NETWORK OF TRACKS.

"Grand Union Layout" Being Put Down at First South.

A "grand union layout" is being put down by the street railway management at the intersection of First South and Main streets which will give new crossings as well as two curved tracks around each of the four corners. It is a regular network of tracks and cost $25,000. The same thing will be laid down at Second South street, while at Third, Fourth and Fifth South streets a "three part Y" is being laid. These five items in the street railway improvement cost $50,000.

SHORT SESSION TONIGHT.

Bad Work on Second Avenue Will Be Criticized Before City Council.

The city council will probably hold a short session this evening as there is little work of any consequence to be transacted unless something large bobs up suddenly. The only item on which any debate may hinge is the recommendation of the engineering committee to pay the $1,456.97 on sewer extension 176 from the sewer fund. The work done along Second avenue, where the grade has been cut down considerably, leaving the street close to surface is likely to come in for attention and some criticism will be made by certain members of the council. The bicycle, electric light and pure food ordinances are not yet drafted and will pass over indefinitely.

SOLVING TAX PROBLEMS.

Sessions of Board of Equalization Will Probably End Today.

The county commissioners, sitting as a board of equalization, will probably bring its sessions to an end today and there will be the usual pile of matters to be considered at the eleventh hour. The biggest task before the commissioners is the solving of the tax problems. The hue and cry made by the taxpayers against the 40 per cent levy made by the assessor have not been loud, but insistent, and the board has been bombarded from all sides with demands, pleas and orders to consider the matter carefully and arrange a better assessment or go back to the former levy of 70 per cent on banks' capital stocks. Numerous bankers have sent attorneys to the commissioners to prevent their side of the contention. One argument they advance is that a large portion of a bank's capital stock is invested in mortgage securities and a new law makes mortgage exempt from taxation. The banks argue that if mortgages are exempt the money tied up in them should be exempt also. They also point out that other commercial and industrial institutions are assessed upon a 90 per cent, or even as low as 40 per cent valuation, and it is hardly a square deal to make them pay upon the full value of their property. It is up to the board to straighten out the matter and arrange a solution in the shape of taxation methods which will satisfy the county and be fair to the banks.

Jewelry and furniture dealers will, in all probability, have to pay higher taxes in the near future as the board believes these enterprises are figured entirely too low. Another "trickster" for the board is the hospital question which bobbed up recently. In the past these have been exempt as they were considered charitable institutions. In a lawsuit suit against the Holy Cross, however, the supreme court ruled recently that the Holy Cross was not a charitable institution and could not escape legal processes by offering that excuse. All hospitals were assessed after this ruling and all protested.

FLEISHMAN NOW SUES.

Title to Lot 6, Block 33, Plat A, Involves Much Litigation.

Adolph Fleishman has commenced suit in the district court against A. L. Burnham to quiet title to part of lot 6, block 33, plat A. The ground has caused considerable litigation and besides being the basis for the suit mentioned is also the basis of suit by M. B. Lichtenstein for $2,500 against Fleishman, who says he paid the latter that amount for an option on the ground with the understanding that the title was clear. When it was found that the title was not clear Lichtenstein sought to get his money back and according to the understanding in the case was refused by Fleishman.
