

MINORITY REPORT ON RALEIGH CASE

Filed and Discussed at Last Evening's Council Meeting.

CAMPAIGN COLLECTION.

Ten Per Cent Grab Roundly Denounced by Councilman Fernstrom.

Interest in last night's meeting of the city council centered in the discussion and filing of the minority report dealing with the matter of the charges made some weeks ago against Street Supervisor J. T. Raleigh.

The majority report filed a week ago was more or less in the nature of a whitewash, but last night's document was startlingly different. The enforced collection of 10 per cent of the wages of the men under him by Raleigh for a political campaign fund was denounced in no unmeasured terms.

The minority members of the special committee to investigate the charges of competing employees of the city to pay 10 per cent of their wages to the American party campaign fund, leave to report that the committee met, and that the investigation was very peculiarly conducted.

The majority of the committee acted as attorneys for the defense, and as a consequence the minority members had to appear as prosecuting attorneys.

PROCLAMATION OUT.

Issued by Governor Cutler Relative to The Coming Election.

The following proclamation has been issued by Governor Cutler as prescribed by the statutes, relative to the coming election.

"AMERICAN HIERARCHY."

After the presentation of his report Mr. Fernstrom spoke briefly on the conditions laid bare by the same, in which he declared that the scheme to create an "American Hierarchy" was hatched in the police station.

PROMOTION FOR KEMPTON.

Fire Chief C. T. Vall announced the appointment by himself of George Louisa, O. Pettigill, A. L. Hancock and J. W. Watkins as firemen, and the promotion of F. H. Kempton to a fire tenancy, and requested ratification of the appointments by the council, which was granted.

GRAVEL PIT SPECIALS.

The report of the special committee appointed to investigate the matter of the leasing of gravel pits on city land was adopted. The committee recommended that all existing leases be terminated October 1, and that hereafter a charge of $100 per year in advance be made to all parties desiring to lease city gravel.

narrating a perilous trip by boat, taken by himself, his wife and little son, on Aug. 13. The letter, which was written the day following the adventure, is as follows:

"Yesterday morning Fannie, George and I had an awful experience on the lake. During a lull in the storm we rowed over to the hotel to get some bread. The lake was then as smooth as glass. When we were returning, a wave about one-third of the way across, a furious wind suddenly came up, and in a moment or two the lake was tossing terribly.

"We were more than a mile from shore and I could not move the boat at all with the oars. The storm kept increasing, and the waves started to lap the back of the boat and break over it. I was deathly afraid we were going to be swamped every minute. The passenger boat was about a quarter of a mile to our left and I shouted to the captain to come to our assistance, but he did not hear me. He saw our peril, however, and came to our rescue, ready to rush in to our aid, but giving us some time to close for fear of darning the wake from his boat.

"Fortunately I remembered a row I had made on Cayuga lake and how he managed the boat in the waves. Fannie also remembered experiences she had had and acted as pilot, while I exerted all my strength in pulling to keep the boat headed with the waves. I realized that if we allowed the boat to roll the boat side-wise we were lost.

"Fortunately the wind was shoreward, and, together with the waves, took us in at a terrific rate. It then became a question as to how long I could control the direction of the boat, and I pulled the left oar hard and strong. The big boat still kept its distance, the captain telling me afterward that he saw I had the right idea and that he was afraid he might make matters worse by coming after us unless I lost control.

"When we were half frantic with fear and thought we were gone, Fannie saw we were fast approaching shore and reassured me. And so we rode on for a few minutes, finally landing on the rocky shore more than a mile from camp. I jumped out, grabbing the rope, pulled the boat high on the beach, Fannie then almost went into hysterics, although she had written a glowing article about me and was screaming like mad toward the pier, several hundred yards away. We found the campers half frantic with fear for us and extremely glad we were safe.

CHILDREN IN PAIN

Never cry as do children who are suffering from hunger. Such is the cause of all baby who cry and are suffering from hunger. This is caused from their food being assimilated but devoured by worms. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will cause them to cease crying and begin to thrive at once. Give it trial. Sold by Z. C. M. Drug Dept., 112-114 Main St.

CARE OF THE POOR.

The board of statistics and equalization has just finished the compilation of the cost for the years 1904 and 1905 of taking care of Utah's poor. The figures for 1905 show a substantial decrease in comparison with those of the previous year. The expenditures for the two years are as follows:

CHURCH IS LOYAL TO GOVERNMENT MORNING PROBLEM IS HARD TO SOLVE

Elder Mathonihah Thomas Explains Principles of Its Organization.

SERMON IN THE TABERNACLE.

No Man Can Be True to His Religion Who is False to the Government of His Country.

At the regular Sunday services in the tabernacle Sunday afternoon, Elder Mathonihah Thomas was the speaker, and he dealt with the question of organization within the Church, pointing out in no uncertain terms what its boundaries were, and showing that there was no proper allegiance to the church without a loyalty to the nation under which it prospered.

The services were opened by prayer by Elder Joseph E. Taylor and the singing of the hymn "In Our Redeemer's Name." Mr. Thomas then commenced on a discourse explanatory of the need for organization in the church, prefacing it with the statement that it was largely for the benefit of visitors and those who had formed a misconception of the Church's organization and discipline.

Speaking of the hope for life after death on this earth, the speaker declared that the conception of heaven was not a place of rest, exempt from sin. There was work to do there in carrying out God's purposes. Intelligence would there secure its natural outlet, and become most effective for good, without being held in check by inhibitions harmful to it.

In regard to the coming revelation Mr. Thomas said that he felt that the specific promise recorded in the Bible that the Lord will not fall those who seek in His name to be righteous, is as good for these days as it was anciently. Therefore it was reasonable to believe that there could be direct revelation today as there was anciently, should occasion for it arise.

The Church form of government, he said, according to the dictates of the right to worship according to the dictates of his own conscience, and it in no way placed the leading authorities in the position of autocrats, such as they are published and declared to be by the enemies of the Church. Those ignorant of its principles join in this belief, and build out of this misconception a consequent belief that there was not a proper relation between the Church and the government. No man, said Mr. Thomas, can be loyal to his church and disloyal to the government.

that there is constancy in spiritual law. The spiritual method of interpretation is justified by the soul's manifold spiritual needs as noted in the example of the spiritual method is application of Scripture to present needs and conditions; the original meaning may be unknown or ignored. Hence application is a better term than interpretation.

In the afternoon, Prof. Day continued his lectures on "Personal Work," in which he dealt with intellectual difficulties, indifference, deficient sense of sin, conviction, fear, true and false, willingness to repent and believe, delusions, antagonism, hidden sin, waiting for more light, delaying submission.
