Solid Men Will Tell

For all the bitter opposition of envious rivals, no better illustration could be had of this fact than the immense sale already attained by the great "Throat and Lung Remedy," Dr. Aug. Kaiser's German Elixir. For the cure of Coughs and Bronchial Affections, it is truly wonderful, even those suffering from Consumption in advanced stages find great relief, and numbers of patients have found, to their delight, not only relief but cure, it being perfectly harmless, makes it at once popular with mothers, who of all others have felt the necessity of such a medicine. The genuine bears the Prussian Coat of Arms, the fac-simile signature of Dr. Aug. Kaiser, and has his name blown on every 75 cent bottle. A trial size may be had for 25 cents.

For sale, wholesale and retail, by the Z. C. M. I. Drug Department and Moore Allen & Co., Salt Lake City. d222 w20

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

"Battle of Life."—Mr. Jos. G. Romney will deliver a new lecture, entitled as above, to-night, in the 20th Ward meeting house. Everybody invited, free.

Third Term.—The B. Y. Academy, at Provo, started the third term of its current academic year on Monday with a total enrollment of 270 names, far in advance of the opening day's register of any previous term.

A Sympathetic Lamp-Post.—A piece of craps was attached by a regular boy to the lamp post of Zion's Savings Bank the other day, and friend Schettler has been hoarse ever since, from the number of times he has had to say "No" to as many questions if there was anybody dead around the premises.

The parents of that boy may be the next to wear craps.

Amputation.—Wm. Jones, of Kaysville, the young man we mentioned the other evening as having accidentally shot himself through the instep of his right foot, at Grass Mountain last Tuesday, has had his foot amputated in order to save his life. The wound was more dangerous than at first supposed, and the case is still looked upon as serious.

New.—Dwyer has received Harper's Weekly and Young People for the coming week; Leaves' Illustrations for January 31, the American Agriculturist for February, and No. 2 of the Humboldt Library, containing the celebrated Tyndall's work on "The Forms of Water and Clouds, Rivers, Ice and Glaciers." The latter work in this form only costs 15 cents. It is adapted to the understanding of intelligent juveniles.

An Interesting Lecture.—We have not heard it, but it is only necessary to know that Mr. C. R. Savage will lecture on his recent trip across the Atlantic and observations in foreign lands, to know that it will be very interesting and that everybody will want to go and hear him. The lecture will be given in the 17th Ward Assembly Rooms, to-morrow night, at half past 7 o'clock. This public are invited, free.

"Still They Come!"—Another petition, praying for the removal of the political disabilities of women, has made its appearance in the Legislature. Yesterday afternoon, Representative Murdock presented a paper to that effect, signed by 333 ladies of Beaver County. Three separate motions were made as to its disposition, Mr. Murdock wishing it to go to the committee on judiciary, Mr. Hatch desiring its reference to the committee on petitions and memorials and Mr. Farr moving that it be laid upon the table to come up with the bill on the subject, now lying there.

It was decided to refer it to the committee on judiciary.

Proceedings at the Primaries.

The primary meetings last evening were well attended.

In the First Municipal Ward, Adam Spies was elected chairman and J. E. Evans, Secretary. It was decided that each bishop's ward in the precinct select its own delegate.

Joseph Booth was elected from the First Ward, William Hart from the Second, M. Wedder from the Third, Joseph McMurrin from the Eighth, A. J. Fendleton from the Ninth and James C. Woods from the Tenth Ward. No alternates were elected.

In the Second Municipal Ward, Thomas Taylor was elected chairman and Aurelius Miner, secretary. The following elections were made: Delegates, 4th Ward, Henry Wallace; 5th, Richard Brimley; 6th, Jesse West; 7th, Wm. McLachlan; 14th, Angus M. Cannon and A. Miner; 15th, W. L. Binder. Alternates—Fourth Ward, Robert Irvine; 5th, Edwin Pettit; 6th, Alex. Burt; 7th, Wm. Cooper; 14th, Geo. Grilmon; 15th, James Moyle and Samuel Russell.

In the Third Municipal Ward, A. H. Raleigh was chosen chairman and R. V. Morris, secretary. Delegates—Sixteenth Ward, J. W. Philpenn and Edward Schoenfeldt; 17th, J. W. Burbridge and John Tinger; 19th, Alfred Solomon and Robert Smith. Alternates—Sixteenth Ward, Mrs. Diana Reid and Walter J. Lewis; 17th, Julia Howe and O. H. Biggs; 19th, Philip Pageley and Mrs. Alford.

