CONFERENCE ENDED.

Congregationalists Listen to Rev. Simpkin—Officers Elected.

The congregational association elected the following officers yesterday afternoon, for the ensuing year: Moderator, Rev. P. A. Simpkin; secretary, P. A. Simpkin; and Mrs. G. H. Elderkin; educational committee, S. H. Goodwin, Edward Merrill and Professor Goodwin; representative of the home missionary society for three years, C. A. Parmelee, Ogden; representative of foreign mission board for five years the Rev. E. L. Goshen. The evening session closed with an address by Rev. Simpkin on Faith and Doctrine.

Mr. Simpkin said in part: "Despite the fact that faith and doctrine have been assailed, and some quarters discredited, the fact remains that faith was never so widespread as today."

"The voices one hears today, making insistence on the value and place of faith in all national human life, are those of earth's greatest lives, its most cultured souls. The marvel is that these leaders of thought call for no limiting of the faith faculty to the bounds of that world of things which comprehend. It is a call to the widening of faith, as the true comes, to see how life is crowded to the doors with the miracles of that God who has expressed himself in all effects of method and degree by Jesus Christ of Nazareth."

"He, whose faith links us together, is a miracle infinitely greater than any of those deeds he wrought, whose record seems to be too many as was his personality to the Jews of old, a stumbling block, and to the followers of the modern painted porch and academy—as to those of the Hellenic days—foolishness."

"For the hour, however, the phase of the faith that is presented is the one that seems narrow—that which has been emphasized as the chief agency on man's side, of his regeneration."

"All other phases of the faith problem are relative. The absolute lies here. Whatever message the christian religion has for the world of things, its influence is to move in society to bring down out of heaven the new city of God in the reshaping of social impulse and ideal, behind all manifestation of things, here is the prime purpose of God to save man, to make him a new creature in Christ, by his renewed life to realize the kingdom."

BAN ON CONFETTI.

Sale and Throwing of the Stuff Prohibited by Chief Pitt.

"No confetti will be sold Saturday night or election night, and no one will be allowed to throw it," Chief Pitt has decreed. "I shall have the city well covered with policemen and any person caught selling or throwing the stuff will be arrested and taken to jail."

Thus did Chief Pitt put a ban on confetti this morning. He was most emphatic in the declaration that the nuisance will be abated tomorrow night and on Tuesday night.

He says that on both nights every member of the police department from chief to matron will be on duty and it is necessary special officers will be employed to assist in preserving the peace and dignity of the city.
