

SPEAKERS FOR MASS MEETING

Five Prominent Citizens to Address Gathering at Salt Lake Theater.

OTHERS WILL BE SECURED.

Success is Attending Movement for Clean Politics—Supporters Coming in from All Parties.

Five speakers, who will participate in the rally for the promotion of a citizens' independent ticket in the municipal election this fall, which will be held in the Salt Lake Theater on Wednesday evening, Sept. 1, were announced this morning by the temporary committee. They are Frank B. Stevens, Nephi L. Morris, L. B. Hall, George Lawrence and James D. Murdoch. Several other prominent speakers will be heard and their names will be given out later. The committee on entertainment is making arrangements for a musical program. The entire program will be completed Saturday.

The finance committee which was appointed last week has met with success in its work. The committee has secured enough funds to carry out the expense of the rally and contributions are being made to the general campaign fund. From all reports the movement for an independent ticket is growing rapidly and finding supporters from all parties. The rally will no doubt be largely attended. The cry of the movement is "clean politics" and will undoubtedly receive the support of the citizens who are tired of the manner in which the city's affairs have been handled by the present administration.

TICKET WILL SUCCEED.
In speaking of the work which is being done, Charles Pelt, chairman of the temporary committee, says he is well satisfied. The other members of the committee state with a good business man's ticket in the field that there is no doubt as to its success.

FAILS FROM ROOF.
Frederick Emil Richter dislocated Right Shoulder.

While painting the roof of a new residence at 167 D street, Frederick Emil Richter, aged 50 years, slipped and fell to the ground, a distance of 20 feet. He was hurried to the emergency hospital, and examination showed that his right shoulder was dislocated and his right arm was broken. Dr. F. B. Steele was called in and ordered the injured man removed to St. Francis hospital. Richter, who resided at 935 east Sixth South street, is a recent arrival in Salt Lake, coming from Leipzig, Germany, three and a half years ago. He was employed by Mikado as a painter.

DEATH OF G. H. TRIBE.
Prominent Ogden Business Man Passes Away in This City.

George H. Tribe, one of the prominent merchants of Ogden, died at his residence at 56 south First West street in this city at 2:45 this morning, of general debility. There will be prayer service held over the body in the fourteenth ward meetinghouse on Sunday, from 10:30 to 11:30 a. m. The body will be shipped to Ogden at noon Sunday, and notice of the Ogden funeral will be given later. Friends may view the body at 56 south First West street from 1 to 10:30 Sunday morning.

George H. Tribe was born in London, July 2, 1844. He emigrated with his parents to America while very young, remaining at St. Louis for a time, but came to Utah in 1855. Mr. Tribe had an excellent business education and was connected with the firm of Randolph & Co., and Godbe & Mitchell, and went to the states many times in the early years to get goods for the people of the state. He was a member of the Sanpete at the time of the Indian troubles, under the command of Heber P. Kimball, and when the telegraph line went through he took charge of the Tropicville office.

FORGOT TO WAKE UP.
Result Was Dennis Finn Walks Out of Second Story Window.

When Dennis Finn awoke from his bed in a roominghouse at 556 west Second South street at 5 o'clock this morning he forgot to wake up and in the same forgetfulness mistook window for door, with the result that he stepped to the pavement, a story below, instead of into the hallway.

SALT LAKE WILL HELP TO ENTERTAIN PRESIDENT

Manager Langford Says Beach May be Relied Upon to Do Its Share.

Although the Salt Lake beach will be closed Sept. 6, and the season will therefore be over when President W. H. Taft reaches Salt Lake City later in the month, Manager Langford said this morning that he has sent word to Senator Smoot that the Salt Lake Beach company can be relied on to do anything within reason which the committee on entertainment may desire for the entertainment of the distinguished guest.

Tuesday next will be ladies' free day at Salt Lake, when all the women who desire may ride to the famous resort free. A big crowd is anticipated, but the train schedule will not be changed. All that will be done is to make up bigger trains, in which way the management expects to be prepared for all who come.

