

caught him by the throat. The man then became general and Bill soon on the floor, but managed to continue firing over his shoulder. He managed to escape his pursuers at a moment and leaping through an open window began firing at the inside. By this time several of attacking party were wounded, finally one, named Henry Page, at outside the door and succeeded in shooting the man. Henry, receiving a ball through his leg and exclaimed "Boys I'm going to die." He still continued to fight and aided in tying both the men by the arms with a rope, which the legions had gone to the aid and procured. Sixteen shots were fired by the outlaws, the man being as follows: H. Karsting, but the body and died at 1.15 a.m. John A. Karsting, shot in the breast, hip and arm; Henry Karsting, shot in the neck; H. Karsting, shot in the breast, the bullet striking a bone and coming out at the back. It is thought that all the men will recover. Word was sent to Waverly, and as soon as possible, Deputy Sheriff A. Davidson went for the captured men and lauded them in jail at stock yesterday morning.

FOREIGN.

LONDON, 5.—A dispatch to the Standard from Sierra Leone stating that Kaffie Kakali, author of the war in Ashantee, is forcibly removed to his throne. In the recent debate in the House of Commons, Sir Wm. Harcourt, the Secretary, implied that Lord Roseberry in his capacity of Under Secretary for the Home Department, specially charged with Scotch affairs, merely as a temporary measure intended to propitiate Scotch members. Lord Roseberry has resigned the office of Under-Secretary of the Home Department. John Tomlinson, Hilbert, Member of Parliament for Oldham, and Parliamentary Secretary to the Local Government, is appointed Lord Roseberry's successor. The resignation is to recent expressions of feelings in the House of Commons that the Secretary for the Home Department should be a member of the House of Commons. Lord Roseberry's resignation was announced by Mr. Kavanagh and Hansard were sent to England from Dublin yesterday.

LONDON, 5.—Edward Barrington, author of the Kerry Sentinel, and the author of that paper, have each been sentenced to imprisonment for months on account of the publication in the office of the Sentinel placard inviting persons who wished to join the Invincibles, to attend a meeting. They will appeal against their sentences. Two compositions on the paper pleaded guilty to printing in the publication of the placard, and each was sentenced to months. It is rumored that the Invincibles are extensively used poison in reeling obnoxious persons. The police are investigating a number of suspicious deaths in the last year, especially that of a hotel named Jury, of Dublin, who died a fortnight after the Phoenix murders. From disclosures by members the authorities do not think that Jury was poisoned. The man alleged for the poisoning is he inadvertently opened a letter addressed to Tynan, who was staying at Jury's hotel. Jury died that the letter contained a poison in regard to the secret society. Fearing the vengeance of members of the society, Jury destroyed the letter. A waiter, however, informed Tynan that Jury had written for him. It is thought Jury's death was then decided upon. The official report from Tonquin in regard to the recent hostilities at Hanoi, states that Captain Hanel, states that Captain Hanel was killed while endeavoring to prevent the capture of a gun, which was subsequently recovered. The French column retreated in order. The wounded were sent back to Hanoi; the dead left behind. The enemy lost 118 men. The situation at Hanoi is reassuring. Companies of troops started for Haiphong for Hanoi on the 11th. The commander of Fort Namdinh reports that he is able to repel attack. It is stated that the principal subject of the Cabinet Council to-day to examine, in view of a rupture with China, information supplied by an officer familiar with that country.

St. Petersburg, 5.—The Journal de St. Petersburg says: The coronation of the Czar will leave behind indelible traces in the hearts of the people of the great acts effected amidst its splendors. The Czar's letter to Degiers regarding Russia's condition and her relations with foreign powers was a finished programme of peace, with which the people sympathize.

PARIS, 5.—War preparations on a great scale are being made by China. Three corps of troops are now in readiness and the Chinese fleet is under orders to sail for Tonquin.

LONDON, 5.—The Times correspondent at Paris says: The Nihilist-Commune has been issued which states that while the force of the Russian government and its most important allies have been concentrated at Moscow during the festivities the Nihilists took advantage of it to spread documents and enroll supporters in St. Petersburg and other cities. It says the strength of the party in St. Petersburg is greatly increasing, and asserts that there were at the coronation officials and others under orders of the Nihilists near enough to the Czar to have struck him on the brow if the word had been given. It was even feared that some too zealous parties might throw a grenade at the Czar.

MOSCOW, 6.—The Telegraph, a newspaper printed here, has been suppressed by the authorities for printing objectionable articles.

LONDON, 6.—It has been officially asserted this afternoon that there is no foundation for any alarm in rumors that may have been recently put in circulation in regard to the state of the health of the Queen. Her Majesty is said to be progressing slowly towards complete recovery of health, and she is pronounced decidedly better since she has been at Balmoral. The court circular issued this afternoon, states that she drove out twice on Monday in company with Princess Beatrice.

ARTHUR BRITS.

No. 51.—RIDDLE.

I'm a curious little curled imp,
My back is like a bow,
And, tho' I've neither legs nor feet,
I'm always on the go.
In wagon and in carriage
I'm always to be found;
I never walk upon the earth,
But burrow in the ground.
I haven't an ounce of sense,
Of wit I've not a pound,
But with knowledge and intelligence
I always do abound.
In everything I have a place,
At beginning and at ending,
And, tho' I am a little elf,
There's much on me depending.
Without my help none would be gay,
Brave knights would be less knightly,

And every little winsome sprite
Be sure to be less sprightly.
Without my help the grave would rave,
And ghosts in hosts appear,
Bald-headed gents, sedate and grave,
Wigless, be filled with fear
To lose their wigs and goggles, too;
But, much more to be dreaded,
The gay, the grave, the girls, and gents
Would surely be beheaded.
I've told you all I dare to tell
Without to you confessing
My name is Riddle, which, you will find,
Is only got by guessing. FITT.

No. 52.—HIDDEN POETS.

[The names of fourteen poets are hidden in the following sentences:]

1. Auntie says Lester Teuny's only twenty one, but I think she doesn't know Lester's age.
2. Fiddle, it is time to go and take the hay. Never mind reciting that poetry to me now.
3. Mr. Bethol Messenger sang his solo well, but I think his brother Wail is a much better singer.
4. Professor Ambry anticipates giving an entertainment in select reading this evening, but I shall be obliged to give up attending it.
5. In company with Mrs. Rapp, I attended the concert last evening. We were greatly annoyed by two roughs under the influence of alcohol—Land Law and Harry Long. Fellows like these should keep away from such places. S. D. T.

No. 53.—CHARADE.

Within the crimson-curtained hall,
Within the home of wealth and pride,
Once paced my first with hasty tread,
And gazed upon his fair young bride.

His glance was stern, but hers was sad,
His face was fire and hers was cold,
"My second one," he harshly cried,
"Why have you done a thing so bold."

The fire-light gleamed upon her face,
Sobbingly white—her tears now dried—
As 'gainst my whole she calmly leaned,
And—"I will not reply," she cried.
