

young engineer and nephew of the distinguished French geographical writer Jacques Elyze Reclus. Vaillant, however, insisted that Madame Reclus gave him the money as an act of enmity, not as a subscription to the cause of anarchy or in any way to further the ends which he had in view. Vaillant said he regretted that the bomb did not have the effect he desired and explained that this was owing to the fact that one of his neighbors in the gallery accidentally knocked his arm while he was in the act of throwing the loaded missile at the deputies.

At this point the presiding judge turned to him and said: "I suppose you wanted to hit Cassimir Perrier, the premier." "No," replied Vaillant, "I did not aim at any one in particular; but I wanted to kill some ministers. All ministers are the same to me." He continued:

"It is true I hit some of the spectators, but I only intended to hit the deputies or ministers and I would rather see three or four ministers or deputies killed than have one spectator injured."

The judge tried to interrupt the person, but Vaillant succeeded in adding: "I am not waging war against the people but against society, and I aimed directly at these parasite deputies."

The jury retired at 5:35 p.m. and were absent twenty-five minutes. Upon their return it was announced that they had found the prisoner guilty.

Upon hearing the foreman's answer to the judge's question, asking him if the jury had agreed on a verdict, Vaillant sprang to his feet and shouted: "It is death. I thank you for it."

The presiding judge then announced the sentence of death, and Vaillant upon hearing the words which condemned him to death shouted: "Vive l'anarchie."

The Tooele county court has notified the Chamber of Commerce authorities in this city that it has appropriated $75 towards the Midwinter Fair fund.

At Butte, Mont., members of a family who were being given assistance by the county used the money to attend the theater. They were soon cut off the list when their action was known.

In Arizona only two papers oppose statehood, the Silver Belt and the Tucson Star. In New Mexico all the Democratic papers favor the postponement of statehood until March, 1895.

Four chains for the Mare Island navy yard have been sent from Sacramento, where they arrived by rail from the East. They are designed for some of the war ships. The combined weight of the four is over thirteen tons.

A tramp knocked at the door of Mrs. Hunt at Riverside, Cal., and when she opened it he seized her hand and tried to remove the rings from her fingers. A shot fired through the door by the lady caused the hasty departure of the thief.

At Greene Highlands in the Pecos valley, N. M., a stream of water was struck by well borers last week which rose to the height of the second story of a neighboring court house. Artesian water assures the prosperity of the Pecos valley.

Colorado City is determined to develop its petroleum resources. The oil company has leased 400 acres of oil lands near Colorado City and decided to issue stock to raise money to go down for oil. Petroleum is known to exist there.

Now that the holidays are over, says the Brigham Bugler, let us turn our attention to the canning factory project. Brigham is in need of all the small enterprises that she can secure, as they will give employment to our young men and women. A canning factory would prove of incalculable benefit to us all, and we can have it in operation by next summer. If a meeting is called to take action regarding the enterprise, let everyone attend and hear what is to be done.

OBITUARY NOTES.

SISTER KJER JORGENSEN.

Fountain Green, Jan. 8.—After a severe illness of 25 years, a patient, kind, and highly respectable lady passes to the other sphere. She was born in Denmark on the 1st of December, 1821, and departed from this world of trouble on Jan. 5th, 1894. She emigrated to Utah with her husband in the year 1873, and made their home at Fountain Green, where herself and husband lived for seven years, and then moved to Huntington, Emery county. After living there for eleven years a return was made to Fountain Green.

The funeral services were held at the meeting house last Sabbath. The deceased bore an excellent reputation, and is quite widely known throughout the Territory. Z. C.

JEHU COX.