Next Sunday, Held's band will make its first appearance in Sunday concert at the beach. A splendid program has been arranged for the afternoon and evening which includes the official G. A. R. march, written by Mr. Montgomery of this city, also "My Queen of the Cherokees," written by Harry Joseph and set to music by Mr. Montgomery. This latter piece is included in the program by special request. Other selections are the "Glow Worm," with which the ladies band made a big hit, and the "Sextette from Lucia," for playing which Ellery's band is noted. Those taking part in the latter are Messrs. Held, Zimmerman, Stevens, Bell, Osika and Williams. Lemaire's Andantino "To My Wife," will also be played, with the prison scene from "Il Traviatore" and a number of other selections. The band will probably repeat the performance the following Sunday.

It has been decided to have a concert during the afternoon and evening on Labor day, Sept. 6, the date on which the resort will close. In addition to the regular orchestra, the services of Held's band have been secured for that occasion, and the two musical organizations will be placed at opposite ends of the great pavilion and alternate with musical numbers.

Mr. Langford says he is unable to detect the least change in the temperature of the water yet. It seems as good as to be in the lake, and the company is attending to the needs of 2,000 bathers every day.

SUFFERS LOSS OF ARM.

Matthew Stark is Run Over at Midvale With Serious Results.

(Special to the "News.")
Murray, Aug. 27.—Matthew Stark of this place, 22 years of age, met with an accident last night at Midvale, which will cause him the loss of his right arm. Mr. Stark was returning from Bingham canyon and when at Midvale he attempted to get on a train going to Murray. In some manner he slipped and fell across the rails. Before he could get out of the way of the wheels his arm was caught and crushed from the elbow down and his fingers severed. He was carried for last night by Dr. Robinson and this morning he was taken to the St. Mark's hospital at Salt Lake, where his arm will be amputated.

IS NOT HERE TO CONVERT MORMONS

So Declares Rev. Francis B. Short at Today's Session Of Conference.

WOULD CONVERT METHODISTS

Rev. Craven Says Church Will Die Unless Old Time Revivals Are Held.

The second day's session of the Utah mission of the Methodist Episcopal church began at 9 o'clock this morning, Bishop Joseph F. Berry presiding. The principal features of this morning's session were the report of Dr. Talbot, as presiding elder of the Salt Lake district, and the report of Rev. Francis B. Short, pastor of the First M. E. church. The pastors of other churches made their reports and, according to the same, conditions are satisfactory.

The remarks of Rev. Short, while brief, were pertinent. After stating that the financial condition of the church is good, he said in part: "I have enjoyed my work here more than in any other field, because I love Salt Lake City and I love its people. The members of this church have been loyal and hard working. We have received $30 per member during the year."

WOULD CONVERT METHODISTS.

"I want to say that my mission here is not to convert the Mormons, but to convert the Methodists here. If I can get the Methodists here I shall thank God. We shall then solve the problem because this town is rapidly becoming a Gentile town."

Rev. Craven of the Liberty Park church urged that "old time revivals" be held throughout the mission. He declared he could get any one to assist him in the revivals he would hold them himself, and added: "We need old revivals and if we don't have them our church will die." This evening there will be a special service at which Bishop Berry will deliver an address on the "Wesleyan Movement, Yesterday and Tomorrow."

RAILROAD NEWS.

PARK TRAVEL HEAVY.

D. S. Spencer Says It Has Increased 25 Per Cent This Year.

Assistant General Passenger Agent D. S. Spencer, just returned from the Yellowstone, says that the park travel is 25 per cent greater than last year. He declared he could get any one to assist him in the revivals he would hold them himself, and added: "We need old revivals and if we don't have them our church will die."

Mr. Spencer says that while the government allowed tourists to carry sealed firearms into the park last year, no firearms are allowed in this season. He is claimed, however, that danger of any more such holdup experiences as obtained last year. As the park is well patrolled by cavalrymen and the danger of a holdup is small, with a gun would be likely to be quickly discovered.

MALAD TIME CARD.

Motor Car Schedule Goes Into Effect On Sunday Next.

