BIENNIAL ELECTION.

Tuesday, Nov. 2, 1890.

PEOPLE'S TICKET!

For Delegate to Congress,
GEORGE Q. CANNON.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Make arrangements to go to the polls on Tuesday and vote for Delegate to Congress.

The surest way to catch cold and have a chronically tender throat, is to wear a warm muffler round the neck in cold weather.

Ladies, show your strength in Utah politics by voting for Hon. George Q. Cannon who is a friend to your cause.

"The first lucifer match was made in 1829." What a number of lucifer matches men and women have made since!

Be sure you do not vote a bogus ticket on Tuesday. The "Liberals" are accustomed to various frauds and deceptions.

The farmers of Waupaca County, Wisconsin, are raising such large quantities of amber sugar cane that they hope soon to save the State of Wisconsin the trouble of sending down South for its sugar and syrup.

The woman voters of Utah should remember how the "Liberals" have tried to rob them of their franchise. Every ballot cast for Hon. George Q. Cannon is a blow at the ladies' enemies.

A paint is being very successfully introduced in England, made from the steel scales that fall off as the steel passes through the rollers in rolling mills. These scales are ground exceedingly fine and mixed with oil, and used to coat any iron work exposed to rusting influences, whether in the air or in the water.

If your name is on the registration list for the county in which you reside you can vote for Delegate on Tuesday, no matter what any one may say to the contrary.

Many clergymen in this country have lately received a circular from a London dealer in second-hand sermons. He offers sermons "lithographed in a bold, round hand," so that those who happened to see them would suppose that they were manuscript, for 25 cents each, or $20 a hundred. He has a line of cheaper sermons in print, at 10 cents a piece, warranted orthodox; and others a little more expensive, which have "a pleasantness, yet an awful solemnity, about them."

Examine your ballot before you hand it to the judge on Tuesday and be sure that it bears the name of George Q. Cannon for Delegate to Congress.

One of the best gift books for young people among the great number published in this country, is "Zigzag Journeys in Europe," which we reviewed about a year ago. The success attending it has led the author to publish another work of a similar character, entitled "Zigzag Journeys in Classic Lands." It relates the particulars of a tour through the old Roman Empire and the countries visited by Ulysses, Epes and the Apostle Paul, by a teacher and a class of pupils; and in a most entertaining manner gives lessons in relation to those classic countries, which would not be attractive presented in the usual manner. History, geography, art, literature, manners, morals, government, etc., are taught in pleasing and forcible style, and nearly two hundred beautiful engravings give added interest to the volume. A better present for a boy or girl could scarcely be devised, and its price, $1.75 is remarkably low. It can be obtained at James Dwyer's, and will be generally valued and admired.

From one hour after sunrise until sunset on Tuesday next, you can have an opportunity to cast your vote for Delegate. Be in time.

MORE CORRUPTION MONEY.

As the great political day of judgment approaches, the rival parties increase their exertions and redouble their diligence. The Republicans have an immense advantage over their opponents. They can squeeze money out of a host of office holders fearful of losing their positions and their consequent bread and butter. There is no denying the fact that an immense amount of money has been spent in Ohio and Indiana (at the State elections, and this must have somewhat depleted the treasuries of both parties. The Republicans seem to have spent the most. Indiana was doubtless won by greenback influence, although the Greenback Party received no benefit.

But the Republican sponge can be used again and again to suck up the needed element to liquidate the expenses. The following circular will clearly explain the modus operandi by which the corruption fund draws upon so heavily in October, can be replenished in November. It is addressed to office holders, many of whom do not fail to respond for fear of the official galleries, which will not be ready for the hands of the "unpatriotic" should the party in power be continued at the head of public affairs.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE, 1217 F STREET NORTHWEST, WASHINGTON, D. C.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October, 1890.

Sir.—The splendid achievements of the 12th of October show what republicans can do when their blood is up.

This committee has yet much to do to meet the energy of democratic desperation and make our coming victory complete.

To make assurance doubly sure, its hands should be strengthened. It therefore, appeals to you to promptly contribute to its funds an additional one per cent. of your salary.