Jehu Cox died at Fairview on December 26, 1893, of old age. The deceased was born in Knox county, Ky., Sept. 5, 1803; was married to Sarah R. Pyle, Jan. 13, 1824, in Monroe county, Ind.; joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in Crawford county, Mo., Jan. 12, 1838, and was ordained an Elder the same day by Elders Benjamin Clapp and Isaac Alred. In November, 1839, he moved to Adams county, Illinois, in Hancock county in April, 1842; and in May, 1846, left Nauvoo with the exodus of the Saints from that place; came to the Bluffs and wintered at Council Point. In the spring of 1847 he crossed the Missouri river, went up to what was known as "Kimball's Farm," six miles above Winter Quarters, on the west side of the river, and raised a crop there; crossed the plains in the summer of 1848 in Heber C. Kimball's company, arriving in Salt Lake valley September 24th. He located on Little Cottonwood in February, 1850, where he resided for ten years, filling the office of counselor to the Bishop most of the time. In 1860 he moved to North Bend, Sanpete county (afterwards called Fairview), where he filled the offices of counselor to the Bishop and president of the High Priests' quorum until becoming so enfeebled by age that he could not attend to the duties of the office.

He died true and faithful to the principles of the Gospel; and his last words were exhorting all to faithfulness and speaking of the glories of the Gospel. —[COM. ELIAS COX.

JAMES BOYACK.

James Boyack died at his residence in Spanish Fork City, December 19th, 1893, from an attack of pneumonia, brought on by a gripe. He was confined to his bed for one week, and passed quietly away surrounded by his family.

Brother Boyack was born September

14th, 1828, in the parish of Mains, Forfarshire, Scotland; was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints Feb. 9th, 1850; emigrated to Utah in 1853, arriving in Salt Lake City Oct. 5th, 1853; moved to Spanish Fork March, 1856, at which place he resided until his death. He assisted in quarrying rock for the foundation of the Salt Lake Temple, and took active part in the troubles of 1857-8. He was a true Latter-day Saint and a good citizen, having the confidence and esteem of all classes of the people. He leaves behind him a wife and a large family of sons and daughters who through their tears are looking for a happy reunion in the near future. Brother Boyack, while for many years taking active part in ministering to the necessities of the living, did not forget the dead, and hundreds on the other side will give him a joyous welcome.

SAMUEL J. DENTON.

Many Ogdenites will regret to learn of the sudden death of Mr. Samuel Denton at Corning, New York, on Friday last. Mr. Denton spent several months in Ogden during the fall of 1890 as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Cannon, and made many friends while here. Mr. Denton was related by marriage to Francis A. Brown of this city, having married his niece, who lives at Corning. F. J. Cannon, who is in the east, will attend the funeral before returning home.

THOMAS ORGILL.

Thomas Orgill, of Mount Pleasant, Sanpete county, died at his home on Jan. 3, 1894. He was born August 31, 1821, in Newall, Derbyshire, England; was baptized in 1843; married Ann Cartwright in February, 1848, and moved to Staffordshire Pottery, where he was widely known among the Elders and Saints. His wife died in 1860, and in 1864 he married again, his wife being Louisa Cresswell. In 1869 he emigrated to Utah with his family; in the spring of 1870 he moved from this city and located at Mount Pleasant. His wife died Jan. 25, 1871, and some years after he married Mary Christoffsen, who now survives him. He leaves thirteen children and thirty-six grandchildren. Brother Orgill died as he had lived, a faithful Latter-day Saint. Millennial Star, please copy.

LEWIS RICKS.

Lewis Ricks, a brother of President Ricks, who died at Paris, Idaho, January 2nd, was born at Madison county, Ill., in 1831. He came to Utah in 1858 and emigrated to Bear Lake with the pioneers. He was married to Emmere Allen December 25, 1859. She died over twenty years ago, and he never married again. Brother Ricks was a member of the High Council of Bear Lake Stake, and held that position from the time the Stake was organized up to the day of his death. He leaves a family consisting of four daughters and one son. The funeral was held at Paris on January 4th, and was largely attended. President Budge and other leading brethren spoke of his good qualities. —Rexburg, Idaho, Silver Hammer.

THE DEAD.

Peaceful be their Rest.

EVANS.—At Center, Tooele county, December 26, 1893, Benjamin P. Evans; born April 26, 1818, in Carhnganshire, South Wales.

SMITH.—Entered into eternal rest, at her home in Salt Lake City, January 9, 1894, of consumption, in her fifty-third year, Cordelia Peet Ferrell Allen Smith, wife of Amos K. Smith, M. D.

GRIFFITHS.—In this city, Jan. 10th, of dropsy, Ethel Vilate, the daughter of Richard and Betsy Griffiths; aged eleven years, two months and nine days.