Oakley, Cassia Co., Ida., Sept. 16.-The cool spell of 10 days ago having passed, we are now enjoying lovely weather. The fall is bringing a revival of prosperity to the people of this valley. Sheep buyers, representing Mr. B. F. Sanders of Utah, are here and, it is stated, have bargained with our sheepmen for 10,000 head of muttons to be delivered by Oct. 15. The price per head will average $2, so that it means $20,000 to our people from this one line of business. Horse buyers, representing Iowa people, have also been cleaning the ranges, making room for better stock,

CASSIA GRAIN CROP.

The grain crop this season is much heavier than that of last year. Notwithstanding this fact prices are good. Wheat is bringing $1.25 per cwt, oats $1.50 and barley, $1.25. The hay crop has been heavy. Farmers will soon be through cutting the third crop. The price of alfalfa hay is about $3 per ton. Although this figure is considerably less than last year's price, still the large crop will make up much of the loss. Kathaniel Montgomery from home, First Asst. John Q.