It makes this appeal to your patriotism—to the patriotism of a republican who desires not alone the election of Garfield, but also that of a working majority in both houses of Congress—in the full expectation of a hearty and prompt response.

You have hitherto sustained it nobly, and assurances crowd upon it that you are not weary of well-doing.

Remit, as before, to Geo. F. Dawson, Treasurer, P. O. Lock Box 723, Washington, D. C.

JAY A. HUBBELL, Chairman.

EDWARD McPHERSON, Secretary.

This phibetomy is a disgrace to any party, and a reproach to the nation in which it is tolerated. The like of it is not known throughout the civilized world, and the heathen would blush at such shameful proceedings.

ELECTION HINTS.

It is very important that the election of Tuesday, November 2nd, for Delegate to Congress, shall be conducted in all respects according to law. We do not suppose that any one having anything to do with the election officially will be guilty of wilful neglect or of exceeding his duty. But it is easy to make mistakes unless care is exercised and the law is correctly understood. And as our very "Liberals" opponents would only too pleased to discover anything which might give grounds for cavil about the proceedings, being certain of defeat, they will use microscopic scrutiny for the purpose of detecting some plan for the purpose of making trouble if possible.

Judges of election should be particular about the times of opening and closing the polls, and of observing every technicality. The canvassers cannot be too careful to comply with every requirement of the statute, and county clerks should be equally cautious in making out the triplicate extracts and forwarding them, and in performing all other requirements of the election laws.

It is better in these things not to trust altogether to memory. Have the statutes, particularly those of 1878, at hand, and follow the law strictly, being unswayed by the opinions or objections of "Liberal" quibblers. Do not permit obstructions at the polls, but take care that all voters of every opinion or party have a full, fair and free opportunity of casting their ballots as they please.

We offer these suggestions for good and sufficient reasons which we are sure the wise will understand. Let every one be prompt, cool and wide awake, and let every voter do his duty as a citizen.

THE "NATIONAL CITIZEN" AND WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

THE National Citizen and Ballot Box for October has a long article on the recent attempt of the Utah "Liberals" to deprive our lady citizens of the right to vote. Particulars are given of the mandamus case and the result in favor of woman suffrage. That paper takes the ground that there will be no security for the women who have the suffrage and no great progress in the cause of woman's rights, until an amendment to the Constitution is passed recognizing the right of voting as inherent in the citizen.

We have always recognized the principle—which has been sustained by the Supreme court of the United States—that while citizenship is defined and regulated by national law, the right of suffrage is to be defined and regulated by the laws of the various States. But since the Government has been entrusted with power by Constitutional Amendment to secure suffrage rights to the negro, we do not see why it should not have equal power to protect women citizens in the exercise of their political rights. Still we do not believe that an amendment of the character proposed by the Woman Suffrage Association would be approved by the people throughout the country, as it would extend the voting power to every citizen, male and female, irrespective of any local restrictions or regulations, to the entire abrogation of States Rights in this matter, and it is not likely that such a revolution would be effected. We think the proper course is to convert one State at a time to woman suffrage, and are not afraid of political rights once vested and enjoyed, being taken away again by arbitrary rulings or enactments.

The Citizen closes its article with the following paragraph: "Let this attempt to deprive the women of Utah of their political rights, nerve the heart and soul, and fire the brain of every woman to more strenuous effort for a sixteenth amendment which shall recognize the right of all United States citizens to the ballot. When once this is gained, no isolated State or Territory can strike such a blow at suffrage rights."

THE ALLEGED FORGERY.

H. L. MERRY DID LIVE.
New York, 30.—The following is the affidavit of Clara S. Morey, of Lynn, Mass., mother of H. L. Morey, of Lynn: The undersigned, Clara S. Morey, of Lynn, County of Essex, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, on oath does depose and say: I have lived in Lynn, Mass., from 10 to 14 years last past, and my son, Mr. H. L. Morey, has resided here since he came to this town until within 11 months, and that since I know nothing of his whereabouts. Witness my hand and seal this 30th day of October, A. D., 1890.

