

WHAT HAPPENED TO COUNCILMEN?

Every Member Was Present at Last Evening's Session.

THE FIRST TIME IN MONTHS.

Meeting Was Rather Quiet and at Its Conclusion a Photographer Took Picture of City Officials.

Every member of the city council was present at the meeting last night, something very unusual and something which has not happened for several months. The meeting was rather quiet and at its conclusion a photographer took a picture of the councilmen and other officials present, presumably while they had an opportunity to catch them all there and while they were in an amiable mood and not ruffled by the excitement of heated arguments over some political plot.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED.

Barnes introduced a resolution requesting the city treasurer to furnish information at once in regard to the method of handling the accounts of special sidewalk and sewer funds. The resolution, which was adopted without protest, follows:

1. The method in vogue in the treasurer's office in keeping accounts on street and sidewalk paving and sewer extensions.
2. When interest begins on street, sidewalk and sewer extensions, or on all deferred payments.
3. When interest on all deferred payments begins to run to contractors on street and sidewalk paving and sewer extensions.
4. The form of scrip used.

LUNCH COUNTER PROTEST.

A number of protests have been received by the council against the lunch counters in front of saloons on the business streets and it is very probable that they will be required to move. Hobday and Crabtree were strongly opposed to allowing the lunch counters to remain on the main streets and the matter was referred to the license committee for consideration. The report of the improvements committee, which was laid over from last week providing for the placing of arc lights in several places in the city, was taken up and adopted with one amendment, namely, the installation of a light on First street between State and A streets. The lights provided for in the report are as follows:

On Foster avenue, one light to be placed in center of street and center of block; Hawthorne avenue, between Seventh and Eighth East streets; in center of Wellington avenue; Owen street, in center of block; at intersection of Lincoln and Belmont avenues; Seventh East, between Ninth and Tenth South streets; light to be placed on a six-foot pole, 100 feet south of the bridge; light on Second South street, at intersection of B street and Twelfth East street; intersection of Vernon avenue and Fifth East street.

The light at Commercial and Olive streets will be moved to the north side of Olive street and the light on Graeber avenue will be moved 55 feet north of its present location in order to give more light on Second South street.

The committee on streets reported favorably upon the offer of Shovel Bros. & Belcher to furnish gravel for grading the streets and sidewalks at 25 cents per load. The report was adopted.

CLAIM AGAINST CITY.

D. B. Brinton submitted a claim against the city for the total sum of $1,438 alleged to be the balance due him for labor performed on the Big Cottonwood conduit, including regular contract work and extra work ordered by the city council. The claimant was a sub-contractor under P. J. Moran and Shovel Bros. & Belcher, and the total contract price for labor performed was $5,900, on which $4,462 has been paid. Brinton claims in cash and $7,450 in labor performed by Shovel Bros. & Belcher, having a balance due of $7,450. The matter was referred to the waterworks committee for consideration.

EDWARDS APPOINTED.

William Edwards, formerly deputy sheriff in this county, was appointed as a special policeman by Chief Shera to serve at the Wasatch skating rink at the state fair grounds. The appointment was confirmed unanimously.

Wells introduced a resolution authorizing the city recorder to furnish writing paper for the members of the council. The resolution was adopted.

Hereafter the council meetings and committee meetings will commence at 7:30 o'clock during the remainder of the winter. The council will meet Thursday night to approve the payrolls.

MRS. MARY ANN MORTON PYE.

Whose Funeral Was Held With Impressive Services Yesterday.

Very impressive funeral services were held in the Fourteenth ward assembly hall yesterday over the mortal remains of Mary Ann Morton Pye, wife of Caleb E. Pye of Center ward, Salt Lake City.

Bishop Barton, who presided, briefly eulogized the deceased for her known faithfulness, while a member of the Center ward, after which appropriate and consoling remarks were made by Elders N. Y. Schofield, J. G. M. Barnes, George Shorten, Nephth Morris and Elder George Teasdale, all of whom were well acquainted with Mrs. Pye while on missions in London.

