IMPORTANT COURT RULING

Hancock Drowned in a Well. Special Correspondence,

Pangultch, Garfield Co., July 16 .-Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Julia A. Hancock went to the well to draw a bucket of water. It seems she drew the water and emptied it into her bucket, when she must have been taken with a fainting spell and fell over backwards into the well. The well is only about two feet wide, and the body lodged before it was all submerged. The water is about 20 feet deep and within about two feet of the surface of the ground. The alarm was given and in about 30 minutes the body was brought up, but the united efforts of Dr. Cecil Clark, and the bystanders failed to restore life.

Mrs. Hancock is the daughter of William and Nancy Holt Slade, born Jan. 19, 1862. Her husband "Lon" Hancock, and six children mourn her demise. The funeral services were held at 3 p. m. today. The engineers appointed to survey the Hatch reservoir site are here, and will go to Hatch today. The weather is extremely warm.

the fighting blood of the saucer experts was appealed to, rather than any other element in making interest. The result was a good race meet, and one that will always forecast a big clowd for next time. Its feature was not the advertised star event, for iver Law on was out of that, and he spread eagled for honor in his own events in a way that brought the crowd to their feet and show-ed them a sprint that alone is worth the price of admission. The to-mile mitor-paced race, much advertised, was a round and round affair to the close, the greatest interest centering in the effort to count the number of times Heady Hardy Dowling lapped Munroe and the numer of times Sammy Samuelson lost his pace. Dowling won four laps ahead of Munree, and a mile ahead of Samuelson, in slow time. This was because he was never drowded, and could afford to loaf after doing the first mile. Samuelson was unfor-tunate in that his motor refused to work, at times, but after another one was brought out he failed to pick up the least bit of distance, and, in fact, lost steadily to the end to both Munroe and Downing. IVER'S GREAT RIDE.

IVER'S GREAT RIDE. The final of the half-mile brought liver down to the tape well ahead of the bunch, in a sprint that was as sensational a thing as the speedy man has ever at-tempted. In the mile handicap he did it again, only this time he showed the bunch up so completely that they seemed as if chained down to their positions. Iver passed the tape before another form showed up around the corner of the stretch. Four laps from home Samuel-son showed fighting color, with Pye froze to the sprint position on his rear wheel. Just as the crowd was getting interested lengthy McFarland began putting steam into his piston rod movements, and then Sammy was soon in the rear. McFarland puiling the bunch after him. A lap from home Lawson started out in a way to shock his best friends, and finished sit-ting up a quarter of a lap ahead of Downing who plowed in for second hon-ors. before the court was the glary against Hyrum M William Barker. The case involved a question that the district courts of the state are divided on, and will con. tinue to be so until the supreme court passes upon the question. Since the amendment of the statute in 1905, some attorneys of the state have taken the position that in order to charge the crime of burglary the parties charged with the offense must have had the intent to commit a felony and that if they are only charged with the crime of petit larceny in the information, then officient, the wording of the it is no' " statute g somewhat vague on that ands question was raisel by point. defendant's attorney, Mr. Knox, on de-murrer, setting out that by reason of the failure of the information to charge that the defendants entered the store building, with the intent to commit grand larceny, the information didn't charge a public offense. The court in passing upon this question overruled the demurrer, which position differs from that taken by some of the district courts. The court held that the section which provides "That any per-son who enters a building with the in-tent to commit larceny or any other felony" didn't mean that unless the de-fendant entered the building with the intent to commit grand larceny he was not guilty of burglary; that the Legis-lature didn't intend to make burglary Score: in the first degree a lighter offense than burglary in the second degree, which would be the case should the court take the other position, and that the words, "or any other felony" as mentioned in the statute were intended to designate such other offenses amounting to a felony as well as grand larceny, al ot wishing to cover the ground of grand and petty larceny twice, the Legislature used the words "or any other felony," and that the weight of authority upon this subject seems to be that if the defendant entered the building with the intent to steal one dollar, he is as guilty of the crime of burglary as if he entered with the intent to steal $500.
