece of land south of Ogden, which was secured by Jones without his partners' knowledge by a mortgage on other property. The trial court absolved the other partners from liability. This opinion is also written by Justice Barth, his associates concurring.

STOVER DIVORCE RETRIAL.
Owing to the fact that in the divorce trial of Clara D. Stover against A. Stover Judge Stewart awarded the custody of the four minor children to the defendant father the Supreme Court has ordered a new trial. All reference to the mother's immoral conduct was eliminated from the findings and the court granted the decree on the ground of desertion and non-support and yet did not allow the mother, against whom no wrong-doing had been shown, to keep her children. The case is remanded with orders to determine the points at issue. Justice Barth also wrote the opinion on this case, his brothers of the appellate court concurring.

Suit for Preventing Sale.
Elbert S. Ross is suing Elmer E. Darling and J. C. West in the district court to recover $2,500 damages for alleged trespass and unlawful seizure of the east 3.4 feet of lot 2, block 21, plat 6, on the north side of Second street, east of Q. The damage is principally in withholding the lot from sale.

COURT NOTES.
A. F. Callison and W. S. Bing, partners in the Salt Lake Stamp Co., are suing G. F. Beckstead in the district court to collect $180 claimed to be due.

AKRON GIANT BOXES 6 ROUNDS

Jeffries' Latest Victim Gave Clever
Exhibition of Speed.

BURNS WAS KNOCKED DOWN.

Local Man Made a Very Good Showing
Against Such Big Odds—Several Challenges Are Issued.

A small crowd of ring enthusiasts assembled at the Salt Lake Athletic club rooms last night to witness the boxing exhibition between Gus Ruhlin, the Akron Giant, and Jimmy Burns of Spokane. Those who remained away certainly missed a good treat from a pugilistic standpoint. The bout was six one-minute rounds, and they served well to show off the clever work of the big man from Ohio. Burns deserves a great deal of credit for going against a man like Ruhlin, and his work, although he was in extremely poor condition, proved that he is fast and able to take care of himself against a man of his class.

After seeing the Akron man glide around the ring with the speed and grace of a lightweight, shooting his left and right and landing almost at will, and noting the well developed muscles on his huge body, one naturally wonders at the power of Jeffries and is led to believe that no man in the world has any chance with the ex-bowler master of California.

At times Ruhlin was inclined to rush matters beyond the pale of wisdom and was repeatedly cautioned by "Bully" Maddox to "go slow, this is only an exhibition." During the first round in a lively exchange of compliments the big fellow presented Burns with a right hand chop on the jaw and the local man promptly went to the floor. It appeared to be an accident or unintentional, and Ruhlin lifted Burns to his feet while Maddox pulled the bell cord. Burns did well and would have done better but for the fact that he is ill and has been under the care of a physician for the last week.

The preliminaries were of a nature not calculated to call forth vigorous resolutions against "brutal prize fighting."

Phil Green and the Portland Kid were to go four rounds, but in the third round it was evident to all that the Portland lad was certainly a "kid" and nothing more. To quote a common phrase, Green "made a monkey of him." In the third he knocked him down twice, and Manager McNamee told the alleged Portland product to "go way back and sit down."

Roy Condie and Jim Francis furnished four rounds of rollicking fun. Francis was unable to use his right hand, owing to the injury sustained when he was defeated by Jack Christy. He did some very clever blocking, however, and took good naturedly the few punches Condie landed on him. Manager McNamee announced that Condie would meet Clem Turville at any time for a side bet of from $100 to $250 and the entire gate receipts, and Turville could weigh what he pleased. Eugene Turner also announced by the McNamee route that he would meet Condie at any time at catch weights, but Turner not to exceed 135 pounds. Ruhlin and Madden will leave tonight for Denver and thence to New York, where they will try to get on a match with any of the heavyweights in the ring.

READY FOR NEVADA.
Interest grows apace in the big game scheduled for Thanksgiving day between the teams representing the Universities of Nevada and Utah. The local players have practically quit training, and it is said they are in the best possible condition to attain and will surely give the visitors a hard rub.

The Nevada team will reach here tomorrow morning if the prearranged plans are carried out. They will be met at the depot by a delegation of University students, and escorted up town.

The game will begin promptly at 3:30 p. m.

Played a Tie Game.
The Websters and the Third Y. M. C. A. played a tie game last evening by all lights, neither team making a touchdown.

THE NEXT CONTEST.
Morgan Williams Will Probably Meet
Christy December 10th.

Manager McNamee of the Salt Lake Athletic club announces that the next contest will take place about December 10th.

If arrangements can be made, on that date Morgan Williams, the champion of Colorado, will meet Jack Christy in a twenty-round boxing exhibition. Williams has signified a desire to meet the local man, and the latter says he is perfectly willing.

Big Sale of Thoroughbreds.
New York, Nov. 25.—The Fasig-Tipton company commenced the sale of 995 thoroughbred horses at Madison Square garden today. The long list includes the names of some famous animals and the sale drew a big crowd of buyers.

Bowbells and Ponce de Leon, stallions owned by the late Marcus Daly, were offered first. Samuel McMillan, of New York, bought the former for $3,100, and Thomas Lawson the latter for $5,600. A summary of the more important sales follows:

Bow Bells, b. s., 2:19 1/4, by Electioneer-Beautiful Bells, Samuel N. McMillan, $3,100.

BATH POSTPONED.
The Sanitarium management announced this afternoon that the new-baths would be given their annual Thanksgiving bath on some day next week instead of on Thanksgiving day as heretofore announced. The change in the date is made necessary because of the fact that the pipe line from the sulphur springs is undergoing extensive repairs and the big pools cannot be supplied with the water and the youngsters are not partial to the tubs.

HE HID IN A BOX.
Thirty-eight years ago the Northern soldiers, in a chase after John Starnes, frightened him so badly that he curled over a large box on himself and lay there hidden until they had gone. When night came he removed the box to the woods, and since that time he has made that box his home.

Starnes lived five miles northwest of Blacksburg, S. C. His box is surrounded by poles to protect his hiding place. He will even run from a horse, cow or sheep. The only way in which you can

Watch Coffee

Watch Carefully Its Effect on You.

Any brain worker who depends on thought for his success in life, uses up daily, by brain work, a varying amount of the delicate particles of potash and albumen, of which the brain and nerve centers are composed.

This breaking down of the little cells each day, from brain work, is a natural process, and the cells can readily be rebuilt from the right sort of food, if the system is not interfered with by drugs. If brain tag or nervous prostration sets in, the evidence is plain that nature is not rebuilding as fast as work is tearing down. There is some reason. What is it? Look first to the coffee cup, for coffee is known to interfere with and prevent the proper nourishment of the nerves in highly organized people.

Frequently the trouble first shows in dyspepsia, lack of power of the bowels to operate properly or palpitation of the heart or some other lack of vitality and healthy vigor. Then comes brain tag and that tremendous collapse called nervous prostration. There is but one thing for a sensible man or woman to do,—quit coffee absolutely. "Hard to do," you say. Take up Postum Food Coffee, use it regularly, have it well made, so it tastes good. You will find a well-defined, unmistakable change in your health, and there is a reason for it.

You will have become free from the breaking down force of coffee, and, on the other hand, you will be taking a powerful, nourishing liquid food which quickly rebuilds the new cells. These are facts,—profound facts, ready for any one to prove to their own satisfaction by actual use. Postum Food Coffee is made at the famous pure food factories of the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich., and is used by brain workers all over the world. Don't call it a "substitute" for coffee; leave out the coffee proposition altogether. Postum is a liquid food and a true food drink.