Deceased was born May 2, 1854, at Marylebone, London, England, and died at her home in this city Oct. 28, 1906, in her fifty-second year. She was baptized by Elder Charles V. Rheese, Dec. 19, 1882, and remained a member of the North London branch until July, 1896, when, with her husband and family, she emigrated to Utah.

Although the friendly hand and pleasant smile of Sister Pye will be seen no more in this life, she will yet live many years in the memory and in the hearts of those missionaries who labored in the London conference between the years named. Naturally kind, sympathetic and gentle in disposition, these virtues were intensified by her love for the gospel which love never wavered to the last despite her long and intense sufferings.

She was not only a devoted wife and mother, but an esteemed friend to scores who gathered around her bier to pay their tribute of respect, many of whom had known her in Utah, and also across the ocean.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Pye leaves five children, four girls and one boy, to mourn her demise.

And a profusion of flowers, the body was tenderly laid to rest in the City cemetery.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Tont Concert—It was gratifying last night to see a home artist do what so many foreign celebrities have failed to do—draw a big audience for a Tabernacle concert. The attendance at Miss Nannie Tont's Wagnerian recital was one of the heaviest known of recent days, and the financial outcome must have been a gratifying one to the young lady.

No program could have been selected better fitted to show off the big dramatic qualities of Miss Tont's voice. The show-off that she is fully able to attempt any soprano role written by Wagner, and what that means every musician knows. She was down for several difficult numbers from the operas of "Tannhauser" and "Lohengrin," singing in both English and German, appearing in the costume of the part, and accompanying it with the appropriate action. The rendition of "The Hall of Song" was especially dramatic. "Elizabeth's Prayer" was done with intense feeling and showed well the cultivation in the entire range of her voice. "Eileen's Dream" from "Lohengrin" was also admirably sustained, and even though it was long after 10 o'clock, the audience remained to call the singer out again and again. She tried to escape an encore but was finally forced to respond, singing the always favorite air, "Ben Bolt." The beauty of her tones was again in strong evidence in this number, though we think the effect would have been heightened had the song been taken at a less dragging tempo.

Miss Tont was admirably supported. Her sister, Miss Maggie, made a strong hit in Patti's old song "She Wandered Down the Mountain Side," her ringing high notes being thoroughly electrifying in their effect. With the same schooling her sister has received, she possesses abilities that should make her in no way second. She also broke the rule of the night—"no encores"—and rendered the very pretty ballad "A May Morning" in brilliant style. Miss Hazel Tont played a violin solo in clever fashion for one so young, and Mr. E. F. Tont made a good impression by rendering the beautiful minor solo, "My Trusty Swan," from Lohengrin.

The choir's part in the program was a decided feature. It was out in better strength than for a long time past, especially the male sections, and was at its best in the "Moonlight" part song. Its next best work was in "The Wedding March" from Lohengrin, though it lacked something in brightness, and the difficult "Hail Bright Abode" from Tannhauser, though admirable in spots, showed the need of some high ringing tenors and sopranos.

Mr. McClellan had to do the work of a host at the organ and piano, and he was a host in accomplishing it. Sel-dom has more beautiful work been heard than his accompaniment to Miss Tont's rendition of "Eileen's Dream." In his solos he was also in fine fettle, the overture to "Tannhauser," and the Vorspiel to "Lohengrin," being especially strong. The tremendous difficulties of the former were admirably overcome, and the piece was heartily applauded in spite of its great length.

The program, high class as it was,

GRANDPA'S BOY.

11-Year-Old Boy Writes for Him.

"I am a boy 11 years old, in the Fifth Grade in Grammar School, and my grandfather wants me to write you what Grape-Nuts has done for him," says a Calif. boy.

"For more than fifty years he was troubled with a kind of nervous chill which would attack him in the night, especially when he was very tired, and no cure could be found for it.

"Also, for about ten years he was troubled with indigestion which caused heartburn and he could only eat a little bread and milk for supper and even that careful diet did not always prevent it.

"After eating Grape-Nuts for a little while, the attacks of heartburn and indigestion disappeared altogether.