The Short Line operating department will publish a new Utah division time card, to take effect Sunday morning next. The principal change is the establishment of the new motor car service between Ogden and Malad, via Brigham City, which will discontinue the operation of the present passenger service. Passengers for Malad will leave Salt Lake on the 7:10 a. m. train, leaving Ogden by the motor car at 8:30 a. m. Their arrival at Brigham City at 9:35, leaves at 9:55, connecting there with No. 12 southbound train for Salt Lake, and arrives at Malad, Ida., at 12:10 p. m.

Returning south the car leaves Malad at 2:20 p. m., arriving at Brigham City at 4:35, connecting with No. 11, Cache valley express northbound, and arriving in Ogden at 5:35 p. m. The institution of the motor car service is regarded as the introduction of a class of train service destined to become highly popular.

OGDEN FREIGHT DEPOT.

Work on New $100,000 Structure to be Commenced Soon.

(Special to the "News.")
Ogden, Aug. 27.—The announcement is made in railway circles that as soon as the five additional passenger tracks, upon which work is being done now, are complete work will immediately begin upon the foundation for the new $100,000 freight depot to be erected at the corner of Twenty-fourth street and Wall avenue, of which mention has been made in the "News" several times within the past three months.

The building of an office for the general yardmaster of the Harriman lines, west of the union depot and south of the viaduct, it is stated will be started and rushed through before winter. The building will be of white brick and a story and a half high. It will contain an office and storage rooms for records of the office.

The plans for the large passenger coach shop which is to be erected south of the present coach shop have been approved by Mr. Kruttschnitt and it is stated that work upon this plant will be started before the snow falls.

SPIKE AND RAIL.

Eugene Fox, formerly traveling freight agent for the Rock Island in this city, and now assistant general freight agent for the El Paso & Southern road, is in the city shaking hands with old time friends.

WIFE MURDERER EXECUTED.

Walla Walla, Wash., Aug. 27.—Joseph Gavitt, of Spokane, convicted of murdering his wife, was hanged at the state penitentiary this morning. Gavitt made no public statement, his last words being a farewell to the Catholic priest, who accompanied him to the scaffold.

EVIDENCE OF DEAL GROWS EVERY DAY

Chronology in Saloon Cases is Unusual in Its Showing Of Delays.

BOAST "NO CONVICTION."

Slot Machines, as One Concession Demanded by Saloomen, Still In Operation.

CHRONOLOGY OF THE CASE

July 13.—Gus Veros arrested for a violation of the liquor ordinance by selling beer at the Albany hotel on Sunday, July 18. Arraigned and given statutory time to plead.

July 20.—Veros pleaded not guilty. Bonds set at $300 and hearing set for July 23.

July 27.—Veros case called up on motion of defendant's counsel, and bail reduced to $200.

July 28.—Veros case continued until Aug. 11.

Aug. 11.—Veros case continued until Aug. 21.

Aug. 21.—Veros case continued until Aug. 23.

Aug. 23.—Veros case continued until Aug. 25 to permit defendant to secure witnesses.

Aug. 25.—Veros case continued until Aug. 27 on agreement between City Atty., Dihnny and Asst. City Atty., Rogers and C. B. Diehl, attorney for defendant.

Aug. 27.—Veros case continued until Aug. 28 upon a motion of Atty. C. B. Diehl, entered and granted, demanding a jury trial.

On Sunday, July 18, Patrolmen Slater and Crowther, playing the part of "gun-shots" men, and according to their statements, rented a room at the Albany hotel on west Second South street, and succeeded in trapping Gus Veros, proprietor, into the merry game of violating the Sunday law by serving bottled beer from the Albany bar, an annex to the "hotel."

That all happened 39 days ago and in the interim the case has been called up, heard, and continued six different times, the two sides, the prosecution and defense dividing honors in the matter of asking for the continuance.

Yesterday, when the case was called, Attorney C. B. Diehl informed the court that under an agreement with Mr. Rogers, the case would be continued until today, and Mr. Rogers assented for the prosecution. Today, and after the 39 days, Mr. Diehl discovered that his client preferred a jury trial, and of course, the prosecution had to assent to the hearing going over until tomorrow. A few days ago the municipal reason for the continuance was the absence of several important witnesses.

Mr. Veros, saloonkeeper, who has a friendly Greek vote, may be tried tomorrow on the charge of violating the city ordinance by selling beer to disguised policemen on Sunday and he may not be, not if the statutes furnish any further ground for a continuance.

