FATAL CATASTROPHE.

AVARONOE AT ALTA!

Buried Under Sixty Feet of Snow!

About 4 p. m. yesterday, a terrible snow slide came down the mountain side, directly over the Richmond and Teresa mine, in Big Cottonwood Mining District, who...

Thirty men have been working twenty-four hours, but have not as yet discovered the body. It is useless to search, and the parties have given up all hopes of finding the body until the snow disappears.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Joseph Hyde, Pacific Express messenger on the U.C.R.R., we have information of a horrible tragedy that occurred close to the line about twelve miles this side of Milford.

HORRIBLE TRAGEDY.

JOHN SMYTH SHOTS HIS WIFE AND HIMSELF.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Joseph Hyde, Pacific Express messenger on the U.C.R.R., we have information of a horrible tragedy that occurred close to the line about twelve miles this side of Milford.

In close proximity to the railroad is the house of John Smyth, the proprietor of the ranch before referred to. At the northbound train approached the place shortly after six o'clock last evening a ghastly sight greeted the gaze of those on board.

At 9:20 a. m. yesterday, while Mrs. Smyth was passing from the cellar to the house, pursuing her household duties, John Smyth, her husband, deliberately pointed a loaded shotgun at her back and fired. As she did not fall at the first shot, he thought probably that he had missed his mark, so he emptied the second barrel of the weapon at his victim, into whose body both charges entered.

After performing this murderous deed, Smyth deliberately reloaded his gun and fired one charge into his own corpus, the shot, it is supposed, entering his liver, inflicting a wound that is considered to be undoubtedly mortal.

We were unable to ascertain the cause that led to the commission of the murderous deeds by Smyth, but the supposition is that they were the outgrowth of domestic disturbance, or that he acted under the influence of a fit of insanity.

Later—Since the foregoing was written the following special has been received from Milford: "John A. Smyth, well known as Uncle John Smyth, who keeps a ranch in Beaver Valley, opposite sec. 43, on the line of the Utah Central Railway, shot and dangerously wounded his wife yesterday morning about 9 o'clock, after which he deliberately reloaded the shotgun, and placing the trigger upon a nail he had driven in an outhouse and placed the muzzle to his breast, fired and fell dead. His wife, up to this time, lies in a very critical condition, but some hopes are entertained of her recovery. Officers of the law are now at the house and are holding an inquest. Mrs. Fenton, a daughter of Mrs. Smyth, was the only one of the family at home."

Mr. Fenton, son-in-law of Mr. Smyth, and husband of the only witness to the terrible tragedy, was in this city, accompanied by his brother, both being on their way to Wood River, when the news of the affair reached here. Mr. Fenton, consequently, instead of proceeding northward, left by this afternoon's train to join his wife. We learn from his brother, that Smyth was subject to sudden spells of lunacy, and had threatened to kill people at various times. He had lived in the neighborhood of Frisco almost since its first settlement, and besides running a ranch, was the proprietor of a feed stable in that town. He is an old Californian, from which State he came to Utah.

Mrs. Smyth is described as a well-dressed and kindly woman, held in general respect by her acquaintances.

Pedestrianism.—George E. Wilcox, the professional pedestrian, the same who took part in the recent contest at the Theatre, commenced a seventy-two hour go-as-you-please walk, last night, at Butte, Montana. He walks against the combined forces of the competitors, Adams and Wade, who are non-professionals.

The Butte Miner says Wilcox has a record of 134 miles in twenty-four hours. If that is true he must have been afflicted with a laxy streak here, when he did not make that distance in double the time. He is accused, however, of having given the Salt Lake match away.

The Captors Caught.—On Wednesday, Mr. Merrill, of Smithfield, Cache County, had a couple of horses stolen. He got track of them and telegraphed to Sheriff Homer, of Oxford. That officer being away from home, Alonza Raymond, his brother-in-law, and John Marriott, started after the thieves, whom they found with the stolen horses in their possession. Raymond and Marriott took the animals to Oxford, where they obtained warrants and started out again to arrest and bring in the thieves. Finding them, the deputies marched the horse stealers ahead of them with pistols in hand. When the outskirts of the town were reached one of the prisoners made a sudden move, seized the bridle of Mr. Marriott's horse and commanded him to dismount, at the same time firing a shot which passed through the officer's clothes. He concluded it would be more healthy to dismount under the circumstances, and did so.

In the meantime Mr. Raymond appeared as if it had become suddenly necessary for him to visit somebody in town, as he sped off in that direction. Mr. Marriott's horse was subsequently found but the thieves escaped. The Oxford Enterprise gives full details of the affair.