CLARA S. MOREY.

What is said to have been proved Yesterday.

The proceedings yesterday in the examination of Philip the forger of the Morey letter were conclusive. Hart, Owner of Truth, under the threat of imprisonment produced the envelope in which the letter is said to have been contained. It was shown to the prosecution that the envelope has on it not only the stamp of the Washington post office, but also two stamps of the New York postoffice. In the three stamps the dates are, however, erased, and cannot be distinguished. It is impossible to distinguish in any of them the month, and the insertion of Jan. 23, the photo-lithographic copy in the Truth is an admitted interpolation. Moreover, it appears that the envelope was originally addressed to some other person and was but the work of "Red," can still be discovered on a line above the word "Morey." It was shown by the assistant postmaster in the New York postoffice, by James Gaylor, supervisor of the city delivery, and by Mr. Richards in immediate charge of that department, that the New York stamp on the envelope is placed upon all letters received here intended for delivery to persons in New York City, and that such stamp is never placed upon a letter merely passing through this city; that the second New York stamp is that which is placed upon the letters received at a sub-station in this city from the general post office for delivery in the district of the sub-station; in other words, it is made absolutely certain from the stamps that the envelope, when it passed through the mail, was posted at Washington and addressed for what day that New York City. Moreover it was proved by the assistant postmaster and the head clerk of the railway mail service that a letter posted in Washington on the day it purports to have been posted and addressed to Lynn, could not under any circumstances come into the New York postoffice, much less have on it the stamp of that postoffice. Besides this, it was shown by the New York stamps, in one of which the figure two remains, that the figure was the last one of the figures shown on what day that envelope was received in New York, and that it must have been received either on the 12th or the 22nd of October, and could not have been received on the 23rd, when it was in the mail, have contained the Morey letter, which is dated Jan. 23. It is, therefore, absolutely shown by witnesses who cannot be contradicted, and whom the defense did not even cross-examine, that the Morey letter, having been forged, was pretended to be inserted in an old envelope, addressed to some one in New York, and not to Morey, nor any one else in Lynn. The erasure of the name of the person to whom it was originally addressed is distinctly visible to the naked eye and immediately preceded the still deplorable word, "Esq." The erasures of dates are equally plain. It was, moreover, testified by Mr. Leet, under whom Philip worked for a long time, that he was his confirmed habit to spell "companies," "companies," precisely as it is spelled in the Morey letter. Leet also testified that the Morey letter was in Philip's writing that he (Leet) so stated before he had heard it suggested that Philip was even suspected.

"San" Comments.

The following is an extract from the San editorials. "No, not even the presidency; let forgers and liars stand at a distance, the greater the better. The democratic party does not want them, does not need them. If a party requires such infamous aides, that party, by whatever name it may be called, deserves to perish. Hewitt, according to his own acts, persists in his assertion that he believes the Chinese letter attributed to Garfield to be genuine. Will Hewitt give a reason for the faith that is in him? He certainly must know that to stick to a label and a forgery, throwing aside all question of principle, as a mere matter of policy, must be exceedingly unwise. Then how is he going to account for a scholar like Garfield, to whom honesty and integrity were the most extraneous qualities, spelling 'companies,' 'companies'?"

Apathy in Ohio.

The Herald's Columbus special says: Appearance indicates that the vote next Tuesday in Ohio will be much less than that of the State election. The democrats are apathetic and feel that do what they will they cannot carry the State. The republicans are careless and many of them will neglect to vote, feeling that there is no need of special effort, because the State must go republican. Betting is at a standstill except for a few small wagers on majorities in the State and on carrying particular States. Some democrats who have made bets on Hancock's election are panicky and are seeking to draw their bets by giving up 25 and even 50 dollars on bets of $200 and $300, but are not meeting with any success.

The "Tribune" Comments.