EVIDENCE OF "DEAL."

The strange influence which has postponed this case from week to week and to day, is more evidence that a "deal" has been made between the "American" party and the saloomen. According to the statement of a man of some authority, the "discreet" board of the "American" party agreed to allow the saloomen to keep open after closing hours, sell liquor quietly on Sunday and if any saloonkeeper was detected what his license would not be revoked. Besides this the slot machines were to run unmolested. The last concession has been granted, for the machine men are in operation again this morning and Chief Barlow has not made a move to close them.

It has been boasted that a conviction will never be obtained in the Veros case. "The American" members of the city council have refused to call the proprietor of the saloon before that body to show cause why his license should not be revoked. In the case of Meyer, in which he pleaded guilty, the "American" members of the council saved his license by declaring that he was not guilty. It was the decision of several of the members that the court had erred in fining the man $30 after pleading guilty.

While this case is being postponed from time to time, the city is gradually "loosening" up. Since the heavy dealers were allowed to keep open until 2 o'clock during the G. A. R. encampment, the 12 o'clock closing ordinance has not been rigidly enforced. The front door is sometimes locked but the side entrances and back entrances are being used, and the crowd of customers stay an hour or two later.

IN THE POLICE COURT.

Bessie Green, the negress accused of having used a knife in the robbery of John Meyer, pleaded not guilty to the charge of grand larceny this morning and will have her hearing Oct. 5. Meyer alleges that on the night of Aug. 24 he was accosted by the negress and invited to take a walk with her. While walking down the street the colored woman turned on Meyer with a knife and after slashing him over the face and cutting his coat, robbed him of $8. While the woman was running away from him she was caught by Detectives Golding and Wilson. She is at liberty pending her trial under $250 bail.

William, better known as "Hard-Luck," Murphy, was brought back from Mercur by Police Sgt. Gubby last night, and this morning was ready to plead guilty to a charge of petty larceny and accept a sentence of three months in the county jail. Murphy was caught in the act of rifling the "candy"

Why "Gunplay" Maxwell Was Finally Betrayed

If "Gunplay" Maxwell had not stolen a valuable horse from a ranch not a great distance from Rock Springs, Wyo., 12 years ago, he would, in all probability, be alive today, according to a story brought back from Wyoming this morning by a man who claims to know all the circumstances.

The tale sounds like a romance and, in a sense, demonstrates that there is "honor among thieves." Some names mentioned in this story are withheld, for reasons which will be understood by a careful reading of the following narrative, given to the "News" by a man who claims to know all the facts: "Several years ago a certain lawyer in Wyoming, who had a large criminal practice and who, on many occasions, had defended members of the notorious 'hole-in-the-wall' gang, was employed by the latter to do certain things. The member of the gang owned a valuable horse, the speediest in the country, and this animal was promised to the attorney if he would perform the required work. He was told that the horse would be used for a time, but at a certain date the animal would be left with a rancher for the attorney to call for. The lawyer knew these men would keep their word and when he called for the horse he found it had been left there as agreed, but that someone else had got the animal and made off with it.

HIS NAME IS CARR.
"This man was 'Gunplay' Maxwell, whose true name was Carr, and who was then a member of the 'hole-in-the-wall' gang. This happened 12 years ago."

"Several months after the stealing of the horse by Maxwell, members of the gang learned his whereabouts, laid for him, and he was captured. He was then taken to the county jail, but he escaped. Following this, he was a principal in a bank robbery here in Utah and got an 18 years' sentence in the Utah state prison. How he escaped serving that term is not known here.

"Following the escape of the horse 12 years ago really caused Carr's, or Maxwell's, death. You see, he fell out with his pals. He was no longer to be trusted."

"These facts were sent to the Wyoming attorney and he related them to me. Carr, or Maxwell, was a party to the transaction when the attorney promised the horse. Maxwell stole the horse and betrayed his pals. They got even by 'tipping off' to the sheriff the scheme to rob the state bank at Green River. If Maxwell had not stolen the horse the sheriff might not have known of the robbery plans and Maxwell might not have been killed by Johnston."
