Engineer Meets Horrible Fate in Evanston Roundhouse.

(Special to the "News.")

Evanston, Wyo, June 14.—Garrett Lowham, a rallway engineer of Evan-ston, Wyoming, was killed here yester-day afternoon in a horrible manner. He had beeu olling his engine prepara-tory to going out with it when a helper started it. In motion. Lowbam was caught between the engine and door and crushed to dearb caught between the engine and door and crushed to death. Mr. Lowham is well known in this vicinity, having been employed as ma-chinist prior to the Spanish-American war, when he resigned and went to the front as a volunteer from Evanston. On his return he resumed railroading as a locomotive fireman from which position he was advanced to engineer about three years ago.

he was advanced to engineer about three years ago. His aged parents live on a ranch at Hillard, near here and they with the widow and three small children have the sympathy of a host of friends. A brother, Joseph, was killed two years ago in the Azusa wreck, being conduc-tor on one of the trains which collided.

COAL IS COMING.

The first shipment of coal from Rock Springs in weeks is now on its way t Salt Lake. This consists of 45 cars an according to mine operators and rail-roads, the local market will be supplied in the best possible shape from now on. The recent shut-down, occasioned by difficulties between mine owners and employes interrupted production and made things look gloomy for a while. The mises in acknowledging the new union put an end to the trouble. The Rio Grande has not met the Short Line's storage rate yet but some an-nouncement is expected upon S. V.

YEAR COMES TO END.

Directorate of Free Kindergarten Association Reports Unusual Success.

The eighth years' work of the board of directors of the Salt Lake City Free Kindergarten association has come to an end. The secretary reports as follows:

"Miss Lamson's work during the past year has been earnest and faith-ful and persistent visiting of the homes of pupils has been one of its best features, 27 such visits having been made during April, with a well-sustained average throughout the nonths ago, the jailers at the city basthe have had all kinds of trouble in keeping locks and bars in normal condition. It will be recalled that Relis dition. It will be recalled that Relis was in the city jail for a day or two and managed to saw one of the bars of his cell. He was caught in the act by the jailer and was later taken to tho county jail, from which place he as-caped by sawing through the rolary and through a window. He has never been heard from since. Before leaving the city jail, however, he imparted cell-siderable valuable information to the prisoners as to how to fooi the jailer, ruin the cell locks and otherwise pave the way to freedom. been made during April, with a well-sustained average throughout the year. By means of such work, in connection with the mothers' meet-ings, kindergarten influence has been of far widee scope than is indicated by the average daily attendance alone and during the year 50 children have been reached. "This year's celebration of Thanks-giving is deserving of special mention

"This year's celebration of Thanks-giving is deserving of special mention as the free kindergarten was enter-tained by the small pupils of the uni-versity kindergarten, who furnished the refreshments and waited upon their guests, gaining a precious ex-perience in the value of service. Do-nations for the Christmas fete from friends of the kindergarten were most generous. The closing day was made ruin the cell locks and otherwise pave the way to freedom. As a result of the information given by Reis, Jailer Ripley and Jailer Wil-kinson have had all kinds of trouble. Chief Sheets says that every day or two work has to be done on the locks and levers in the cells to keep them in working order. Only westerday afternoon Jailer Ripfriends of the kindergarten were most senerous. The closing day was made a loyful occasion by the automobile ride, followed by a luncheon at the kindergraten, this treat being the con-tribution of Miss Lena Hague and Miss Halen Crawford. "During the year there have been the usual subscriptions from the wo-men's clubs, which are looked upon as regular superprise of this work. in working order. Only yesterday afternoon Jailer Rip-ley had to work for a couple of hours digging soap, bread and matches out of the locks. He says the worst trou-ble is in the boys' department of the fall, but considerable trouble has also here measurated in other calls. The

For this result the kindergarten board is largely indebt-ed to the efforts of the P. E. O. so-citey, who worked enthusiastically for the success of the day, taking no share of the proceeds. Shorily before 1 o'clock this morning Shortly before 1 o'clock this morning Officer Ripley arrested a man giving the name of A. E. Richards on the charge of destrioying property. It is alleged that Richards attempted to wreek a "wheel of fortune" at the Salt Palace because the proprietor of the same refused to pay Richards what the latter demanded. It is claimed that same refused to pay Richards what the latter demanded. It is claimed that the accused has acted as a "booster" for the concern and of course won many "valuable" prizes. He claims to have paid his money and then when he went to cash in the manager refused to refund the money spent. Then the inouble started and Richards, it is claimed, tried to wreck the machine. He will be tried before Judge Dichl to-morrow morning.

In the cas of W. D. Clays against S. Hays, a decree was rendered today by Judge Morse in favor of defendant. The action was brought to compel defendant to account for certain livestock and also a one-fourth interest in the Clays placer and a one-third interest in the Olda and Mainspring iode claims located in Bingham, which it is alleged were transforred to detendant by Daniel Clays, the father of plaintiff, as securi-ty for an indebtedness of $500 which arose in October, 1882. Plaintiff al-leged that the deed given to the min-ing property was in the nature of a mortgage and asked that the defendant be compelled to transfer the property be compelled to transfer the property back to plaintiff and in addition to ac-ount for the stock. Defendant claimed that the deed was meant for an absoshare of the proceeds. "During the past year the expense of conducting the kindergarten has been greater than ever before owing to the fact of having to pay rent for the first time, but notwithstanding the outlay of $713.85 the year closes with $282.67 in the treasury, which insures the successful beginning of the work next fall, when it is hoped that the scope of what is being ac-complished may be widened." that the deed was meant for an abso-lute transfer of the property and was for a consideration of $500. He also claimed that the personal property had been sold by him and Daniel Clays, and the proceeds divided according to their respective portions at the time of the sale. The court found the issues in fa-vor of Hays and rendered a decree ac-cordingly.