In the Fourth Municipal Ward, T. B. Lewis was elected chairman and John R. Park secretary. Delegates elected—18th Ward, Robert Patrick; 20th Ward, Henry Pazy and John Sharp; 21st Ward, W. L. N. Allen. Alternates—18th Ward, B. H. Schettler; 20th, Wm. Salmon; 21st, Andrew Burt. Alfred Ison was chosen alternate to Bishop John Sharp, elected delegate from the precinct at large. A motion was carried that the delegates be instructed to vote for a resident of the bench for Councilor or Alderman of this municipal ward.

In the Fifth Municipal Ward, Z. Snow was elected chairman and T. V. Williams secretary. It was decided that each Bishop's Ward, viz., 11th, 13th and 13th, should elect two delegates. J. P. Froese and C. H. Crow were elected delegates from the 11th Ward; T. V. Williams and M. G. Attwood from the 13th Ward, and H. S. Eldredge and Heber J. Grant from the 13th Ward. On motion it was decided that each Bishop's Ward elect one alternate, and in accordance therewith, C. H. Livingston was chosen from the 11th Ward; John Druce from the 13th, and J. E. Taylor from the 13th.

Fresh Laurels.—The concert given last evening by the Carlees Orchestra, was all that it promised or was expected to be. The audience was larger, and even more enthusiastic in its appreciation of the entertainment than on the occasion of the opening of the series, and it can also be said that the character and merit of the performance was, in every way, deserving of the increase of patronage and encouragement.

The overture by the orchestra were more difficult than before, but were executed with a grace and finish that denoted careful and diligent rehearsal, as well as skill and genuine talent on the part of the performers. The most artistic of the operatic selections was "Puritan," though "Lucia" was quite as popular. The "Sleighbell Galop" was superb as a descriptive piece, but it remained for the "Turkish Review" to eclipse everything else in the instrumental line, in the minds of the public. Mr. Pederson, though but an amateur on the euphonium, handled the instrument like an old acquaintance, and succeeded in delighting everybody with his solo. Mr. Hedger also gave the utmost satisfaction with his flute solo, and received an encore in testimony of the fact. The string quartette was not appreciated as it deserved. This was due, no doubt, not only to its being a novelty, but from the more cogent reason that too extensive for the volume of sound to be extracted from four instruments alone. In another place the quartette would have been more successful. Closing the notice of the instrumental department, we can also make honorable mention of the Croxall Brass Band, (though "Goblin" did not take so well as its predecessor "Peanuts") and of Mr. Henry Giles, the accompanist, whose excellent playing on the pianoforte contributed a good share toward the success of the entire programme.

The vocal portion of the entertainment was excellent throughout. We have never heard Miss Olsen and Mr. McAllister with so much pleasure as in the duet from "Il Trovatore." The voices blended beautifully, and, assisted by the orchestra, whose accompaniment for this, as well as the other songs, was the ingenious and charming arrangement of Professor Carlees, made a decided impression. They were obliged to repeat the duet to satisfy the audience. Miss Edith Russell also sang charmingly, and gave "Barney O'Hea" as an encore to "Pretty Primrose." Mr. McAllister's "Alone, Where Art Thou?" and Miss Olsen's "One Morning, O So Early," were triumphs and were both repeated in answer to enthusiastic calls for encores.

The third and last concert of the series, will be given on Thursday evening, February 12th.

Tar and Feathers.—At about a quarter past 12 this morning a party of some 25 masked men called at the office of the Morning Enquirer, and seizing Mr. King, the city editor of that paper, forcibly took him from the office in the hands of the entire force. He was securely held and gagged with a handkerchief which was thrust into his mouth, and conveyed to the rear of a building a little south of the Enquirer office, where some coal tar was hastily smeared upon his face and neck, and a few handfuls of feathers applied, after which the party withdrew in a hurry, Mr. King following with the hope of recognizing some of the party, but we believe, to no purpose.

A Kindly Hint.