"Today at the age of 75 he is hale and hearty, and is entirely cured of all his old troubles. I can never thank you enough for what Grape-Nuts has done for my dear grandfather.

"As for myself, I believe Grape-Nuts is the best food a boy can take while attending school." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

only the hope of a delayed train to bring them in.

Luck was with the players, however, and all but one team put in their appearance before the evening ended. This was the Hayward, Conroy and Hayward act, and an acceptable substitution was offered in Lillian Apel, who repeated her piano offerings of the week before.

The most impressive act was that of the "Okura Wonders," who do some of the best Japanese balancing that has been seen here. To add interest it is a dainty bit of American femininity that Okura wheels about through the air, and deftly catches when a fall would mean serious injury.

The Gus Edwards "School Boys and Girls" sent the audience home with a good, final laugh. They came in from the train with their scenery in a huck, and appeared partly in their street clothes, looking like a crowd of news boys and girls rounded up from the streets. They had good voices, and their work was so fresh and youthful in its attempt to live up to the title of a "young musical comedy" that it was fetching to an extreme.

Nat LeRoy and Minnie Woodford had a dialogue stunt, in which LeRoy was almost a monopoly. They had orders to "string" the business as long as they could, but the audience relieved it from the necessity of forcing it on them, by calling for it lustily.

The "Scenes in a Wisteria Bower," by Adeline Rosenthal and Clara Stearns, was beautiful, and both the singing and dancing were of the graceful kind that never wearies an audience.

With the natural improvement that will come tonight, through the added facilities for preparation, the bill should be one of the season's best.

Orpheum—The bill at the Orpheum last night was cheerfully "classy," and more than that, it was varied enough to suit any taste that could be located in a city the size of Salt Lake. The audience was well repaid for the price of admission when the con of the "Cowboy and the Con" came up on to demonstrate that he didn't know where he was going, but was on his way. He was bluffing out, for he headed straight for the warm spot in the hearts of those present, and landed with the second verse of his song. Besides that, there were three other acts, any one of which would do for a headliner to carry a dull evening, and one that was just a little less good.

One feature of the performance was a tragedy to the management, and something more pleasant to the audience. It was the fact that the curtain rang up to put the show on its way without the least idea how the evening would be rounded out. Four of the acts were missing, and there was

TOMORROW NIGHT IS HALLOWE'EN

The Faucet of Youthful Mischief Will Then be Turned Loose.

NAIL DOWN YOUR PROPERTY.

Otherwise it is Likely to "Get up and Walk"—What the Celebration Really Means.

Tomorrow night is Halloween, the night when the faucet of youthful mischief is turned loose, and such portable property as is left within easy reach by incontinent householders, is liable to "get up and walk." Gutter crossings of wood are removed to porches of houses or thrown across the street car tracks. Gates are strung up on street poles or made a bonfire of, door bells are rung by mysterious and unseen hands, delivery wagons are picked up and left in dooryards, groups of young people parade the streets in ghostly attire, with Jack-o-lanterns, and people who do not go out, leave grinning pumpkin lanterns in their front windows. There are Halloween dances and socials galore, and a great time generally among the young folks.

It is at this time that papers and magazines overhaul rows of encyclopedias for accounts of the historic event, and print the same as original matter. The celebration dates from the early part of the seventh century, when the Pantheon was dedicated to the cause of the Christian religion by Pope Boniface IV. But the celebration of Halloween as it is known, was properly inaugurated in Great Britain. The name means the eve of the vigil of All Saints which comes Nov. 1. The English writers both poetic and prose, have had a good deal to say about Halloween, and fairy legends involving gnomes, witches, spells, and such pleasant beings have been read with avidity and enjoyed. The police will have a busy, strenuous time of it tomorrow night, in trying to protect property and catch the kidded youth who become too unanimous in their pranks. But as a general thing, there is not much danger of arrest if the celebrants do not go too far. It will be well for householders to house all such out of door fixtures as may be movable to ensure their being within reach the next morning when wanted.