The following is extracted from a Tribune editorial: The prosecution of the Chinese forgery case ought not to stop short of a thorough exposure of the whole conspiracy. That there was a conspiracy the known circumstances of the affair leave little room to doubt. It may be proved that Philip forged the letter, but this is not enough. Who employed him and what was his compensation? Was the language of the forged document his own invention, or was he aided in its composition by some of the eminent democratic statesmen? Who rushed forward to volunteer their opinion that Garfield wrote it while they knew he did not? Who directed the democratic newspapers to print and back it up? Who sent them out to the papers, and what instructions went with it? Let us get to the bottom of the dirty business if possible. The history of party strife in this country affords no parallel to this dastardly outrage. It is a crime not only against Garfield and the republican party, but against the whole body of American citizens whose votes it seeks to influence by the basest form of deception and falsehood. The processes of justice must not be allowed to stop short of the complete exposure and signal punishment of all who conspired to secure the election of a man who, in or who have since aided and abetted in giving it effect.

The State of Maine.

Governor Davis, of Maine, and Col. Frederick Robie, chairman of the Executive Council, were at the Fifth Avenue Hotel recently. They spoke very confidently of the result of the election in Maine. Up to within several days of the event, the State was ours by a majority of from 5,000 to 7,000, but during those days the democrats flooded the country with money, they bought out an immense vote, and they did the most cunning things, but cannot repeat it."

Sara's Clothes.

A decision was rendered yesterday by the Justice of the Peace at Washington, according to which the dresses and other necessary articles of wearing apparel are liable to duty. The valuation fixed upon them was $5,000, which the duty will be about 50 per cent. of $2,500. Yesterday, Bernhard's agent stated yesterday that this amount would come out of the artist's own pocket.

The "Times" Comments.

The Times comments thus on the Chinese letter. The newspaper in whose office appears to have originated may have been proved to have been the work of this production. The democratic managers who clutched at it as drowning men at straws will certainly have reason to repent of their real or assumed credulity. While we believe that the republicans should have refused to take any serious account of this flimsy piece of imposture, no better campaign device could have been contrived for them than one which demonstrates the utter recklessness and despair of their opponents. It will probably be impossible for any obscure scribbler to make in any future campaign so much notoriety with so little trouble, since the most timorous as well as the most credulous of observers have seen the folly of making hasty conclusions from at least this kind of inadequate premises. The impression made by a Chinese letter has been as little flattering to public intelligence as the moral standard of those political managers who assume that an appeal to popular ignorance and prejudice will always redound to their profit.

The Outlook.

To-day's vote closes the campaign. All the indications point decidedly to a republican success. Very few intelligent democrats now have doubt that Garfield will carry New York. Betting is two to one with the republicans on this State, and their offers of four to one on the general result find no genuine takers. Accounts from careful observers in Maine, Indiana and Connecticut are presenting strong evidence that those States will vote for Garfield, and the chances for New Jersey are decidedly good. There is room for some uncertainty in regard to Colorado, because there is no certain knowledge of the effect of the current year's immigration thither, but the best republican authorities there honestly anticipate 4,000 to 5,000 majority. It is feared the Democrats may carry Nevada because of what is openly characterized there as Sharon's selfish and unseemly efforts to force his own re-election as Senator. Accounts from Indiana show that her democracy have redoubled their efforts since their October defeat, but there are no indications of making much headway against the republicans. In the south the republicans continue confident of Florida and have hopes of South Carolina, as a strong section of the whites promise the protection of the negroes in the exercise of the suffrage there. Never on a Saturday preceding the Presidential election were the external indications more promising for a party than they seem for the republicans to-day, and their defeat would be a greater surprise than their success was in the October elections. No surer indicator of republican energy and enthusiasm have been manifested in the state since Lincoln's second campaign.

Amicably Arranged.

SAN FRANCISCO, 30.—A Portland dispatch says: Lieutenant Symons has just returned with a company of the 21st Infantry from Skagit River, where he went to settle with the Indians who had driven the United States Surveyors from their field work. He found about 150 warriors well armed and provided. They claimed they had never traded the lands being surveyed to the whites, and were not given the land without some equivalent. The matter was finally amicably arranged to allow the surveyors to go to Skagit river as far as Sank river.