In accordance with the spirit of Christianity, when one person has been injured by another, instead of making complaints of others, to the probable detriment of the person offending, he should seek out the wrong doer, tell him of his fault, and ask for an explanation of his conduct. So, when a person has been misrepresented (either intentionally or otherwise) through the columns of a newspaper, the more reasonable and effective policy would be to go to the paper that made the misstatement, inform them of it and ask for a public denial or explanation of the same. All honest newspapers, at any time, willing to acknowledge an error and make an apology. And that this is the better course, instead of using another paper as the medium for the refutation, is evident from the fact that, as different journals, have different readers, a mistake can always be better and sooner corrected by having the "explanation" appear in the same columns as did the error itself, thus sending it through the same channel to the same destination. It is always false to give the one who has made the mistake, the first chance of correcting it, and never, until this has been positively refused, seek to involve others in a controversy with which they have nothing to do.

An Explanation.—Just before going to press, the following was handed in for publication. Lack of time and space forbids comment at present:

SALT LAKE CITY, January 26, 1886.

Editors Deseret News:

In Saturday's News, under the heading, "The Lady Constituents Respond," it is represented that in my opposing the passage of a "Bill" to remove the political disabilities of women, I expressed a desire to hear from my lady constituents with regard to it. I would now like to say I expressed no such desire, but stated that I thought we had our political privileges very fairly divided, by the women, if citizens, being allowed to vote without further qualifications, while males were allowed to vote and hold office if citizens and taxpayers, etc. I make this statement from a desire to have my position understood correctly.

A word in relation to the petition from Jaab. I am advised somewhat of its purpose and of the means resorted to in getting it up, and here state that it was brought about more by newspaper advocacy than by the principle of "woman's rights" and to my knowledge was signed by a number of women who a little misunderstanding as to what it was for.

I am confident that if the women of Utah had the subject fairly submitted to them, they would say they were satisfied with their political privileges now enjoyed, and would not ask for the passage of the bill in before the House.

Correspondence.

LONDON LETTER.
[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONDON, England, January 5th, 1878.

Editors Deseret News:

Consistent to the last in its disastrous character, the old year passed away and with it went a long succession of gales which did much mischief to property, and in one instance were attended by an appalling sacrifice of human life. Sad, indeed, in many ways have been the lessons this country has had to learn in 1878; for what with war, bad trade, and worse harvests, few things could be so detrimental, can be said to have prospered; in sooth, it has been a very Pandora's box of evils, but, like it, they are said to be in the hands of the gods, and it is not unreasonable to anticipate better times, as a repetition of the painful experiences of the past twelve months can hardly be deemed probable. The year, it must be allowed, in agricultural affairs, is in a rather backward state. Frost set in early, very early, and the season of a protracted harvest, and consequently much land intended to be sown with wheat could not be planted. This was especially the case in the midlands and far districts, and a report recently received from these localities, affirms that only about one-half of the intended quantity of seed has been sown. As, however, the harvest has been somewhat late, at any rate, of this season will be speedily made up. No opinion can yet be hazarded as to the effect of the past severe weather upon the growing wheat in this country, as the plant is only just beginning to appear above the surface, but it may be remarked that in France increased appropriations are felt on this point. Roots have been much injured by frost, and it will be a difficult and expensive matter to get the stock over the winter, as the scanty store of fodder is rapidly diminishing. The damp weather at the beginning of the year has rather deteriorated the condition of freshly-thrashed grain; but the quantity offered for sale at Mark Lane has been very small, and prices have not undergone any notable reduction. Last Monday's list of arrivals into London showed only about 10,000 quarters of foreign wheat, but the imports have materially increased since then, last Friday's return giving 35,340 quarters. Although not altogether untrammelled by holiday influences, the trade has been affected but slightly by the full rates of last Monday have been obtainable. Supply is for the moment, no doubt, in excess of demand, and stocks are increasing. Holders at the same time do not seem inclined to press the market, the result being a general inclination to pause until the situation in America has further developed, all eyes eagerly watching for the success or collapse of the great speculative enterprises afloat there. Nothing new can be recorded with regard to this movement, stocks being strongly held by large capitalists and able financiers, and prices ruling several shillings per quarter above London levels. According to the latest postal and telegraphic advices, the attitude of America is confident and even defiant. What the result will be time will show, but I cannot help considering the undertaking extremely hazardous, having regard to the fact that the price of wheat in this country is by no means unduly low. With an abnormally high rate of value such as existed during 1874, the first half of the past year's speculative manipulations, such as these in question could hardly fall below the level of a rise of 12s. per quarter, the result of a "corner" is naturally diminished.
